Cuba Rules Out 3 in Swap Unless U.S. Gives Molina

ARRIVE IN HAVANA FOR NEGOTIATIONS — A group of American agricultural technicians are shown on arrival in Havana June 13 to start negotiations with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's government on the proposed exchange of tractors for prisoners. Senator Suggests All-Free Berlin To Ward Off Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., suggested today establishment of an internationally protected free city of Berlin to avert an East-West nuclear clash.

Mansfield, the Senate's Democratic leader, said that if the world must live indefinitely with a divided Germany, peace itself requires that "Berlin—all Berlin—be held in peace and trust until the day of unification."

Says Berlin Is Lever

He said that the way to peace cannot be found either in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal to turn only U.S.-supported West Berlin into a free city or in the West's insistence on a status quo in Berlin until Germany is reunited.

"Berlin is the lever which may ease Europe toward a more durable security or push the Western nations and the Soviet Union into a new vortex of irrationality at whose center lies the graveyard of humanity," Mansfield said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

Mansfield said that the United States will not be "driven, pushed or barred" from fulfilling its responsibilities for freedom in Berlin.

Whole Future of U.S.

But he warned that the U.S. commitment to Berlin's defense extends from a beginning of firmness "to a final pledge of the lives and fortunes of every man, woman and child in the nation."

"We are not engaged at Berlin with the fast draw and wax bullets of television any more than the Russians are engaged in a harmless game of chess," Mansfield said. "In the last analysis we are engaged now, as we have been in Berlin, with the whole future of the United States."

Mansfield made clear that in advancing his suggestion, which is close to a position he has been advocating for years, he was speaking as an individual senator.

Pivot for Disaster

He said that in addition to the Western proposal for a free West Berlin and the Western insistence on a status quo, "a third way may lie in the creation of a free city not in West Berlin alone, but in the creation of a free city which embraces all Berlin—the Communist East no less than the free Western segment of that metropolis."

Unless both sides change their positions, Mansfield concluded, "sooner or later, Berlin is likely to become the pivot of a new disaster for mankind."

Woodstock Woman Appeals, Not at 'Alert', She Says

Jeanne Nield of Woodstock was found guilty of the charge of failing to take shelter during the April 28 Civil Defense "alert" when he case was called before Justice of the Peace Rudolf C. Baumgarten Tuesday night and a five-day jail sentence and a fine of $25 was imposed. Failure to pay the $25 fine could result in serving time not to exceed 25 additional days in jail.

The guilty verdict was handed down by Justice Baumgarten after a trial which lasted some three hours during which defendanft claimed she had not been present when Town Constable Paul Senecal ordered several persons from the Village Green in Woodstock during the alert.

Defendant was represented by Gerald Stern of New York City, a member of the firm of Oaul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison of 575 Madison Avenue. Assistant District Attorney Francis. Vogt appeared for the prosecution.

Says She Was Present

Constable Senecal testified before Justice Baumgarten that he had known defendant for some time and identified her as one who was present when several persons were ordered to take shelter.

Mona Fletcher of Lake Hill, one of those who was also charged with the same offense, testified Jeanne Nield had not been present when the constable ordered the group to take shelter.

On cross examination by Assistant District Attorney Vogt, defendant said she had left her place of employment at 3:30 p. m. and had done some shopping and took a walk about the village and that she had arrived at the Village Green after the town constable had ordered several others to take shelter.

Denies Early Decision

Asked if she had any intention of disobeying the alert when she left her place of employment, the defendant said she had not made any decision at that time.

At the conclusion of the testimony Justice Baumgarten found the defendant guilty and

300 Dozers, 200 Tractors Sought

HAVANA (AP) — Encouraged by their first day of talks, a four-man American team expected to see Prime Minister Fidel Castro today on their mission to swap 500 tractors for 1,214 invasion prisoners.

The tractors-for-prisoners negotiators met President Osvaldo Dorticos, officials of the Agrarian Reform Institute and representatives of the captives on their first day in Havana Tuesday.

Havana radio said today Dorticos informed the negotiators three prisoners would not be exchanged for tractors—Manuel Artime, leader of last April's invasion; Jose San Roman, a battalion commander; and Rafael Bolivar Fuente, who was not identified.

'The Hook' Is Bait

The broadcast reported Dorticos said the three would only be exchanged for Francisco (The Hook) Molina, a Cuban citizen awaiting sentencing in New York for the slaying of a 9-year-old girl during a political scuffle; Pedro Albizu Campos, a Puerto Rican nationalist leader, and Henry Winston, imprisoned U.S. Communist party leader.

The American negotiators replied they were not authorized to negotiate such an exchange, the radio said.

Dorticos also told the negotiators Cuba wants 300 heavy bulldozers and 200 lighter farm tractors in exchange for the other prisoners, the radio reported.

Guarded Optimism

Reporter Robert Boyd of Knight Newspapers, who came here with the negotiators, said in a copyright dispatch to the Miami Herald that the Americans ended the first day's talks "with a feeling of guarded optimism."

Castro was in eastern Cuba when the Americans flew in from Miami. Duane Greathouse of the United Auto Workers, spokesman for the four, indicated the meeting with Castro would be held this morning.

Canadian Press correspondent Jack Best said Greathouse described the sessions with Cuban officials as "good discussions and cordial meetings."

The Americans' mission is to work out technical details of the exchange of tractors for the exiled Cuban foes of Castro seized in last April's invasion that sputtered and died on Cuba's southern beaches.

Terms Have Stiffened

It was Castro who made the offhand suggestion that he would be willing to trade the prisoners for 500 tractors. Since then his terms have stiffened.

Cuba now wants 500 heavy duty tractors of the type used in construction and large earth-moving projects. The Americans have offered 500 lighter tractors suitable only for farm work.

An hour after their arrival, the Americans met some of the prisoners on an inspection of the Eastern Havana Naval Hospital. Some of the captives are held there.

Very Pleasant Meeting

Tad Szulc of the New York Times said the Americans dis-

Woman Seen Behind Spy Link to Poles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overtones of a classic spy thriller cloak the case of an American Foreign Service officer charged with giving U.S. secrets to Communist Poland.

A blonde Polish spy was reported to have lured Irvin Chambers Scarbeck, 41, bespectacled father of four, into turning over classified information to Communist agents while he served in the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

Bail Set at $50,000

Scarbeck was held in jail after bond was set at $50,000. He was arrested Tuesday by FBI agents on a Washington Street.

The complaint filed by the Justice Department before U.S. Commissioner Sam Wertleb said Scarbeck admitted communicating to Polish agents information that was classified "as affecting the security of the United States."

The State Department, citing his "service, loyalty and devotion to duty," had given him a meritorious service award for his work in 1957 while supervising the department's exchange program in San Francisco.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters, "I understand the root of the trouble was a woman. I was informed a Polish blonde seduced him and then blackmailed him."

No Details on Data

The Justice Department gave no details about the information Scarbeck was charged with passing to foreign agents. There were indications the information was of a political rather than a military nature.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, replying to questions, said, "any espionage is of major importance. I do not think the case would have gone to the Justice Department if U.S. security had not been involved."

If convicted, Scarbeck faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

In Warsaw 2½ Years

Scarbeck had been assigned to the Warsaw embassy for 2½ years. His duties largely involved the housekeeping chores of running the establishment, but he had some access to classified material.

Reassigned to Naples, Italy, Scarbeck was with his family on leave in Dusseldorf, Germany last week when he was summoned to Washington.

Upon arrival last Saturday, he was handed an order suspending him from the Foreign Service.

Amesse Will Face Sentence June 20, 20 Years Possible

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—David Amesse faces sentencing next Tuesday on his conviction for first-degree manslaughter in the death of his teen-age sweetheart.

Amesse, who is father of two by his estranged wife, could receive up to 20 years in prison.

Cleared of One

A Dutchess County jury of six men and six women cleared Amesse, who is 20, of a second-degree murder charge Tuesday but convicted him of manslaughter.

Both charges stemmed from the death last Dec. 21 of 18-year-old Rachel Perry. She plunged to her death from the Mid-Hudson Bridge into the ice-clogged river.

The state based its murder charge on a claim that Amesse pushed the girl from the bridge because he thought she was pregnant. An autopsy revealed she was not.

Amesse and the Perry girl met here while he was a truck driver for a department store and she an employe of the state hospital at nearby Wingdale. Amesse was not living with his wife at the time.

Stories Conflict

Amesse was with the girl when she plunged into the Hudson. State Police said he told them of a suicide pact he lacked nerve to carry out, later admitted he pushed the girl from the bridge, then denied it again.

The body was not recovered from the Hudson until last March 17.

The secondary charge of manslaughter was lodged to cover Amesse's encouragement and abetment of Miss Perry in her suicide plunge.

Bill Before Kennedy

The authorization measure passed by Congress Tuesday after conferees compromised differences between House and Senate versions, merely authorizes the construction.

An appropriation bill will provide the money for the construction during the fiscal year starting July 1. It now is before the House Appropriations Committee.

Queen Mother Laid Up

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth has fractured a small bone in one foot and will be forced to forego public engagements for several weeks, it was announced today.

A press statement from her London residence, Clarence House, said the injury occurred Monday at Windsor Castle. No details were given. The queen mother is 60.

State Wants Look At Newburgh Plan About Welfare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state, citing a possible loss of $150-million in federal aid, seeks a look at Newburgh's plans to cut welfare costs and revise local welfare administration.

The State Social Welfare Department said Tuesday it had asked Joseph Mitchell, Newburgh city manager, his plans and requested a copy of a City Council resolution granting Mitchell wide powers in welfare matters. The council voted Monday.

A department spokesman said, however, that no immediate action was planned beyond determining what local changes were contemplated.

Clifford Tallcott, the department's area director, has warned that Newburgh, by setting up its own welfare standards, could jeopardize the $150-million federal payment to the state for welfare programs.

Under federal law, all of the state's 65 welfare districts must meet uniform standards of welfare eligibility and payments.

Shultz Is Elected Leader of Coal And Oil Concerns

At special directors' meetings held in the company offices, Mr. Shultz was elected president of the Rodie and North River Coal marketing bituminous and anthracite coals throughout New York State—and of the Kingston Coal Company, a retail coal and oil business. He also will serve as president of the Rodie Coal Company's retail coal and oil business conducted at 4 Fairview Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

Joined Firms in 1945

Mr. Shultz has been affiliated with these companies since December, 1945, and has served as a vice president and director for 10 years.

A native of New York City, Mr. Shultz graduated cum laude from Princeton University in 1940. After graduation he entered the newspaper business, covering the Governor's office and New York Legislature as a legislative correspondent for the Associated Press. During World War II he served as a Marine Corps combat correspondent in the Pacific, seeing action in the

Bates' Gateway Show Is Thursday

The benefit show for Gateway Industries, Inc., goes on at Kingston Municipal Auditorium, Thursday at 8:30 p. m., featuring Peg Leg Bates with his Broadway Show and Friends.

It has been reported that approximately 700 tickets have been sold for the event arranged by the friendly one-legged dancer of stage, television and movie fame.

Proceeds are to help the training center at 519 Broadway where handicapped people prepare themselves for jobs in industry and in other fields.

Body of Boy Is Recovered From The Shawangunk

The body of Samuel Thomas Eden, 5½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eden of 253 Robinson Avenue, Newburgh, was recovered from the rain-swollen Shawangunk Kill creek, Town of Gardiner, Monday afternoon by two volunteer searchers who joined Sheriff Claude Bell's party of searchers yesterday.

Roy Henry Weygant and Harold Ostrander of Gardiner recovered the body of the boy at 3:15 p. m., Monday approximately one-half to three-quarters of a mile from where the boy slipped into the creek Sunday afternoon while wading.

Funeral Is Friday

Coronel Francis J. McCardle was summoned and issued a verdict of death by accidental drowning. The body was turned over to the Coloni Funeral Home in Newburgh and funeral services will be held Friday with burial in Calvary Cemetery. New Windsor.

The little boy was swept under in the strong currents of the rain-swollen stream while wading at Midway Park Beach, Town of Gardiner, which is owned by John McEntee. He apparently lost his footing. John Williams, 17, a neighbor, attempted to rescue the boy but failed and he was carried downstream.

Expresses Thanks

Sheriff Claude Bell, who with several deputies, volunteer firemen, skin divers, state police and volunteers, conducted the search today thanked all who assisted.

Father Curry of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, was summoned when the body was recovered and went to the scene.

Five boats manned by officials and volunteers were at the scene Monday combing the stream. The search was directed by Sheriff Claude Bell and Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh and state police from Highland station. Also assisting in the search was Trooper Charles Erway from Troop C Headquarters at Sidney. Aiding in the search were Deputy Sheriffs John Tuey, Joseph McNierney, Cornelius Dumond,

CC Lists 4 Reasons Against School Aid

Several important actions were taken by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which President Joseph E. O'Connor presided.

Dr. Elbert F. Mac Fadden Jr., 98 Fair Street, was elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce to fill the unexpired term of Sully Fleming. Fleming resigned after accepting a position to manage a new Montgomery Ward Store in Menlo Park, N. J.

A resolution opposing the Thompson school-subsidy bill, H.R. 7300, was adopted.

This action was recommended by the National Legislative Affairs Committee. They listed four principal reasons for the opposition to the proposed federal aid to education.

John W. Egbert, district manager of the New York Telephone Co., was named chairman of the annual banquet committee for 1961-62.

To Sponsor Security Seminar

It was decided to request and agree to sponsor a two-week national security seminar put on by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces of Washington, D. C. The sponsorship was recommended by the Chamber convention committee.

The industrial promotion committee, chairmaned by John H. Haulenbeek, was authorized to prepare and publish a leaflet designed to encourage industrial development at a cost not to exceed $300.

The Kingston Consolidated School system will again be asked to participate in the two major public relations projects Business-Education and Education-Business Days. They will be arranged by the Chamber's education committee in cooperation with the school system.

Endorsed Proclamation

A resolution was adopted endorsing Kingston's Urban Renewal and Modernization Week as proclaimed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and urged public support thereof.

One new membership application, the Fair Street Nursery School, 209 Fair Street represented by Mrs. George Dingee, was approved.

Still another action taken was

Gotham Snarled By Power Cut as Heat Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13th in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom — and in between — citizens of this always cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man.

Trapped in Elevators

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours. Passengers were stranded below ground in subways. Passengers emerged from both, shaken and dripping with perspiration.

"It was like a steam bath," said a patrolman coming out of a subway.

The Great White Way was a strange sight as the setting sun dropped across the Hudson River. Times Square's brilliance was blacked out for a time. Many of its movie houses and theaters closed.

Traffic Lights Out

Traffic lights were out throughout the area and thousands of

12,496 in Ulster Get Social Security Benefits

By the end of 1960, some 12,496 people in Ulster County were receiving old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits. The total benefits paid to these people for December 1960 was $814,252, according to George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston, New York social security district office. "This is an increase in the number of people receiving benefits by about 10 per cent over the same month last year," he said.

Nationally, almost 15 million people were receiving about a billion dollars a month in old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits at the close of 1960. Many of these people were made eligible for benefits by the changes in the law made in 1960 —such as the reduction in the amount of work required to qualify for benefits and the removal of the age 50 requirement for disability benefits.

Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $70 in December 1960; to a retired couple, both receiving benefits, the average payment was $124. The average for an aged widow was about $58.

Last year was the 20th year that social security benefits were payable, and the 25th anniversary of the Social Security Act, which became law in 1935. Changes in the law since 1935 have brought more than nine out of every 10 people in the United States protection by old-age, survivors, and disability insurance protection paid for by taxes on employes, their employers, and the self-employed. Earnings will be reported to the social security accounts of more than 75 million workers during 1961.

Ulster County people participate and share in this program along with the rest of the United States. The table below shows the number and monthly amount

Destructive Storms Hit Various State Sections

The storms, accompanied by strong winds and hail, knocked down trees, cut electrical and telephone service and spawned floods.

More heat, humidity and storms were forecast.

The sudden and torrential rains lashed down on a state sweltering in an officially uncomfortable combination of humidities and temperatures ranging to the 90s.

About 30 residents of the Madison County community of Georgetown were evacuated last night when Otselic Creek sent water swirling three feet deep into the main street.

Mrs. Lucy Howe and her son, Frederick, 10, fell into the current as they left the town hall. Mrs. Howe, the village librarian, and her son were rescued by the local civil defense director.

Two women driving toward Middleville in Herkimer County were cut by flying glass when a falling tree limb shattered a windshield.

Falling tree limbs disrupted travel and utilities at Plattsburgh, Oswego, the Albany area and Poland, Herkimer County.

Lighting disabled a 34,500-volt transmission line in the Syracuse area, cutting power to about 14,000 homes for up to 1½ hours.

Plattsburgh was without power for nearly an hour.

About 1,000 homes in the Kuyahoora Valley in Herkimer County were without electricity briefly.

Rome and other Oneida County communities reported falling trees, heavy rains and storm damage.

In Albany, a half-inch of rain fell in 15 minutes. Hailstones up to a half-inch in diameter fell with the deluge. In Schenectady, television station WRGB was silenced.

Before the storm, a blanket of heat and humidity rested over the state. In New York City, where the temperature reached 95, and other communities the weather bureau's comfort index—in terms of heat and humidity—reached the oppressive stage.

$6 Million Stock Issue Will Help C-H Construction

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was given permission by the Public Service Commission today to issue $6 million in preferred stock.

The money will be used to help finance a $57-million-construction program the company has scheduled for completion by 1964.

The stock will have a dividend rate of 4.96 per cent. The 60,000 shares, with a par value of $100, will be sold to 17 institutional investors, the PSC said.

Central Gas & Electric serves an area that includes the cities of Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh, Beacon and numerous villages along the Hudson River.

In another action today, the PSC approved plans of the Brooklyn Union Gas Co. for construction of a 7,500-foot main in Brooklyn and Queens.

The New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas & Electricity was still to act on the project.

The work will extend along Flatlands Avenue, from its intersection at Fountain Avenue, Brooklyn, along 156th Avenue in Queens to Cross Bay Boulevard.

Schnitzer Voted As Officer by Hospital Council

Robert M. Schnitzer, administrator of the Kingston Hospital, has been elected vice president of the Hospital Council of Southeastern New York.

The Council has a membership of administrators of 23 hospitals in the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Putnam.

Last year, Schnitzer was a member of its Board of Directors and chairman of its nursing committee. Robert L. Feil of Cornwall Hospital is the new president.

Would Be Largest

Directors Named For Bank-Holding Company in State

NEW YORK (AP)—Sponsors of a proposed bank-holding company—the largest in the nation—have announced the names of 25 directors chosen by the seven banks seeking affiliation.

Formal applications for federal and state approval of the project will be made in the next few weeks. The planned new company is named the Morgan New York State Corp.

John M. Meyer Jr., president-designate of the company, said Tuesday night that compilation of the necessary data is at an advanced stage.

The Morgan New York State Corp. would have assets of more than $6.1 billion and deposits of more than $5.1 billion and 149 banking offices throughout the state.

Other proposed member banks are: Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo, Lincoln Rochester Trust Co. of Rochester, the National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany, First Trust & Deposit Co. of Syracuse, the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York in Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

Each would continue to operate under its present name and management.

Says Firm Ready Financially to Buy 3 Stations

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Capital Cities Broadcasting Co. will finance its purchase of three radio and television stations with little dilution of equity, its president pledges.

Frank M. Smith said the firm was in a "substantially stronger working capital position at the end of 1960."

He told the firm's annual stockholders meeting Tuesday that Capital Cities expected continued improved earnings this year from radio and television stations in Albany, Providence, R.I., and Raleigh-Durham, N.C.

The purchase to which Smith referred was of stations WPAT, AM and FM, in Paterson, N.J. and New York City, and WKBW, AM, TV, in Buffalo. The sale applications are pending before the Federal Communications Commission.

All 12 directors, including CBS radio news commentator Lowell Thomas, were re-elected. Thomas is a stockholder in Capital Cities.

Buffalo Sector Pastor Leader Of Church Parley

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Synod of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. began business meetings today under a new moderator, the Rev. Henry W. Eddy.

The Rev. Mr. Eddy, pastor of Deerhurst United Presbyterian Church in the Buffalo suburb of Kenmore, was elected moderator Tuesday night at the opening session of a three-day meeting.

He succeeds Wayne Hammer Byrne of Plattsburgh.

The Rev. Donald B. Reitz of Skaneateles was appointed field director of Christian Education for the synods of Kansas and Missouri.

ASTME Plans Final Program Tonight

Tonight the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, Catskill Region Chapter 151, will hold its final program of the 1960-61 season at Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Featured at this meeting will be Don Weed, IBM electronic engineer and inventor who will speak on "The Manufacturing Requirements for Future Electronic Devices." Weed is well qualified for this topic by virtue of his connection with advanced developments at the local plant. Technical meeting commences at 8:15 p. m. and non-members are, as usual, allowed one visit per year.

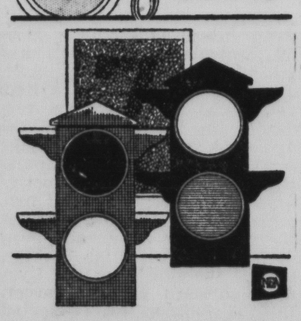
matter of Fact



Can color blindness be cured? No, scientists say—at least, not the commonest kind of color blindness. Most defects in color vision are inherited, and nothing can be done to change inherited color blindness. People whose color vision is different from normal include one-half of 1 per cent of the ladies and 8 per cent of the men. When it comes to seeing colors, the men are the "weaker sex."

State Guide Dies at 90

LOWVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—David L. Conkey, who walked into the Adirondack Mountains at 16 with a rifle and a sack of flour—and stayed 50 years as a guide—is dead at 90.

Conkey, a native of Petrie's Corner, Lewis County, had been told by a doctor that the only way to cure a leg ailment and survive was to "live off the land."

He died Tuesday in a nursing home in nearby Martinsburg after an illness of several months. Conkey operated a camp at Beaver River Flow in Herkimer County and also was a forest ranger there.

36 Committees Are To Reorganize at Albany Meetings

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino announced the plans jointly today.

The reorganization is an annual activity which follows the extension of the life of the committees by the Legislature.

The committees have sizable budgets and staffs to assist the legislator-members in dealing with such problems as school aid, highway safety, problems of the aging, health insurance and mental retardation.

In rare instances, non-legislators are named to some special committees. Charles H. Diefendorf of Buffalo, a banker, is the chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on School Financing.

PERHAPS ALL THREE

When Soviet Premier Khrushchev took power some years back along with the now forgotten Nikolai Bulganin, his good will tours with Mr. B were often described as virtual vaudeville turns.

In recent times, not too many in the free world have been able to think of Khrushchev in those terms, despite his gay moments spouting from balconies, chatting with peasants along the roadsides, and so on.

His recent bongo-beating, baton-waving cha-cha performance for Indonesian President Sukarno, however, outdoes even the old Mr. K.

Speculation naturally is rife. But probably we'll never know for sure whether this meant he thought he came out on top in Vienna, whether he likes President Kennedy or whether he just likes the cha-cha.

SECONDHAND BOYHOOD

They were thinking about boyhood, these two fellows in their mid-40s, and one of them said: "Remember how kids used to get a couple of pieces of rib bone, or maybe wood, and hold them in their fingers and make a clacking noise? I don't see those around anymore; I wonder if kids do that these days."

Whereupon his companion retorted, with bruised cynicism, "Probably what they do now is sit around listening to a recording of boys doing that."

Bruised cynicism or not, that has an acid hint of truth in it. This is the age of the vicarious thrill. Youngsters do a lot of adventuring via television and movies and records. They learn a lot that way—but they also miss a lot that used to come first hand to boys and girls a generation ago.

Whoever sees a boy whittling anymore? Whittling used to be a favorite time-passer for boys, and most of them would sooner have ventured forth without shoes than without a pocket knife. Are we going to come to a time when, instead of knowing the satisfaction of whittling, boys will see movies of whittlers in action?

And will there be records of boys playing a comb-and-paper, or doing a bit of soulful knuckle-whitling, or making the shrill noise that a grass blade makes when properly held and blown? Perhaps not. Perhaps that aforementioned bruised cynicism has gained the upper hand. But has anyone, lately, seen a boy clacking a carefully smoothed pair of rib bones? Neither have we.

The President reports that he and Nixon said nothing about politics in their recent conference. And neither one is a mind reader.

THOSE NEW ISSUES

A startling phenomenon in the recent stock market scene has been the appearance of large numbers of new issues. Word has gotten around that now is a good time for closely held companies to "go public." So, egged on by underwriters who find the business profitable, many a relatively small establishment on Main Street is floating a few thousand shares of stock.

There is nothing fundamentally wrong with this. Profitable ventures once owned by but two or three individuals may spread out their risk and procure new capital by inviting the investing public in. But certain more somber aspects have arisen. Many of these underwritings have seen the stock "come out" at one or two dollars a share and double or triple in value within a day or two after issuance.

This becomes a speculative lure calculated to burn investor fingers. In addition, these fantastic price increases represent a temptation to investing officers to turn a quick personal profit. In their special position they may be able to pressure brokers into allocating these stocks to their own accounts.

Those experienced in stock market matters have great misgivings about many of these new issues. They try to picture the wreckage which may be strewn a year or two hence. The lucky will have found the issues of lasting worth, the unlucky may have nothing but the wherewithal to paper their walls.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE COMMUNIST DILEMMA

After 11 years, Justice Felix Frankfurter's decision settled the fact that the Communist Party is illegitimate in the United States. The decision upholds the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950. When the Subversive Activities Control Board's order is fulfilled the position of the Communist Party and of an individual Communist will indeed be altered. Many sanctions will be applied against Communists, such as they will be ineligible for government employment, they will be unable to hold or receive an American passport; they will not be permitted to work in defense facilities or receive defense information. If they send any propaganda through the mails, they will have to mark it "Communist Propaganda."

In a word, the law not only outlaws the Communist Party but it makes of the individual Communist a pariah. While the Frankfurter decision upholds the law per se, it does not go into each detail of sanction. What the Communist lawyers face then is the problem of how to prevent this order from becoming final.

Under Supreme Court rules, the Communist Party has 25 days from June 5 to petition for a re-hearing. Now we come into red-tape complications. If the Court is in session on June 30, the period when application for a stay may be applied for, the petition for a stay operates as an automatic stay of judgement and there will be six months or more delay before the Internal Security Law can become operative. If the Court is in summer recess on June 30, a motion for a re-hearing, no matter where filed, will not operate as an automatic stay. The Board's order then becomes final as soon as the Court issues its judgement and awards the case to the Circuit Court, which in normal course will be early in July.

The lawyers for the Communist Party have to decide what to do to save their members from the drastic sanctions of this law. Gus Hall, the leader of the Communist Party, said that the Frankfurter decision requires the Communist Party to commit suicide. He announced that the Party would soon ask for a stay and a re-hearing.

It is to be presumed that a 5-4 decision would continue against the Communists. Chief Justice Earl Warren voted in favor of the Communist Party. If Gus Hall's decision to petition for a re-hearing and stay is carried out shortly, it means that the Communist Party intends to manoeuvre the situation so that its leaders will have an opportunity to defy the Supreme Court and risk arrest for contempt. At issue immediately would be the registration of the Party and the filing of membership lists with the Attorney-General. The Communists admit guilt by regarding the filing of lists as being stool pigeons.

From a tactical standpoint, the Communists would prefer a stay so that they might have an opportunity to organize fellow-traveller groups as well as doctrinaire liberals to demand that the Communists be given equality with Republicans or Democrats. This would be of tremendous agitational value. During the Cold War, the Communists have lacked a cause as no one could support Khrushchev's imperialism. The Frankfurter decision gives them a cause.

The Communist Party, if it petitions for a stay immediately, will not have too much time for martyrdom, but if the Supreme Court sits until July 10, the matter can be heard and decided finally.

The Communist Party might take advantage of one more technicality. If the Supreme Court should recess before June 30, the Communist Party might, between the date of the recess of the Court and June 30, find a Justice who would be willing to frustrate the action of the Court's majority by acting unilaterally to grant a stay pending a decision for a re-hearing. It is difficult to believe that any Justice would do that but it could happen, particularly as Chief Justice Earl Warren is so antagonistic to Justice Felix Frankfurter.

It is of tremendous interest that Justice Frankfurter should have become the leader of conservative thought on the Supreme Court bench. His position is strictly constitutional. The Chief Justice seems to be embarrassed by the presence of so superior a jurist as Felix Frankfurter among the brethren. It may yet turn out that those who for years were critical of Felix Frankfurter may have to apologize to him for their error of judgement.

Make Your Retirement A Renaissance of Spirit

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Let's have another word for retirement.

Most of us think of retirement as a passive act. We say we are going to retire for the night. Or the newspapers say a public figure retired to private life, suggesting the end of his usefulness.

This concept of retirement as a sort of descent to what Dr. Edward Bortz, of the Committee on Aging, describes as a precemetery existence is a major cause for the problems of our many senior citizens.

Floating suggishly downstream, they permit body and mind to become flabby. Or suddenly released from decades of routine chores, they behave like youngsters on their summer holidays and hurl themselves into aimless pursuits like shuffleboard, sunbathing clock golf, bingo and card games.

Bored by inactivity or pleasure seeking, they take refuge in endless complaints: Loss of appetite. Faulty elimination. Fits of the blues. Sleeplessness. Fatigue from the slightest demands on their flabby muscles. Aches and pains from any unexpected or unusual form of motion.

In short, sheer and unadulterated boredom.

Soon the eagerly anticipated retirement becomes the pre-cemetery existence that Dr. Bortz so aptly describes.

These retirement blues can be prevented. And all that is required is active preparation for the new life that is to be. Not retirement, then, but a rebirth or reincarnation, if you will.

You don't need to be a learned person to plan your reincarnation. And you don't need to seek professional advice to discover what form your reincarnation should best assume.

All you've got to do is give thoughtful consideration to the things or subjects that interest you outside of your cash-and-carry activities. Maybe it's bird watching. Or gardening. Or stamp collecting. Or chess. Or participation in community activities. Or travel. Or baby sitting. Or reading to the blind. Or the care of crippled or handicapped children. Or non-professional duties in your local hospital.

But you must have a purpose. You must derive a sense of accomplishment from whatever you decide to do. You must have the feeling that you are pulling your weight in the boat, that you are being helpful to someone less fortunate than yourself.

With these accomplishments under your hat, you'll have little need for vitamins, gland shots, special diets and/or the blandishments of "rejuvenation specialists."

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Registered lobbyists in Washington apparently stayed away from both the Democratic and Republican $100-a-plate dinners here in droves, or else most of them went in disguise. Both dinners claimed 6,000 total attendance.

There were 40 registered lobbyists on the seating list for the Democratic dinner in honor of President Kennedy May 27.

BUT FOR THE GOP DINNER at which ex-President Eisenhower was the guest of honor June 1, the funniest thing happened. There was no printed seating list.

Instead, the good Republicans and fat cats who shelled out their $100 a plate for the Grand Old Party had their table number printed on their tickets.

There were a number of young Republican officials acting as ushers to help people find where to sit. These guides had copies of a master seating list.

But when reporters asked to get copies of the list, to see who was there and where seated, they were told a list was unavailable, or that there was none. The master list had mysteriously vanished, even at Republican national headquarters.

One good party wheel horse explained that they didn't want to make the list public because it might give the Democrats ideas where they could raise money.

IN THE MEMORY OF THE OLDER political reporters around town, this is the first time a banquet of this kind has been run off without a printed souvenir seating list. Such modesty is unusual among Republicans. And usually the guests want credit for having contributed and for being there.

Maybe all this sudden shyness is the result of bad publicity which the Democrats received from the J. K. Evans letter to Washington oil and gas company representatives. He asked them, on behalf of his old friend Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, to buy $100 tickets and come to the dinner.

Evans himself didn't attend the Democratic dinner. President Kennedy, at the dinner, had thanked Udall "for handling the publicity." So, as chairman of the public relations committee, Udall was asked about this at his last press conference.

"I was otherwise occupied, myself," he said, "and didn't run a check" of the oilmen present."

It HAS BEEN THIS reporter's intent to check on both the Republican and Democratic dinners to see if more oil men had gone to see the GOP affair than to their opponent's banquet.

Since the Republican list is mysteriously missing, that can't be done. Maybe this story will smoke it out later. If so, there will be a follow-up, revealing what they had to hide.

For the time being, all that can be done is report on the oil people who came to the Kennedy dinner.

IN SO DOING, FULL credit must be given to the Democrats for being open and aboveboard about who came to their party and contributed to its success. They hid nothing.

Of the people who received the Evans letter, five showed up: Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Vice of Standard California, Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Wild Jr. of Gulf Oil, Mr. and Mrs. Carstens Slack of Phillips Petroleum, Mr. Harrington Wilberly of El Paso Natural Gas and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kane of American Petroleum Institute.

There was a concentration of oil people at table 270, along with the Wilds and the Slacks. Among the others there, who were not recipients of an Evans letter, were: Joe T. Dickerson, [illegible] La Crossitt, John R. Lewis and John L. Wilson.

W. Richards of Standard of Indiana, [illegible] Natural Gas Assn., and Marvin B. Weaver of Cities Service Petroleum Co.

There may have been others, but these were all that could be identified. Now if the Republicans will just send in their list.

Did Communists Trick Us Into Suspending A-Tests?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 13—The United States is still star-gazing and moon-gazing while the Soviet government is gaining its biggest victory below the earth's surface.

For two years and seven months now this country has voluntarily refrained from any nuclear testing, though there is every indication that the Soviets, while professing to do likewise, have been cheating.

Since it is impossible as yet to detect with certainty any underground testing of nuclear devices, the experts here believe the whole crusade to ban nuclear tests is based on a Communist trick to outwit the United States.

Many members of Congress, including Democrats, now are in favor of resuming tests. Senator Symington, Democrat, of Missouri, has suggested that reasons of national security and the possibility that the Soviet Union has been secretly conducting tests are forcing the United States to a renewal of weapon development. He added that the Soviet Union might have decided not to reach an agreement at the Geneva conferences "because of the tremendous unilateral advantage it had passed over to them voluntarily" by declaring a suspension on Oct. 31, 1958.

The Way Ike Put It

General Eisenhower—who as President approved the voluntary ban—has come out now for a resumption of testing. He put it this way in a public comment the other day in Cincinnati:

"We cannot very much longer put this thing on ice. The time has come when we are going to have to fix a date. I told my own people before I left office we were going to have to take steps to lay down a date where we would no longer be bound by an agreement tacit or otherwise. We have already made that statement that we are no longer bound to abstain from testing, but we haven't yet fixed a date. If we are just going to stand here talking this way — and as we know their tests may be going on in that vast (Russian) interior."

President Kennedy has hinted but has not flatly stated that there would be a resumption of testing. He has said the United States would continue negotiations at Geneva as far as possible so that the world will know that it is not this country's fault if the talks fail and testing is resumed.

The whole issue is permeated with hypocracy. The mere ban on the testing of nuclear weapons will not save any country from a holocaust. The crusade instigated by the Communists throughout the world to stop nuclear tests have given a misleading impression. For the signing of such a treaty doesn't mean that either the United States or the Soviet Union would agree not to use in the future the nuclear weapons already tested or to destroy them altogether so they never could be used for inhumane purposes.

So what is the real motive behind the worldwide pressure the Soviets have created in order to get a ban on nuclear testing? Also, why have they prolonged the negotiations and set up obstacle after obstacle to cause the Western powers to be deprived of any treaty or agreement on a nuclear-test ban? There could have been only one object — to delay the negotiations as long as possible while the United States refraining voluntarily from any testing.

Stevenson Advocated Ban

The Eisenhower Administration at first resisted such pressure, but the Democrats and many persons in the scientific world though much would be gained in the court of world opinion by a "unilatered" or voluntary ban. At the time Adlai Stevenson first made the suggestion when he was running for the presidency in 1956, the Republicans, led by President Eisenhower, denounced the proposal. But two years later the voluntary-ban idea was accepted by the Eisenhower Administration over the protests of many top experts in the government. On Capitol Hill hardly a voice was raised then by Democrats in opposition. In fact, they gloated over it as a surrender by Mr. Eisenhower to the position taken by Mr. Stevenson during the 1956 campaign.

What brought about the reversal? There is reason to believe that our allies played a significant part in forcing the voluntary ban. Thus, in England the British Labor party for a long while demanded that a nuclear-test ban be imposed and that the storage of nuclear weapons or the establishment of missile bases inside Great Britain by the United States should be prevented. Lately the Labor party, due to a serious division in its ranks on this question, has shown signs of wishing to wiggle out of the test-ban issue on the political front.

Constant Agitation

In almost every country in the world the test-ban idea has been constantly agitated. While many pacifists and other sincere persons have joined in the worldwide movement, still it is doubtful whether the crusade could have achieved such momentum or far-reaching scope without Communist funds and the inspiration or direct help of the Communist apparatus in every country.

Tests conducted below ground involve no danger whatsoever. There is no "fall-out," the effects of which have been grossly exaggerated so as to produce a scarce propaganda.

The recent series of events tends to support the belief that the United States has been outmaneuvered by the Communists and that valuable time has been lost that should have been used to keep the Soviets from getting ahead of us. It could prove more important to the safety of the American people than exploration of space and projected flights to the moon.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

ODESSA, Tex., June 11—When John C. Tower, a Conservative Republican was campaigning for the Senate against William A. Blakeley, a Conservative Democrat, Richard Nixon quietly volunteered to come over from California and help Tower with some speeches. Tactfully but firmly, Tower's people sent back their answer. It was "stay away. We are not running one of your Tom Dewey campaigns. You are too 'liberal.'" Phrase it as you like, that is the meaning of Tower's answer to the man who was afraid to peep the word "communism" in the election of 1960.

Tower, the first Republican Senator from Texas since the time of the Civil War, had announced: "I am a Conservative. I never supported a 'Liberal' movement in my life." He did not define such "Liberal" movements but he didn't have to. The voters knew what he meant and they felt just as he did.

The people of Texas, in fact the people of the United States, are sick to hatred of pressure exerted from New York by a few organizations with offices in the midtown area. There are editorial censors who reject that sentiment because either they want these movements to prosper or thy are afraid these outfits can get their jobs one way or another. It is a personally dangerous heresy to report that most of the rest of the American outback is fed up with New York and its campaign of hatred against outer America which resembles in reckless fury the clamor of the New England draft dodgers who brayed "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory—" and jubilated over the scorched-earth campaign in Virginia and Georgia in the sixties.

Those New York warmongers are snorting the same concocted fumes of hatred and sending riders into Mississippi and Alabama, as Harry Truman in one of his truthful aberations pointedly remarked a few days ago and as U. S. Judge Frank M. Johnson affirmed in a fuzzy decree, probably illegal and unenforceable, the same day in Montgomery, Ala.

If the election of 1960 were held tomorrow, Jack Kennedy would be beaten badly by the loss of Texas, Mississippi and Alabama on this issue alone in which his juvenile brother Bobby, the attorney general, has taken an obstreperous part. This pair went out on a limb to applaud the outrageous verdict of the federal court in the Apalachin case. The Supreme court revoked the whole Apalachin business as an atrocity, which it was from start to finish.

There was froth on the lips of the voters for Tower, and even of some who voted for Blakley, against the skulduggery of Lyndon Johnson's political career. In 1954 Johnson was re-elected to the Senate by votes which were reported late, after it had became apparent that that many votes would do the trick. In preparation for the 1960 election, his machine caused the Legislature to pass a special law permitting him to run again for his job as senator and, as well, for president or vice president. But this was just too damned slick for their own good. Because after Johnson was elected vice president it was necessary to elect a senator in his place and that election went to a man who publicly despises all that the Kennedy Administra, and "New York," now plainly signify to the majority of Texans and the mass of people in other far states who rarely get a chance to vote for a man with the principle to reject Rockefeller, Lehman, Javits, Harriman and the whole writhing tangle of worms in the can of bait for suckers.

California is not as badly confused as some election returns may suggest. Earl Warren did great damage there with his system of political depletion called cross-filing, which enabled a candidate without political principles to run as both Republican and Democrat. If California had a man of Barry Goldwater's quality and size he could be elected next week to any office on the roster. For that matter, Goldwater probably could be elected to almost any office in any state except New York and Illinois.

Barry did Tower some good in Texas, but his help was not actually decisive. Tower probably would have won on the strength of his total, absolute contempt for the whole dirty business of the New Deal, the Fair Deal and the New Frontier.

Nixon is still strong in California and may be the boss Republican as of now but he isn't conservative enough to win for president. He dogged it with Kennedy when he should have kicked him all over the hall with straight Republican stuff. He even made a bad picture by contrast with Kennedy's synthetic juvenility and his "unruly" hair.

He should have seen that this me-too deal was doomed to failure after Dewey's two pathetic flops and Barry Goldwater's grand success in the state which adjoins California. The most compelling demonstration of the power of conservatism occurred when Ike and Dick flew across Arizona on their way to help Senator Knowland run for governor two years ago.

With their help Knowland was slaughtered.

Without their help, Goldwater waltzed home.

Local Residents Attend Sessions To Aid Retarded

A two-day conference of teachers for trainable mentally retarded children and allied professional personnel was held Friday and Saturday at the Carnegie International Center, in New York City.

This was the eighth annual conference of its kind sponsored by the New York State Association for Retarded Children, Inc.

Attending from the local area were: Mrs. Mabelle Mix, and Mrs. Robert Gaines of Kingston, teachers of trainable classes; and Mrs. Donovan Buehring of Kingston, member of the state Education Committee.

The conference attracted teachers and professional persons from the entire state. Top personnel in the field not officially appearing were on the program.

The two-day session opened on Friday with the entire day devoted to conducted tours. Delegates from the state and guests attending were able to see the tremendous advances made in the field of training children with low IQ's by visiting two leading centers of the state, the AHRC Occupation Day Center and the AHRC Training Center and Workshop both in New York City. They also visited numerous classes for trainable children within the New York City public schools.

Far Cry From Quick Reports on Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's aides have been far less prompt with news about his back injury—described as not serious—than President Eisenhower's staff was with information about his truly serious illnesses.

You might get the impression—listening to Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger — that news just travels slower in White House circles these days. But one thing is sure.

Hottest for Salinger

Salinger is either a lot more tardy in learning what happens to his boss—or in telling the press about it—than was ever the case with James Hagerty, who was Eisenhower's press secretary.

As a result, Salinger Tuesday got into one of the hottest news conferences he's had since taking over as Kennedy's press secretary.

According to the White House, Kennedy hurt his back May 16 while in Canada turning a spadeful of earth during a ceremony. With an aching back he went to Europe for separate talks with British Prime Minister Macmillan, French President de Gaulle, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

But it wasn't until June 8, two days after Kennedy's return from Europe, that Salinger revealed the President had suffered the injury. By this time Kennedy had been in pain three weeks.

Shifts Responsibility

Why had the news been bottled up that long? Salinger put the responsibility on the President and said Kennedy hadn't even mentioned it to his personal staff.

Yet Salinger said Kennedy had been on crutches two days at his Hyannis Port, Mass., home before leaving May 30 for Europe. This raised an immediate question: Didn't Kennedy's staff know about this? If not, where was the staff?

While Salinger insisted the back injury wasn't serious—and wasn't at all related to previous back injuries which required three operations—the long delay in letting it be known gave it importance.

When Salinger finally made the news known June 8 he did so by opening his conference with the announcement that "the President will appear today using crutches."

Once Kennedy did appear on crutches, of course, the news of the injury would be out anyway. So Salinger's revelation was only going to beat public knowledge by a few hours anyway.

Salinger said Kennedy was under the care of his White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell, who had treated him before for trouble with his back.

Another Tardy Issue

Salinger on Tuesday disclosed further that a New York specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, had been called down to Florida last weekend to examine Kennedy's back. Salinger said Dr. Wade agreed with Dr. Travell this injury was not related to previous ones.

But this disclosure also was tardy.

In the first place, it wasn't made until after Kennedy had cancelled a speaking engagement. The White House said the speech was canceled so the President could give his back a chance to rest. Salinger said he himself learned only Tuesday that Dr. Wade had been called to Palm Beach Sunday.

In the second place, even Dr. Wade's appearance in the case was handled in a way that was something less than completely direct.

Salinger didn't go to Florida with Kennedy. But Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, was there. Salinger said Hatcher didn't know Dr. Wade had been called in Sunday. But Hatcher was asked specifically last Friday by The Associated Press whether Dr. Wade was being called in. This question was based on reports that he was.

Hatcher said Dr. Wade was not being called in and would not be. Hatcher said Tuesday he did learn Saturday that the New York specialist was being called on.

But he never subsequently—until Salinger talked of it—revealed this knowledge, even though he had been asked the direct question about it.

GOP Kept Press Informed

Photographers Monday were kept at a distance when Kennedy, on crutches, boarded his return plane in Florida, got off it here, and later arrived by helicopter on the White House grounds.

The President reportedly is carrying on his usual White House work.

In 1955 the press was notified within 13 hours after Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Thereafter newsmen were kept fully and continually informed.

The same thing happened in 1957 when Eisenhower suffered an ileitis attack that late required an operation. The press was notified within 12 hours after he was stricken. When Eisenhower had a small stroke in 1957 the press got the news within 24 hours.

Landing on Moon To Cost Lives, And 10 Billion

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A government official says landing a manned spacecraft on the moon will cost about $10 billion—plus a lot of human lives.

Trevor Gardner, chairman of the Air Force Space Study Committee, told a science meeting Tuesday: I'm sure we are going to kill a lot of men in this business. But it's like testing high speed aircraft in which men have died. The risks are there and they have to be faced."

Gardner, assistant secretary of the Air Force in 1955-56, also told a joint meeting of the Aerospace Sciences and the American Rocket Society: "I am sure we can win the race if we are prepared to pay the price."

West Shokan Wins Frying Pan At Camp Weekend

West Shokan Boy Scout Troop 163 brought home the frying pan instead of the bacon last weekend during its attendance at the Rip Van Winkle Council Camporee held at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett.

The frying pan was an award for first place in camping. To make it a clean sweep, the troop also received a blue ribbon for first place in the scout skills contest.

The camping contest covers setting up and maintaining a neat and orderly camp. A panel of judges inspected each campsite and the decision was unanimous in favor of the West Shokan troop. Troop 163 received 108 points out of a possible 110.

A total of 842 boys from 103 troops participated.

The scouting skills contest included physical fitness, observation, identifying leaves, compass problems, Morse Code and first aid. Troop 163 received 60 points out of a possible 65.

This is the first time the West Shokan troop has won first place in either event.

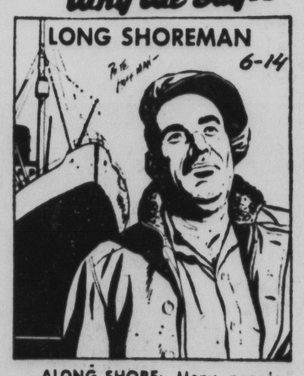
The troop elected Wallace John into the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honor society. The tapping ceremony was conducted on Saturday night at the camporee.

He'll Keep Order

MARSHFIELD, Mass. (AP) — It's a good guess that there'll be decorum and order in the classroom Albert J. Sinuc takes over in September, even though it is his first teaching job.

Sinuc, 42, of Brockton, got his teaching degree this week from Bridgewater State College. He decided to make teaching a second career—after retiring as a major following 21 years in the Marine Corps.

Why We Say--



ALONG SHORE: Many people believe that the name longshoreman, for someone who works loading ships is descriptive of the robust appearance that these workers quite often have. But the name actually means "along the shore men" as a designation of where they work.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Stretched out credit is becoming more available to business, big and small.

And demand for longer term financing is reported to have firmed up notably since the economy turned toward recovery in April. The supply of funds has kept pace.

In Line With U. S. Goal

This financing trend is in line with the experience of consumers, who have been learning the joys of revolving credit, longer term mortgages, and credit card living in general. It's also in line with the goal of the government, striving to lengthen its outstanding debt.

For business, banks are putting a larger share of their funds into long-term loans. Big companies, who are their best customers, are the chief borrowers. This trend to term lending has increased by 17 per cent in the last five years and the average length of this type of loan has climbed above 50 months.

More recently many smaller concerns have found equipment leasing companies extending the length of their contracts, thus making longer term credit more available all along the line. In the last five years equipment leasing (which is distinct from rentals by manufacturers) has increased seven fold, reaching $530 million in 1960, according to Nationwide Leasing Co. of Chicago.

Competition Still Keen

Trade credit terms have been stretched by many large manufacturers, often in the form of revolving credit for their customers. This trend gained ground during the recession and seems to be holding over into the recovery, perhaps because competition is still so keen.

A New York financing executive says: "Many small companies receive credit for replacement orders as soon as they've paid for the previous shipment, and the credit often stretches out for years without the account ever being cleaned up."

Commercial finance companies last year launched five-year capital loans for industry's expansion projects. These loans, mostly in the Midwest, came to $80 million in 1960 but the companies expect the volume to triple this year. A Chicago commercial finance company says the loans range from $75,000 to $2 million, and the borrower must show how the cash will be used to expand sales and profits.

Where It Comes From

Where has the money come from for this stretch out in credit terms?

Mainly from pension funds and insurance companies, says Robert Sheridan, president of Nationwide Leasing. The availability of long-term money (supply) and the growth pressures on industry (demand) have kept step, he says. This has made for a smooth, steady increase in long-term financing instead of a sudden change.

Ramer Promoted In Bridge Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Edward J. Ramer, 69, of Albany has been promoted to deputy chief of the Bridge Division of the State Public Works Department.

Ramer succeeds Carroll F. Blanchard, 71, of Albany, in the $18,630-a-year post. Blanchard retired after 40 years as a state engineer. Ramer, with the department 34 years, had been assistant deputy chief engineer.

In another state promotion, John Cummings of Albany was named director of the vocational rehabilitation division of the State Education Department.

Cummings will receive $12,880 a year as head of the division, which assists handicapped persons in obtaining employment. He had been acting director since 1959.

Ice Cream Strike Ends Today in Albany Area

Local 787 of the Teamsters Union, which represents ice-cream shippers and deliverymen, and the dairies agreed Tuesday night on a new contract.

Details were not disclosed.

The union struck the Borden Co., Norman's Kill Farm Dairy Co., and Sealtest Dairy Products for higher wages.

P-TA Has Final Season Meeting; Installs Officers

WEST HURLEY—A highly successful year was climaxed by the final meeting of the West Hurley P-TA held recently. The meeting was highlighted by the installation of the officers for the 1961-62 season.

New officers include president, Lloyd Collins; first vice president, Mrs. Clarence Anderson; second vice president, Mrs. Andrew Horvath; recording secretary Mrs. William Schwartz; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Erhardt Hennemann; treasurer, Lawrence Deede; executive committee, Walter Van Wagenen.

They were installed by David Fox.

After the business meeting pictures, slides and snapshots of the P-TA Follies held April 21, 22 were shown. The best attendance award was won by the Second Grade.

A large group of local membership attended the regional P-TA conference held at Grossingers on May 25.

Big Rains Force Ravena Residents To Purify Water

RAVENA, N.Y. (AP) — The 3,000 residents of ths Albany County village again were under orders today to boil their water.

Dr. Norbert P. Ringelmann of the county health department said recent heavy rains had washed more organic matter into the village watershed than normal chlorine treatment could handle.

Inadequate purification was blamed for an outbreak of diarrhea in Janury 1960, that struck more than half the village residents. A similar order was issued then.

Morehouse Lauds Advancement of StateUnderRocky

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller, by replacing "confused commotion with affirmative action," has made "heroic progress in restoring New York to its pre-eminence," a Republican spokesman says.

State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said the Republican governor, who succeeded Democrat Averell Harriman, also replaced "concern for the next headline with concern for the next generation."

Morhouse made the remarks in a speech Tuesday night at a joint meeting of Young Republican Clubs of Montgomery and Fulton counties.

6 Are Arrested For Conduct; 3 Nabbed at School

Local police found Tuesday disorderly conduct day.

Six arrests, police said, date back to a reported May 28 altercation downtown, and three were booked for alleged loitering on school property without permission, after a reported fight in the area.

Arrested for alleged participation in name calling and scuffling downtown reportedly involving some of the group were: Moses Harrell, 26, of Van Buren Street; Edward Scarfo, 44, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue; Arthur Boughton, 45, of 83 Hasbrouck Avenue; Marie Boughton, 42, of the same address, and Alfonzo Williams, 32, of 49 Meadow Street, and Howard Dawson, 22, of 60 East Strand.

Harrell's case Tuesday night was put over to June 20 and the others were adjourned to June 21. It is claimed that Boughton became involved with the others as he came out of his house to defend a nephew, and it was indicated that the trouble started with some all-round name calling on East Union Street. The arrests were on warrants executed by officers Garvin Fisher, Thomas Coffey, and James Amato.

A police report at 1:30 p. m., yesterday said, Henry C. Humphrey, 21, and twin brother, Harold, and younger brother, William, 16, all of 9 East Pierpont Street, were booked on disorderly conduct charges for allegedly having lingered on the MJM School property. It was reported that a fight had been in progress before police arrived.

City Judge Aaron E. Klein last night imposed a suspended sentence of 10 days each in jail.

The arrests were by Sgt. William Snyder and Officer Lewis Keator.

Gotham Snarled

motorists — accustomed to the bumper-to-bumper routine — found themselves hopelessly tangled face-to-face as well.

In hospitals, some patients were caught on operating tables. Emergency generators were thrown into use and disaster averted.

The temperature had reached 96 degrees at midafternoon, a record for the date and the highest in two years. Throughout the city air conditioners droned by the hundreds of thousands.

But the Consolidated Edison Co. —although reporting it had had the largest load in history from 3 to 4 p.m.—said overloading had not caused the power failure.

The company said the trouble appeared to have started when a circuit-breaker caught fire in a transformer at a substation on West 65th Street between Amsterdam and West End Avenues, where high voltage is reduced for distribution into the streets.

As a result, the company said, a breakdown also occurred at a substation on East 63rd Street and a substation in Long Island City, across the East River, which supplies power to Manhattan.

Race to Beat Darkness

While they waited for power to return, the harried, sweating New Yorkers remembered with some anxiety that it had taken 8 to 12 hours to restore power in a similar blackout Aug. 17, 1959.

Workmen raced the setting sun to get the power back before dark came to the vast caverns of midtown Manhattan.

Later, power was restored in an irregular pattern on the West Side from 43rd to 71st streets. All power was back by 9:27 p.m., an hour after sunset.

A force of 3,500 policemen was ordered into the blacked-out area, supplemented by scores of civil defense workers. Motorists were warned to keep out. Searchlights were rushed to strategic intersections.

Only the alternating current was affected in the power failure. The flow of direct current was not impeded.

Top Hotels Affected

World-renowned hotels—the Astor on Times Square, the Park-Sheraton on the West Side and the Waldorf-Astoria on the East Side—were without air conditioning and electric light.

Telephone service was continued throughout the area, through use of special equipment.

The Independent subway division, the city's newest and fastest, was knocked out for an hour above 42nd street. Tens of thousands of its rush hour passengers were stranded, many in tunned beneath the East River.

Fortunately, the electrified third rails stayed on, supplied by direct current, and the stranded travelers had lights and fans. Still, many fainted.

Laos Bargaining May Be Closer

GENEVA (AP)—The storm of East-West accusations at the 14-nation Laos conference showed signs of abating today and long-delayed bargaining on rival peace plans may be near.

Western spokesmen indicated they are ready to call for the conference to break up into working groups to consider Soviet and Western proposals for unifying and neutralizing the Southeast Asian kingdom and keeping it peaceful.

The Soviets, who accused the West Tuesday of stalling and said the conference should get to work, are expected to demand bargaining sessions. These are distasteful to the West because they usually turn into propaganda sounding boards.

Mboya's Brother Talks for Lions

Peter Okongo, 16-year-old student at the New Paltz Campus School of the State University of Education in New Paltz, spoke of his own country and the problems confronting his people today.

Okong'o told of the crude school system in Kenya. He related that he himself had not started school until he was 12 years of age, and then had no books or pencils, and there were no chairs in classrooms. Peter's efforts to advance himself, earned for him a scholarship to a better school in Kenya, and in turn, he was one of 225 students awarded a scholarship and flown to the United States Airlift Program last Fall.

In reference to the troubled areas of the southern states in this country, Okong'o said he was "firmly convinced that segregation is outmoded," and "the time is here for the Negro to reach for greater things in life."

In speaking of his own country, Okong'o said that while sincere help is wholeheartedly welcomed in Africa, the people there do not want outsiders ruling their country. He said Africans are willing to share with anyone, but these people must recognize that they must act and accept things as Africans.

Red Hook Fire Loss Estimated $453,000

Losses estimated at $453,000 resulted from fire of undetermined origin which raced through a long concrete storage house on Norton Road, Red Hook, Tuesday afternoon, according to Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan.

Quinlan said television and movie film owned by various companies were stored in the building owned by Joseph L. O'Conner, Red Hook. The building was leased by Rudolph Mayer, of 51-10 21st Street, Long Island City.

The sheriff said 4,500 rolls of films, valued at $100 each were destroyed by the flames that swept out of control shortly after the fire was discovered despite the combined efforts of fire companies from Red Hook and Rhinebeck.

Quinlan told The Freeman there is a possibility that heat from the rays of the sun, shining through skylights on the roof may have caused a spontaneous combustion. The sheriff said the origin was not definitely determined and agents from the National Board of Fire Underwriters are expected to investigate Thursday.

Deputy Sheriffs Charles Borchers and Robert Mahar made preliminary investigation of the fire yesterday. They said a gasoline can was found next to a nearby unoccupied house, but Quinlan said apparently the can had no connection with the fire.

Quinlan also said the building was valued at $3,000. It was completely gutted.

Union Man Says Others Hired for People Let Go

A representative of the Furniture Workers of America, AFL-CIO said today that persons have been hired to replace employes of the Levine Brothers Bag Co., Inc., 46 Mill Street, who, he charges, were let go because of effort to gain union recognition for the plant.

James Griesi, the representative, said that two women and one male employe of the plant have been released. The company employes 18, and Griesi claims that 70 per cent of them are interested in union representation.

The male employe, he said, had been employed 14 years as a bailer, and the wage rate at the time of his discharge was $1.45 an hour. He claims he had no previous trouble with his employer, nor was there any fault found with his work. The discharged employe, Griesi said, had contacted him last month and said the plant's employes were interested in a union.

Griesi said he had informed the plant's management June 2 that a majority of employes were interested in a union, and was told that management was not going to let a union tell it what to do after "it took 28 years to establish the business."

The wage scale of the women at the plant was reported at $1.10 an hour.

Griesi said earlier in the month he would file charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Kennedy kept his back injury a secret from Mrs. Kennedy.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters he understood she first learned of it from stories in the newspapers while she was vacationing in Greece last week.

When Mrs. Kennedy found out, Salinger said, she sent a message to her husband saying she thought she should return to Washington to be with him. But Kennedy told her not to, he said.

Until she read of the back strain which caused the President to walk on crutches, Salinger said, "It is my belief that Mrs. Kennedy did not know anything about it."

Hamblin, Former Trooper of Area Is Heart Victim

A retired trooper who served as justice of the peace in the Town of Wallkill, Orange County, was found dead in his bed about noon Tuesday.

William Hamblin, 56, who retired from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation as a sergeant in 1956, reportedly died of a heart attack.

Hamblin had presided at a case in magistrate's court about 2 a. m. yesterday and retired late. His wife left the following morning for Tarrytown without waking her husband but on her return about noon found him dead.

He was serving with the BCI out of the Middletown barracks when he retired five years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at Grace Episcopal Church, Middletown, with burial in the Oak Hill Cemetery, Nyack.

Miller's Personal Guess

Thinks Nixon Will Be Coast Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman William E. Miller has added some heat to the fire Republicans seem to be building to get Richard M. Nixon into the 1962 California governor's race.

Miller tossed off the "personal guess" Tuesday that when the time comes the former vice president will decide he is the only man who can save the sagging California GOP by running against Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and may become a contender for the party's 1964 presidential nomination, puts it another way. He says that Nixon either will have to run for state office or bow out of politics.

The opinions of Miller, Goldwater and Republicans of similar views are unlikely to be compelling with Nixon. The defeated 1960 Republican presidential nominee is a man who is known for making his own political decisions.

But Miller aptly sketched the dilemma when the national chairman noted in a National Press Club speech that Nixon had pledged himself to try to rebuild the party organization in California. If opinion polls indicate that only Nixon could beat Brown, Miller said there would be "tremendous pressure" on him to run.

Nixon has fended off this pressure while he has tested out the reaction to his preferred plan to keep himself in the political spotlight. This involves the kind of speeches he has been making at party rallies, plus private efforts to get some of his friends into contests for governor's offices.

This strategy seems designed to keep Nixon free from entangling state commitments so that he will be available for another presidential nomination in 1964.

Four Reasons Given

After enumerating all of the above actions, the four reasons for opposing Federal aid to education were outlined. They are as follows: (1) Federal aid leads to further centralized control in the federal government. (2) Arguments in favor of federal aid are not too well documented and some of the statistics have been found, to be inaccurate. (3) Much has been accomplished by states to provide for the increasing population during the period of most rapid increase. Statistics show that the rate of school population increase will be smaller in the future. (4) States, which under the proposed arbitrary aid formula, would pay much more in federal taxes than they would receive, have already expended most to take care of the school situation within the state and individual localities.

To Meet in September

Robert Carlzon recently elected president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was present at the meeting and spoke briefly. He is an ex-officio member of the board.

Action was also taken cancelling the regular meetings of the board of directors for July and August. Business will be handled by the executive committee unless a special meeting is called by the president. The next regular meting will be held September 12.

Regional Council Favors Jetport At Pine Island

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—The recently formed Regional Chamber of Commerce Council went on record Tuesday night as favoring a jetport in the Pine Island section of Orange County.

But the council stipulated that landowners should be sufficiently compensated for any land taken for such a site.

The vote on the proposal was 15 to 1 with six abstentions. The Pine Island representative voted against it.

The Regional Chamber of Commerce Council, formed four months ago, is composed of representatives from communities in Southern New York, Northern New Jersey and Pike County, Pa.

The Port of New York Authority plans to build a jetport, but no site has been picked.

Drivers Are Fined On Traffic Counts In Court Tuesday

A driver was fined $60 and another paid $50 in city court Tuesday night on traffic charges and others paid smaller fines totaling $63.

Wayne Bonesteel, 17, of Box 38, Ulster Park, charged with speeding as a second offender, was fined $50 on that charge and $10 for an infraction involving a junior operator's license.

Rita Sachs, 31, of Route 5, Box 24, Saugerties, also listed for a second offense of speeding, paid $50. Warren Swart, 19, of 246 West Chestnut Street, charged with speeding, was given the choice of a $15 fine or spending 15 days in jail. The fine was paid.

Robert Shaller, 34, of 68 Glen Street, charged with a traffic light violation, and driving with an expired license was fined $5 on the first and $3 on the other charge.

Timothy Countryman, 38, of 59 North Front Street, charged with disorderly conduct for creating a disturbance near 586 Broadway recently, was fined $10.

Charged with traffic light violations, Wallace Fiore, 28, of Box 133, Highland; Lila Newton, 28, of 200 Broadway, Port Ewen, and Martha Valk, of 94 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, were fined $5 each. Hugo Paisecki, of 34 Boulevard, and Thomas J. Malone, 37, of RD 2, Box 91-A, Kingston, paid $5 each, one for a stop-sign and the other for a one-way street infraction.

Samuel Turck, 28, of North Street, charged with third degree assault, said he wished to obtain counsel, and the case was put over to June 20. The arrest was by Detective Albert Hutton, and Delores Campanella, 23, of Oak Ledge, Saugerties, was listed as the complainant.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered in dull trading early this afternoon as it posted a moderate gain.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 248.60 with industrials up 1.30 rails up .40 and utilities up .10.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers as the list staged a technical snapback from two sessions of sharp decline.

The trend was higher among steels, motors, chemicals, rails and tobaccos. Coppers, drugs, aircrafts and farm implements were mixed.

A 2-point upswing by Du Pont helped buttress the averages. Gains of close to a point by Kennecott, U.S. Steel and Allied Chemical were also helpful in this respect.

Upjohn fell 1¼.

Building Wired for Fire

Buffalo Men Held For Try at Arson

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Three men have been charged with attempted third-degree arson in connection with what police investigators describe as a downtown building wired for fire.

State and county law enforcement officers arrested the three Tuesday outside a four-story business building.

Held in bail were:

Pascal F. Politano, 38, Frank Pusatieri, 34, and Salvatore Varco, 40, all of Buffalo. Politano was held in $50,000 bail and the other two in $25,000 bail each.

Police said they found a makeshift device that was timed to start a fire in the second floor. The upper three floors of the building are vacant and the lower store houses a book shop and a novelty store.

State Police, who said they had had the three men under surveillance for the last six months and had questioned them about a number of fires, had asked the Erie County district attorney's office and the Sheriff's Department to help in the investigation.

Says Dorpian Native May Be CIA Head

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Telford Taylor, a retired brigadier general, is receiving active support to succeed Allen W. Dulles as head of the Central Intelligence Agency, The Newark Star-Ledger said today.

In a Washington report, Edward J. Mowery, a special writer for the Newhouse Newspapers, said Taylor's supporters claim the New York lawyer has been interviewed extensively for the CIA post. Taylor is a native of Schenectady, N.Y.

His possible nomination has reached the "cloak room 'discussion' stage" and has the sympathy of Walter W. Rostow, deputy special assistant to the President for national security affairs, the paper said.

Others under consideration for the CIA post are Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Dep. Atty. Gen. Byron White and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Mowery reported.

Dulles, 68, has not indicated that he is going to step down as head of the intelligency agency.

Shultz Is Elected

A pre-election rally for Larry Diorio, who is a candidate for reelection as business representative of Local 17, will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock at Maennerchor Hall, Greenkill Avenue. Another rally is scheduled for Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Glasco Athletic Club. All union members have been invited to attend both rallies.

OAS Report Favorable

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Investigators of the Organization of American States will return to Washington Thursday. Indications are that their report will look favorably on welcoming the Dominican Republic back into the family of American nations.

The decision of the OAS subcommittee to leave after five days of intensive fact finding came as a general surprise. It had been understood the team would leave two representatives here to keep tabs on things while the other two returned to present a preliminary report to the OAS.

Lutheran Group Votes to Merge With 3 Others

SEATTLE (AP) — The Augustana Lutheran Church has voted 495-21 to merge with three other Lutheran groups into the Lutheran Church in America.

The action came Tuesday. Representatives of the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, the American Evangelical Lutheran church, the United Lutheran Church in America and the Augustana Church have been negotiating a merger for five years.

A spokesman for the Augustana Lutherans said the United Lutheran Church in America has ratified the action, and the two other groups are expected to give their approval at conventions this summer.

Seek Swidler Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) —Administration forces today seek Senate approval of Joseph C. Swidler as a member of the Federal Power Commission. The Tennessee lawyer is President Kennedy's choice for the agency's future chairman.

Action on Swidler's nomination follows Tuesday's Senate confirmation of Howard V. Morgan as an FPC member after a bitter debate.

Kenny Man Is Winner

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Gangemi, backed by the strong Hudson County Democratic organization of John V. Kenny, was elected mayor of Jersey City in Tuesday's runoff election.

Gangemi, Hudson County supervisor, piled up 57,927 votes to defeat Parks Director Bernard J. Berry who collected 43,277 with all 231 districts reporting.

Milk Output Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy farmers are breaking more production records.

The Crop Reporting Board said today that milk production in herds checked by crop reporters averaged 25.32 pounds per cow on June 1, about 2 per cent above the previous record for that date set a year ago.

How to Buy Stock: Select Broker, Open an Account

Q) "My husband and I will soon retire, and we would like to invest in Consolidated Edison stock. We have $10,000 for this purpose, and my husband will not consider any other stock. Would you please advise us how much this amount of money will buy and also what income we can expect on a monthly basis? How should we go about buying it?" O. S.

A) Let me take your last question first. So many readers inquire how to start buying securities that I'm going to devote today's column to this subject and to the balance of your question.

Buying and selling securities is a faith and credit business. You have to find a broker you can get to know and trust, and he in turn has to rely on you to carry out your commitments.

Inquire at your bank or from your employer for the name of a reliable broker. Go to see this man and tell him you'd like him to handle your business. Personally, I would insist on dealing with a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

A broker will require from you about the same information that is needed to open an account in a department store. If your account is approved, he will place orders for you and bill you just as any other merchant does.

Now I will discuss your investment of $10,000 in Consolidated Edison (NYSE). This is a good conservative stock, but I personally believe that your husband should deversify his investment. There are lots of other strong stocks which offer good security and at least as good prospects.

However, if your $10,000 is all placed in Consolidated Edison, it would purchase 123 shares at a price of around $81. Dividends on this stock are paid quarterly, not monthly, at a rate of $0.75 each March, June, September and December. Total income on your investment would be $369 anually.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Committee Sets Buffalo Hearing On Liquor Laws

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An interim hearing by a state legislative committee on liquor laws will be conducted here Monday with attention focused on two recent actions by the State Liquor Authority.

The SLA last month suspended the liquor licenses of 22 establishments in the city and suburbs after an under-aged girl testified that she had been served drinks in all of them. There have been strong protests here and elsewhere in the state concerning the authority's ban on "drink frames" in bowling alleys where liquor licenses are held.

Bloodshed Threatens

The first solid effort to end the 6½-year war in the North African territory broke down Tuesday when the French delegation called for a "reflection period" of 10 to 15 days, apparently hoping that the exiled rebel regime in Tunis would ease its tough, no-compromise stand.

'Riders' Split Up

Fourteen white and Negro groups of seven today to continue their assault-by-bus on segregation in the South.

The first group is to depart from Wilmington, N.C., by scheduled public bus for Charleston, S.C., with the second group traveling the same rout ea few hours later.

All intend to spend the night in Charleston and resume their journey to Jacksonville, Fla. Thursday morning. They are not passing through Alabama or Missippi.

imposed sentence. She was sent to jail.

Bail Furnished

Later an application for bail was made to County Judge Raymond J. Mino who fixed bail at $500 cash pending appeal from the judgement of conviction by Justice of the Peace Baumgarten.

Three of five persons charged with violation of the constable's order to take shelter have pleaded guilty to the charge. All were given five days in jail and fined $25. They are Dorothy Secrest of Woodstock, Mona Fletcher of Lake Hill and Holley Cantine Jr., of Woodstock. Two have paid their fines after completion of a five day jail sentence. Only Dorothy Secrest has declined to pay the $25 fine and remains in jail.

One case is still pending. Gerien Kelcey Jacober of Woodstock will have a trial on June 27 at 7 p. m. before Justice Baumgarten following a plea of innocent.

Director of FDR Library Is Named To U. S. Position

Appointment of Herman Kahn, director of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, Hyde Park, since 1948 as a special assistant to the archivist of the United States, was announced Monday.

Kahn will assist the archivist, Dr. Wayne C. Grover in administering the Presidential library system, which includes the Roosevelt library, the Eisenhower library under construction at Abilene, Kan., and the Harry S. Truman library at Independence, Mo.

John L. Moore, General services administrator, Washington, D. C., also reported that Dr. Elizabeth Drewry, chief of the Record Retirement branch of GSA's National Archives and Records service, will succeed Kahn at Hyde Park.

A year ago Kahn received the GSA distinguished service award for having established the Roosevelt library, and his contributions to development of the Presidential library system. A native of Rochester, Kahn will receive an annual salary of $15,290.

Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, were joined by rail on Feb. 18, 1851.

County Numismatic Club to Sponsor CoinShowSunday

Encased postage stamps used during the Civil War as a medium of exchange due to the shortage of metal coins, will be featured in one of many displays arranged for the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club coin show and jamboree Sunday at Stuyvesant Kingston Hotel. The exhibition will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The idea was patented by J. Gault, a New York City merchant, in 1862.

Many concerns used the encased postage stamps as an advertising medium and had the firm name embossed on the back of the metal case. Clear mica covered the front of the case so the denomination of the stamp was visible.

Gault issued 11 denominations, 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 12, 24, 30 and 90 cents. Many of them today are the prized possessions of coin or stamp collectors. The encased postage stamp is the common ground of the stamp and coin collectors.

More than 34 firms used the new medium of exchange as a means of advertising during the Civil War days.

Some of the firms were Ayer's Cathartic Pills, Lowell, Mass.; Brown's Bronchial Troches; Burnett's Cooking Extracts; Drake's Plantation Bitters; Kirkpatrick & Gault, New York City; Sands Ale, and Lord & Taylor, New York City.

The exhibition will also include ancient coins, paper money, curious coins and many other mediums of exchange.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio soap operas which invariably used organ music for their background gave the instrument some of its saccharine reputation. Now television is helping restore the organ to its deserved high place.

TV daytime serials still rely on the organ to provide dramatic accents and over-all atmosphere. But nowadays the music is much more sophisticated. Billy Nalle the organist on the "Young Dr. Malone" series on NBC, plays jazz for the show's music, improvising and weaving themes together as the action proceeds.

Nalle broke the organ-taboo in television. He played a jazz background on a CBS "Suspense" show in 1953 — long before the dramatic "Peter Gunn" theme music was even dreamed about.

The most interesting part of Tuesday night's "TV Guide Awards Show" on NBC was the result of the voting by readers on their favorite shows and performers. Presumably the most dedicated of TV viewers were the ones who cast their ballots in the magazine's poll. There were eight categories of shows.

"Sing Along With Mitch" won as the best musical or variety show. NBC's election night coverage and its nightly Huntley-Brinkley news report were tops in their current events categories.

"Macbeth," an NBC Hall of Fame special, was chosen as the best dramatic program of the season. CBS' "The Andy Griffith Show" was picked by the public as its favorite new series, while CBS' "Perry Mason" and its star, Raymond Burr, were declared the favorite series and the favorite male star. Carol Burnett, of CBS' "Garry Moore Show," was voted the favorite female star.

The program wasted little time passing out the awards, and most of the 60 minutes was devoted to a series of rather uninspired sketches gently kidding—as usual — television ratings, commercials, cue cards, Westerns and private eyes.

Recommended tonight: Mystery Theatre, NBC, 9-10 (EDT)—premiere of a series of English films replacing the Perry Como Show for the summer; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11—"Trial Without Jury," starring Richard Kiley

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I wonder how many readers ever really lived in New York City, which is known as the stone and iron city, with its endless pavements and tall buildings. I remember my years down there. Folks would talk about spring in Paris, and cherry blossoms in Washington, but to me, there was no place like my Ulster County in the spring. I think it was John Burroughs who once wrote, that one can write best about the outdoors and this section when working indoors like he did in Washington.

You cannot imagine how eager New Yorkers are to enjoy a little sunshine. Lunchtime, they walk in it, they sit all around the parks and buildings and let the sun tan them in the short time they have. The girls at the "Y" down there used to say to me, "You're from Kingston, how far is it from Ellenville, or Woodstock . . ." where they used to spend their meager two weeks vacation. They could not believe that I was ten minutes ride from a beach, from Greenkill Park, and had the country all around me. That we picked fruit off trees, and berries from vines, without it ever seeing a market basket.

When you are a cliff dweller on the 18th floor or so, you look out, and all you see is another building, with a court of stone below, and you cannot see the sky and do not know what the weather is like outside. You have central heat, which is usually too hot and air-conditioned which is unnatural in the city. The subways had fans on the ceiling but it brought no relief at all, as I remember. On Sundays everyone went somewhere, and it was the same rush hour like on a working day, whether to the beach or office.

I understand that Fifth Avenue is going in for plants and flowers in pots like we have on Wall Street now, and even miniature fountains. Rockefeller Center has a change of flower arrangements weekly, I am told, to the delight of photographers. Now that New York is a stone and iron city, and cement or blacktop is over everything they want to go back to nature. Walking on grass is a treat.

Even up here, I know our scurry-hurry life makes many of us walk around with a serious important frown on our faces. I see many folks who seem to have big important deals on their mind, or perhaps social events that will get them somewhere in the future. New York City is full of people like that. Perhaps they never stooped to plant and water a flower, or stopped and listened to the music of the wind in big maple trees like we have all around us, or to a strange bird call to its mate. I hope I never get too far away from the simple things in life, of which there are so much around us, especially in this fine weather.

The other day, I read something from a foreign newspaper, about spring in New York City, and after the reporter covered Fifth Avenue Rockefeller Center, she said the views along the Hudson River are the most picturesque. One incident she told was about a little lady bringing a basketful of potted plants to Central Park. She took these little flower pots and placed them carefully on the bench alongside of her. When asked if they were for sale. She said, "No . . . I have a little dark room, and I am afraid my flowers will die from lack of sunshine, so on nice days I bring them here, so they can grow strong from the warm sun."

Berry Festival, Bazaar Set for Port Ewen Church

Another event in the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial celebration will take place Thursday night when Port Ewen Reformed Church will hold a strawberry festival and bazaar. The festival will be held at the church hall, Salem Street, Port Ewen.

Dinner will be served at 5 and 6 p. m., the highlight being old fashioned strawberry shortcake. In addition to the dinner, there will be the following booths, cakes and candy, cards and handkerchief, fancy article, miscellaneous items.

All booths will be open at 4 p. m. and will remain open throughout the festival.

Two other events are also scheduled for this week as part of the Town of Esopus 150th anniversity fete. Friday at 8 p. m. a John Burroughs lecture in honor of the famous Town of Esopue naturalist, will be held at the Town Hall, Port Ewen. Participating in the program will be Dr. Heins Meng, a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at New Paltz, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley, a resident of Wast Park and a granddaughter of John Burroughs.

Saturday at 1:30 p. m. a special Little League baseball program will be presented at Ross Park, Port Ewen. Featured will be a double header baseball program between teams of the Town of Esopus Little League and teams of the Ellenville Little League.

The public is invited to attend all of the events in the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial celebration.

Ellenville C of C Installs, Major Problems Aired

Members of the Ellenville Area Chamber of Commerce and village officials attended a dinner and Meeting Monday night to discuss major problems in the community and possible solutions, which will be further aired at a special meeting Friday night of the Town of Wawarsing Board.

Village Manager John Weichsel and Mayor Eugene Glusker were among guests at the meet-at which Henry Fazzano, newly elected president of the Chamber of Commerce was installed.

Requests from the Dyna-Foam Corp., for improved roads in the vicinity of their property in the Town of Wawarsing, will be brought up at the special meeting of the Town Board June 16, it was reported. According to reports, Dyna-Foam officials are considering expansion of the plant either in the Town of Wawarsing or at Goshen, and the Ellenville Chamber members and town officials and other groups, hope to have road improvements made so the company will expand in this area rather than in Goshen.

Another project of major interests to Chamber officials is the ski center being developed by Joseph Tso of Mt. Meenegha, where improved roads are vitally needed, it was reported.

At last night's Chamber meeting, others items discussed included proposed reactivation of the Sam's Point area, where development and beautification is being planned.

The Chamber group also discussed proposals to put the organization on a year's basis instead of a part-time operation. According to Executive Director Sidney Sinick, who also is chairman of the Regional Chamber of Commerce Council which represents 60 to 65 Chamber organizations in three states.

Sales Tax Take Best Since 1957, Po'keepsie Says

Retail sales tax receipts in the City of Poughkeepsie for the first five months of 1961 totaled $247,347.34, an increase of $9,695.98 above the total of $237,651.36 collected for the same period last year.

Finance Commissioner Aubrey B. Coons noted a review of the Poughkeepsie sales tax income during the last five years showed the 1960 receipts of $771,909.66 exceeded the 1959 total of $745,035.10 by $26,874.56.

Coons said the 1960 receipts were the greatest since the 1957 record year when $804,403.33 total was recorded. The 1955 sales tax yield was $747,761.36; 1956 was $783,582.43 and 1958, $756,309.84.

Dutchess to Have Children's Judge

A post of separate Children's Court judge at a salary of $6,000 was created Monday by the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors and at the same meeting the salary of County Judge John R. Schwartz was increased to $20,000 a year.

The salary increases and the new judgeship will be effective on Jan. 1, when Schwartz will relinquish Children's Court duties for which he now receives $3,000. The county judge salary at present is $17,000.

The vote on the new Children's Court post was 24 to 6. On the resolution increasing the county judge's salary was 23 to 7 for approval.

Savings Banks Support Cabinet Of Urban Affairs

Washington, June 14—Strong support for the establishment of a cabinet Department of Urban Affairs and Housing (H. R. 6433) was given today by the national Association of Mutual Savings Banks in a statement to the House Subcommittee on Executive and Legislative Reorganization.

In the statement, Robert M. Morgan, chairman of the National Association's Committee on Mortgage Investments, and president of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, pointed out that mutual savings banks are particularly interested in urban affairs and housing, not merely because these thrift institutions have two-thirds of their total assets invested in mortgage loans, but also because for the most part these banks are located in the central ccre of the older urban communities.

"As a consequence," he noted, "problems in urban affairs—central city decay, transportation and land use, renewal and rehabilitation—thrust themselves upon mutual savings banks for solution. . . . In this regard, savings bankers in several cities have taken an active part in worknig with local government officials and private citizens on urban revitalization programs and in providing financing for the building and rebuilding necessary."

One change in the proposed legislation suggested by the National Association was that the Federal Housing Administration be transferred to the new Department intact, rather than abolished as called for at present. Mr. Morgan said that to abolish FHA, which has become a trademark of success in government-industry cooperation, would imply a downgrading of housing and private mortgage finance in the structure of the new Cabinet Department. He recommended the appointment of an Under Secretary to handle FHA matters.

Mr. Morgan cautioned against too many functions being included in the purview of the new Department, lest the importance of housing and urban renewal be diluted by the diversion of attention to other miscellaneos facets of urban affairs. He regretted that the Declaration of Policy of the bill makes little or no mention of the part played by private enterprise in carrying out the objectives of the new Department, and suggested that the prime role of private institutions — financial, construction, and other—in implementing the objectives of the bill be stressed at the outset.

Similar testimony is expected to be filed with a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Government Operations.

Service to Mark Lutheran Pastor's 30th Anniversary

A special service will be held to honor the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Market Street, Saugerties on Sunday at 11 a. m.

The service is in recognition of his completion of 30 years in the ministry of the Lutheran Church. Pastor Cowen was ordained at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Mt. Vernon on June 26, 1931, into the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England. Due to special commitments the service is being held June 18.

The Rev. Andrew Brndjar, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Danbury, Conn., will be the guest preacher for the occasion. The Rev. Mr. Brndjar was a classmate of Pastor Cowen at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., and a roommate at Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary, where they were graduated in 1931.

Wilbur Cowen Jr., a nephew of the pastor, will read the lessons at the service. He was graduated from Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., in 1961 and will enter Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary in the fall to prepare for the Lutheran ministry.

Paraments for the altar, lecturn and pulpit as well as the stoles of the pastors will be red, the color used for festive services.

The order of service will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cowen.

The second setting of the Lutheran service will be led by the pastor. The anthem will be sung by Atonement Choir under the direction of Donald S. Fellows, choir director with Mrs. Fellows at the organ.

The committee in charge of the service of recognition are Clyde Rescott, Peach Street, Saugerties, chairman of the worship committee; Franklin Clum Jr., Durward Swart and Vincent Lewis, president of the church council.

Some 100 invitations have been sent out to relatives, friends and associates of the pastor, and to congregations he has served during his 30 years in the ministry of the Lutheran Church. They are:

REV. WALTER COWEN

1931-1935 Evangelical Lutheran Church, Poestenkill.

1935-1944 Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Red Bank, N. J., a mission congregation where the church edifice was built during his pastorate. He also served under the Service Men's Commission of the National Lutheran Council, as contact pastor for Lutheran service personnel at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

1944-1950 he served as pastor of Incarnation Lutheran Church, Jamaica, L. I., during which pastorate the church was completely renovated, a new organ installed, a parsonage purchased and the church debt liquidated.

1950 to 1958 he was pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Rochester, where a $17,000 redecoration program was completed. He also served for five years as Protestant chaplain at Genesee Hospital, Rochester, visiting all undesignated Protestants twice a week.

In 1958 he was called to Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties.

A family dinner will be held following the service at Forest Hill Farm, at which 25 members of the immediate family of the pastor are expected to be in attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Walter Cowen, is a native of Mt. Vernon, where he attended school and was also confirmed at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

His wife, the former Marion Alice Wolfe, is a native of Freeland, Pa., a graduate of Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia, Pa., and is a registered nurse.

They have two children, Richard Walter Cowen, a newspaper man for Call-Chronicle, Allentown, Pa., and Mrs. William Robinson, a housewife living in Fairport. They have five grandchildren.

During his 30 years in the ministry Pastor Cowen rejoices in being blessed of God with good health and states that during those 30 years he has not missed one service due to illness.

A gift of a serling silver pectoral cross will be made by his wife.

There will be an open house reception at the parsonage, 96 Market Street and on the church grounds. Invitations have been sent to members and adherents of the congregation, friends and relatives, congregrations formerly served by Pastor Cowen, and clergy of the Hudson Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England.

Saugerties DAR Unit Holds Picnic

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Saugerties Chapter, met Saturday for its annual picnic at the home of Mrs. William Young on the lower Esopus Creek. Despite the bad weather an unusually good attendance celebrated Flag Day as well as the chapter's 60th birthday.

Following the buffet lunch, Mrs. William Russell, who was in charge of the program, read an original poem dedicated to the 31 charter members. Three of these are still living, though only one attended, Mrs. Julia Phelps of Larchmont, who addressed the members. Letters were read from the other two, Miss Anna Russell of Syracuse and Mrs. Katherine S. Taylor of New York. Other absent members sent greetings:

An essay was read on "What the American Flag Means to Me," written by Mary Rosner, eighth grade pupil, age 12, from St. Mary of the Snow. This was the winner from 19 local entries in a contest sponsored by the State DAR and was sent on for further competition.

Miss Alberta Coons and Mrs. Russell each read interesting articles on the flag and its correct use. Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent, reported that flags had been placed on the graves of all Revolutionary soldiers in the Katsbaan and Mt. View Cemeteries as usual for Decoration Day, and that the new flag for the library was ordered and would be formally presented later.

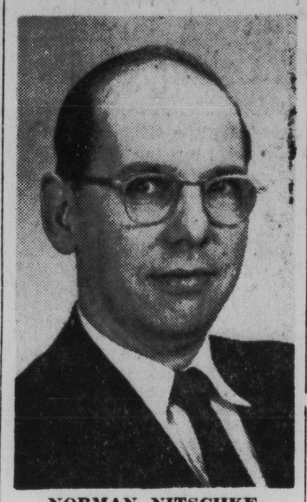
Mrs. Lyle J. Howland of Rome, who is state vice-regent, was introduced by Mrs. Russell as the guest speaker. She said her message to each chapter was to combat communism, first by faith in our country and then by prayer.

In closing the meeting each one was given a bag of small gifts, collected by Mrs. Robert Freligh, and each member given a decorated report of the past 10 years of the chapter. The next meeting will be early in September.

Marlboro Dedication

Bishop James H. Griffiths, STD, auxiliary bishop of New York, will bless and dedicate the new church hall at rectory of St. Mary's parish, Marlboro, Saturday 4 p. m.

Named Candidate For Local B of E



NORMAN NITSCHKE

A local industry executive, Norman Nitschke has announced his intention to run for trustee on Saugerties Central School board of education in the forthcoming election to fill the unexpired term of Kenneth Beadle who resigned a year ago because of pressure of business.

Nitschke has resided in Saugerties for the past six years and is a native of Sullivan County. He is employed by IBM as a department manager in the engineering organization.

His activities in various community projects include town chairman of the cerebral palsy fund drive in 1959, co-chairman of the Citizen's Group appointed to invesigate and recommend a proposal for new school facilities, chairman of the finance commission and member of the official board of Saugerties Methodist Church, former member of the Jaycees, and one of the co-founders of Saugerties Golden Age Club.

Nitschke lives with his wife, Miriam, and two children, Neal and Nancy, on Spaulding Lane in Barclay Heights.

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some time ago the collapse of a love affair induced severe insomnia in a young woman who decided to seek psychotherapy. She announced this most private decision at a big party. With the loud, cynical and self-mocking bravado that characterized all her social behavior, she toasted herself in a highball crying out, "Drink to me, everybody and my trek into head-shrinking country!"

Ten months later parties had become a conscious strain for her. She was easily embarrassed. She had lost the ability to defend herself with the aggressive wise cracks that had long been her social stock-in-trade. A crack had been made in the armor of bravado behind which she'd learned to hide her shyness with people. One day she said to me:

"Oh, I'm so happy to be able to be shy again! I was always shy as a little girl but mother was so afraid I'd be a social dud that she made me ashamed of it. Now I'm being what I always was for the first time in my life."

Shyness toward new people is a more natural response in children than self-assurance.

When your small Jimmy runs out to the kitchen instead of remaining in the living room to meet someone new, he is expressing his need for caution in making new relationship. He needs time until familiarity with the stranger has assured him that she's a friend.

When we make fun of him, drag him back to the living room saying, "Come on, don't be so shy," we are ridiculing his natural self-protective equipment. We are refusing him the appropriate response to strangeness.

Denied it, Jimmy may develop a secondary response. His shame of his shyness may begin to express itself in "showing off," in efforts to win applause by cute tricks, in attention-attracting conduct that has no likeness whatever to the shy child's spontaneous and sudden decision to give interest to a new person.

Parents troubled by a child's shyness need to ask themselves the question "Am I never shy?" It can be a very upsetting question.

We adults can get destructively detached from consciousness of our own shyness—that natural uncertainty we are bound to feel at the prospect of involving ourselves with people before we know who those people are.

We are so anxious to be masters of our social fate that we don't like to register the strain we feel at the prospect of entertaining our husband's new employer, of giving our first dinner party in a new community. Yet it is shame of our own shyness that makes us uneasy with Jimmy's.

Raincoat His Garb While Clothes Dry

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Housewives, doing their washing at an automatic laundry, weren't too surprised to find a raincoat-clad mailman sitting in one of the waiting chairs during a summer thundershower.

However, amazement and then smiles crossed their faces as the mailman went to the dryer, withdrew his uniform, took it to the restroom, put it on, and then went about his duties of delivering the mail.

Pennington Drowns Despite Rescue Try

PERU, N.Y. (AP) — David J. Pennington, 16, was drowned in Lake Champlain Tuesday night despite efforts of two teen-age companions to pull him to shore.

Pennington and Judy Neaves, 14 of Peru, had swam to a boat approximately 60 feet from shore, rested and then began to swim to shore near this Clinton County community.

Pennington called for help. Judy and her brother Roger, 14, attempted to help him but he started to pull them under.

Case Sees Some Progress Made on DelawareCompact

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican Senator says that, although he is not optimistic, "certainly progress is being made" toward agreement on provisions of a Delaware River compact.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., spoke of attempts to iron out differences between the federal government and the four states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware—that are parties to the proposed compact.

Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, has objected to the federal government joining the compact as it is written. Case said Udall is seeking a veto over all development plans that may arise from the compact.

"But I believe the states will balk at giving the federal government an absolute veto," Case said during a program taped in Washington Tuesday for use by New Jersey radio stations.

Case said, however, that he was confident the proposal would be adopted by Congress.

Charges GE, Four Others Connive On Cleveland Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio Senator charges General Electric Co. and four others with "conniving" to submit identical bids to the City of Cleveland.

A spokesman for the Justice Department's anti-trust division said Tuesday, however, the companies could have arrived at the same figures without collusion.

He confirmed that the Cleveland bids, on electrical meters, were received after three of the companies pleaded no contest in federal court in Philadelphia to charges of rigged bidding.

The Justice Department spokesman said the meters "are a standardized product that follows a price catalogue."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said in a Senate speech Monday that identical bids of $68,691 were received twice from Westinghouse, GE, Duncan, Sangamo and Allen Electric companies last April.

Javits Says He Is Getting Work For Jobless Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., says he is making some progress in getting more defense contracts for areas of New York State that have a labor-surplus.

Javits said nine of the areas received more contracts during the first three months of this year than in the January-March period of 1960. Three areas were awarded fewer contracts and two were designated labor-surplus areas for the first time.

Javits, in a statement Tuesday night, said government defense contracts to the 14 areas during the first three months of the year totaled $50.8 million, compared with $38.5 million to 12 areas in the first three months of 1960.

The areas showing increases were Albany - Troy - Schenectady, Utica-Rome, Amsterdam, Auburn, Elmira, Jamestown-Dunkirk, Ogdensburg - Massena - Malone, Plattsburgh and Wellsville.

Buffalo, Gloversville and Middletown-Newburgh-Beacon had decreases, Javits said.

The total amount of defense contracts to all New York State firms, however, dropped, while California firms continued to receive an increase in defense contracts.

"Open bidding now applies to less than 15 per cent of the $23 billion awarded in defense contracts," Javits said. "It is time we insisted upon more competition to give everyone a chance to bid for this business."

In another development, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., challenged a recent statement by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that the Democratic Kennedy administration was causing a depression for New York defense contractors.

Stratton said the contracts increased 43 per cent during the first three months of this year, compared with the last three months of the Republican Eisenhower administration.

Ottawa Approves Shipping Change

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian House of Commons has approved and sent to the Canadian Senate amendments to the Canada Shipping Act that would permit U.S. lake vessels to sail down the St. Lawrence Seaway to Montreal without pilots.

The bill, opposed by pilots' associations, was passed 134-24 Tuesday night.

Transport Minister Leon Balcer said no Canadian pilot would receive less pay or lose hi sposition because of the amendment.

Kennedy Getting Varied Treatment For Back Ailment

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is getting a combination of old and new treatments for his back ailment—hot pads and ultra sound.

The ultra sound—using high frequency sound waves—is a method for applying heat to deep—seated tissues.

It is the latest treatment in a regime including rest and swimming prescribed by White House physician Dr. Janet Travell who reported Tuesday that Kennedy "continues to improve." He is still using crutches.

Busy Today

Today the President undertook a busy schedule—a late afternoon conference with top advisers on the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance after visits from a Vietnamese officials, a group of Ceylonese parliamentarians and a Michigan delegation concerned with that state's economic problems.

Reporters had a heated session Tuesday with White House news secretary Pierre Salinger on his handlings of news about the President's ailment.

The exchange was partly triggered when he disclosed that a New York specialist had been summoned to Palm Beach, Fla., last Sunday to examine Kennedy.

The disclosure came after Kennedy canceled a speaking date.

Salinger said the specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, agreed with Dr. Travell's diagnosis that Kennedy's ailment was "a new back strain not related to any previous back injury suffered by the President."

Telling All, He Says

Salinger seemed irked when newsmen prodded him for more details and he snapped: "Nothing is being withheld in this matter whatever."

When a reporter suggested that the White House didn't reveal Kennedy's pain until last week, although it said the injury occurred when Kennedy was spading dirt at a ceremonial tree planting in Canada last month, Salinger replied: "I really have no control over what the President tells me."

Salinger said he hadn't learned until Tuesday morning that Dr. Wade had been called into consultation. He added that his assistant, Andrew T. Hatcher, also had been unaware of it.

Hatcher, who accompanied Kennedy to Palm Beach while Salinger remained in Washington, was asked repeatedly during the Florida stay whether any specialist or outside doctors had been called in. Each time he said no.

"I guess I'll have to clean my room tomorrow. I can't get in it anymore!"

The township school board walked one by one into the classroom as the lone teacher was about to dismiss the class. She continued the lesson, though for their benefit. Playing her only ace she called upon her star pupil. Who wrote On the Barroom Floor? she asked him.

Flustered by a question to which he didn't know the answer the boy replied, I don't know, teacher, I didn't because I've never been in one. The teacher told him to sit down and prepared to ask another question. But she was interrupted by a member of the school board who said. Don't let that boy get off so easy. He has a guilty look about him.

Carnival Theme Set in Children's Room at Library

A carnival atmosphere will prevail in the children's room at Kingston City Library beginning next week with the opening of the library's summer reading club.

For the fourth summer since the opening of the children's room in 1958, the library will sponsor a reading program for children of grades 3 through 6. All children in these grades are invited to become members.

The program, designed to promote and sustain the reading of books during the summer vacation period, is named Summer Reading Carnival.

Registration for the carnival will continue through June 30. A clown mannikin is on hand to illustrate reading progress.

All children joining the club will receive certificates to chart their reading progress. Achievement ribbons will be awarded to a boy and girl reading the most books in each grade.

"Parents need not look upon the summer months as a period for neglecting the reading their children do," said Mabel E. Markle, children's room assistant.

"So many good books have been published during recent years, that it would be a disservice to the child to deprive him of this interesting reading," she said.

The Summer Reading Carnival officially starts July 1. Credit for books read will be given this week.

In operation through August 25, the reading carnival will be in existence for a total of eight weeks.

The children's room of the library will continue to be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

One Charge Is Gambler Saw Bigger Profits Under Law

Prober Plans Recommendations After Bingo Study Ends in Fall

(Racketeers and professional gamblers have muscled into church and fraternal bingo games in New York State. This Associated Press membership Enterprise story describes how the racketeers have siphoned off a large share of profits and how bingo has helped pay off many mortgages.)

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Bingo means big money in New York State. Does it also mean a tie-in with racketeers and professional gamblers?

The state investigation commission says that far too often the answer is yes.

But the State Lottery Control Commission declares that, although a few bad apples turned up at recent investigation commission hearings, it believes the vast majority of the games are conducted legitimately.

Gilchrist Making Check

Now a one-man Moreland Act Commission, acting on behalf of Gov. Rockefeller, is looking into the situation to see how bad things really are.

Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., head of the latest probe, promises to take a constructive approach and come up with a set of recommendations when his study ends in the fall.

Since it was legalized on a local-option basis in 1958, bingo has been a tremendous source of income for many churches and for fraternal, veterans and other non-profit organizations.

Profits Over $19 Million

In the 2½ years bingo has been legal sponsoring organizations realized a profit of $19.2 million. As of last March there were 1,236 sponsors in the state's 62 counties.

Thirty-five organizations reported a net profit of more than $10,000 each for the six-month period ended last March 31. Ten had profits of more than $20,000 each. Eight of these were in New York City, one in Erie County and one in Nassau.

A probe by the investigation recently put the bingo problem in the public spotlight.

A hearing ended with an angry denunciation by Jacob Grumet, then commission chairman. He charged that commercial operators and gamblers were taking over bingo, corrupting public officials and duping honest citizens.

Avoids Through Fifth

William P. Buckner, 54-year-old gambler and convicted swindler, was portrayed as a kingpin in many of the operations. Ordered to the stand, he invoked the fifth amendment 55 times to avoid answering questions.

Grumet said Buckner ironically expected to enjoy larger profits and have greater freedom of operation in legitimate bingo than he had in illegal gambling.

Grumet called bingo conditions intolerable and insisted that the hearings had demonstrated a "compelling need for corrective action."

But Richard W. Hannah, chairman of the lottery commission, the agency responsible for keeping bingo in line, doesn't see it just that way.

The only trouble spots disclosed at the hearing, he said, were in parts of New York City, Yonkers and Utica.

Says Rest Honest

"While we regret that a few succumbed, we think that the rest are observing the law," Hannah added.

Hannah, who is serving under an appointment by former Democratic Gov. W. Averell Harriman, contended that the scandals could have been avoided if his commission's legislative program had been enacted. He accused Rockefeller, a Republican, of failing to back the program, Rockefeller said Hannah was trying to pass the buck. The program was inadequate, Rockefeller said.

A key section of the program would have limited bingo play in rented halls to three times a week.

"This would take the profit and incentive out of rented halls" of the type Buckner operated, Hannah said.

The investigation commission reported that 40 commercially operated halls grossed $5,403,393 last year, but that sponsoring organizations got only $854,184 of this.

Will Report Findings

Gilchrist's recommendations are expected to be given to the 1962 legislature. He has a small legal staff, one investigator and a $25,000 fund to assit him.

The American Veterans of World War II suspended two posts and the Disabled American Veterans suspended three chapters because of involvement with Buckner.

William H. Gray Jr., Yonkers city clerk, resigned under fire after he was connected with Buckner, and a lottery control inspector was suspended. Two Protestant church groups also called for a ban on the games.

None Voted Out

No town which previously allowed the games has voted them out since the scandal broke, lottery commission records show.

So the players seem unconcerned, even though there was testimony that some games were rigged. One middle-aged woman in Utica summed it up:

"I'm not worried about the gyps. If I wasn't spending my money here it would be dribbling away someplace else."

Some players really "dribble" it away, too. In many sections they spend about $5 a night. Some leave as much as $20 behind.

Law officials in Oneida County and Utica said they planned to ask the investigation commission for private testimony given by Utica residents on bingo.

In Broome County, an official said that it was "business as usual" and that the disclosures were strictly a "New York City affair."

The play in many Upstate sections is modest compared to operations in New York City.

In Lewis County, for example, only two organizations held games during the six-month period ended last March 31. The Loyal Order of the Moose in Lowville showed the greater net profit—a mere $173.

Of four sponsoring organizations in Putnam County, the one with the third largest profit was the Mahopac Volunteer Fire Department. This amounted to only $43.

Make Largest Profits

Organizations showing the largest net profits for the six-month period ended last March 31 were:

Bronx County — Marist Bros. Men's club, $21,340; Sacred Heart Church $18,386; Mt. St. Michael Men's club $17,643.

Sage Words to the Unwise Teen-Agers Being Married

Q—What immediate and long-range problems are created financially by teen-age marriages where either one, or both, lack a completed education and have little knowledge of money matters?—M. J.

A—Dear M. J.: If you are thinking of yourself, slow down. Both partners should complete basic education before marriage. If the wife does not understand how difficult it is to bring home the bacon, she may tend to be impatient with her husband—especially if the gal next door has more possessions. If neither know how to budget to make money grow via savings, to understand the careful use of credit and to set long-range goals, both will be on the road to quick unhappiness. In teen-age marriages, there is always the danger that as the husband advances at work, his wife will not keep pace with his growing interests and new social status. Often this is not her fault, especially if children come soon after marriage.

Q—I retired May 31, 1953, after paying maximum social security tax from the time the system started. I have been receiving only $157.50 per month for myself and my over-65-year-old wife since the last increase went into effect two years ago. Shouldn't we be receiving $180? —F. L. L.

A—Dear F. L. L.: Terribly sorry, but the $180 maximum to an over-65 couple is being paid only to those who retired in 1959 or later.

Q—Can I include closing costs in my FHA mortgage?—J. S.

A.—Dear J. S.: Yes, but only if the FHA appraisal is higher than the purchase price of your home. The amount of the mortgage is based upon the FHA appraisal or the acquisition cost, whichever is less. Acquisition cost includes purchase price plus closing costs but excludes such prepaid items as taxes.

Q—My friend claims that after 65 he will not have to pay a federal income tax on money he gets from social security or on earnings up to $1,200 a year. Is this true?—H. H.

A—Dear H. H.: Your friend is correct. However, his $1,200 of earnings would be subject to social security deductions even while he is receiving social security payments. If his earnings exceed $1,200 in any one year, they are taxed.

Q—Is it true that the average wage earner works six days every month to make enough to pay taxes?—J. O.

A—Dear J. O.: It may be a frightening thought, but it is true. The Tax Foundation, Inc., reports that out of a 22-day working month, you work four days for food and tobacco, four days for shelter and furnishings, two days to pay for transportation, one and a half days to meet the family clothing bill, one day to pay for medical care and another for recreation. Add in the six days you work to pay taxes and you'll find you have only two and a half days left to earn the money you want for savings, investments and luxuries.

Works of Famous Artist and Dancer Will Be Exhibited in Kingston Starting June 17

Extraordinary examples of artwork by the late Harold Liebmann of Hannacroix, N. Y., world famous artist and dancer will be on display at Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, from June 17 until July 8. There will be an open house on Saturday afternoon, June 17 from 2 to 4. Mrs. Lola Liebmann will be present to greet friends and to answer questions about her late husband's work.

Mr. Liebmann, who was a painter, sculptor, dancer and originator of the "Cobra Dance," (a rage in the 30's) moved to Hannacroix near Ravena about 18 years ago and died in January 1960.

Born in Germany and a graduate of Leipzig University, he studied at the Art Academy in Weimar and later in Paris. He started a dance school in Germany and later moved to Holland. He created the "Cobra Dance" with his wife Lola. The dance was taken on tour in 1932 and performed in many of the leading night clubs in the United States and South America.

While on dancing engagements, Mr. Hannacroix also painted and became a headline dancer and a headline artist. He received honorable mention in the 18th annual American Water Color Society in 1945. His picture, "Easter Bunnies," shown in the Washington Art Gallery won honorable mention in a national Academy show in New York City.

He specialized in depicting horses and the moods of the country where he worked. He used the batix wax of the Balinese and Javanese batix painters to outline his figures and scenes. His "Poetry in Motion" hangs in the permanent American art collection in the Los Angeles Museum. He has received many other awards for his work and his exhibitions have hung in galleries throughout Europe and the United States.

In the years before he died, he had been making puppets and doing murals. With his wife, he started the Ridgewood Art Studio at their Hannacroix farm in 1957. Mrs. Liebmann taught dancing while he taught painting and ceramics.

After some of his works were hung in the Institute of History and Art in Albany, a spokesman for the Institute said, "Mr. Liebmann has retained throughout his life a freshness of approach and delicate economy of line that imbue his works with a vitality and appeal all their own."

Some of the examples of his works which will be on display are:

Water colors: The drawings done with wax which was removed after the painting was accomplished;

Ceramics in cement plaques.

Charlotte McGraw, director of the Artcraft Gallery, cordially invites the public to this show and also to the Saturday, June 17, open house.

The first annual photographic exhibit by members of the Kingston Camera Club has been hanging in the Gallery for the past two weeks and will close before Mr. Liebmann's show opens on June 17.

The gallery hours are 10 to 6 weekdays and Friday nights until 9.

Hurley Strawberry Social Set for June 22; Final Committee Appointments Announced

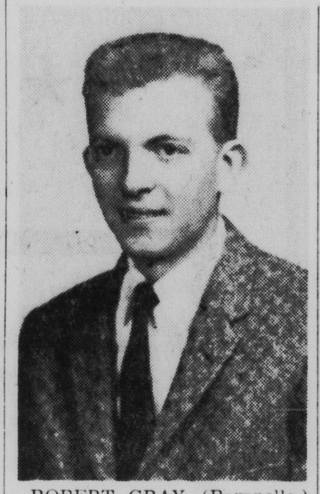
Mrs. Severyn Hasbrouck, chairman of the tenth annual strawbery social and card party being given by the Guild for Christian Service of the Hurley Reformed Church on Thursday afternoon, June 22, has announced that reservations for tables may be made directly by telephoning her or Mrs. Frank Race. Reservations will be closed Wednesday, June 21.

Final committee plans name Mrs. Albert Byrne chairman in charge of waitresses, Mrs. Ernest Myer chairman of the workers who will prepare the home made strawberry shortcake dessert, and Mrs. Clifford Henze as publicity chairman.

The recent winner of two first awards in the flower show put on by the Ulster Garden Club, Mrs. George Brown, is also donating her time and talents in preparing flower arrangements to be sold complete with holder, pin holder and free form base.

Adding to the interest of this social afternoon will be the work of one of Hurley's artists. A special oil painting by Mrs. Joseph Viano Sr., has been donated as a featured attraction.

This social and card party, Mrs. Hasbrouck believes, will be of special interest because its setting will be the garden of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, Route 209, Hurley. Service of dessert will be from 12:30-2 p. m. followed immediately by card playing. In case of rain the social will be held in the education building at the Hurley Reformed Church on Route 209.



ROBERT GRAY (Baranello,) son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray of Stone Ridge, has been awarded a Navy ROTC scholarship to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute as well as a New York State Regents scholarship. He also received an appointment to the United States Coast Guard Academy and has been accepted by Cornell and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. At Kingston High School he is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, and was assistant business manager of the Maroon for this year. Gray plans to accept the Coast Guard Academy appointment.

Benedictine Group Adjourns Meetings For Summer Season

A dinner-meeting of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary attracted a large attendance on Wednesday, June 7 at the Sky Top Restaurant where the members also enjoyed a smorgasbord and social hour. Chairman Mrs. Douglas Masterson was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Matey and Mrs. Joseph Sanglyn Jr.

After the dinner, Mrs. William Cranston, president, conducted the last business meeting of the season. She welcomed members and guests.

Reports were made by the Mmes. Robert Stenson, secretary; Joseph Robertson, treasurer; Edward Whelan, corresponding secretary; John Finch, sales cart volunteers; Martin Golden, cart bookkeeper; John Ryan, baby photo; Andrew Daley, desk and escort service; Nicholas Stock, junior volunteers; and Thomas Gorman who gave the report on hospitality for Mrs. Vincent Guido.

Mrs. Cranston announced she had appointed Mrs. J. Edward Costello chairman of the summer dance which will be held at the Wiltwyck Country Club on August 26. Jim Sweeney's band will furnish the music and Mrs. Costello will be assisted by Mrs. Leo Kilcoyne, co-chairman, also the Mmes. George Gleason, Thomas Gorman and Franklin Crusius.

Mrs. Stock announced there will be an orientation meeting for junior volunteers the last week of June. Any young ladies interested should contact her.

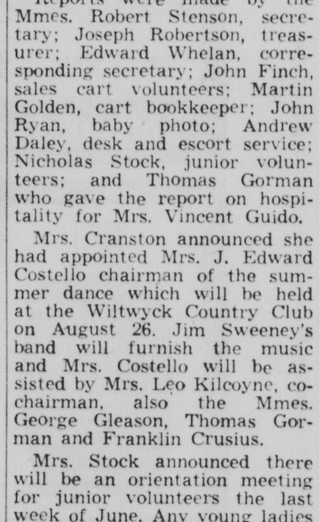
Highlight of the evening was when the members voted to present Sister Berenice, hospital administrator, with a check of $2,000 as another payment toward their pledge for the nurse's residence and school.

The next meeting will be on October 4. All volunteer services at the hospital will continue during the summer.

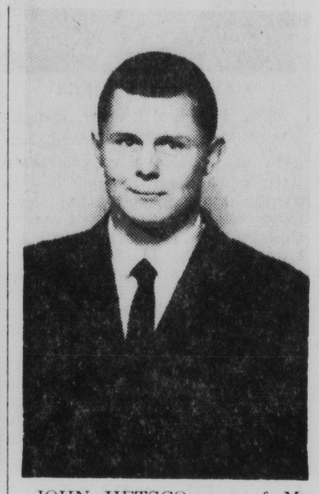
Masters for Thomas Hahs

Thomas S. Hahs of 124 West Chestnut Street, this city, received a master of arts during the 100th commencement of Washington University, St. Louis on June 5.

Degrees were awarded to 1,100 graduates.



DONALD FRANCIS GARDESKI of Route 1, Box 306, received his bachelor of science degree at Rutgers, State University of New Jersey, Wednesday, June 7.



JOHN HETSCO, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hetsco, Nicholas Street, has been awarded scholarships to the University of Rochester and to Union College. He was also a winner of a New York State Regents Scholarship. Recently Hetsco represented Kingston High School at the sectional physical fitness conference at West Point where he received the physical fitness award. Hetsco was also accepted at Brown University. He is a member of National Honor Society, Dame Rumor staff, Key Club, Athletic Association Council, and he was co-captain of this year's football team. Hetsco will study engineering at the University of Rochester in September.

Bard Baccalaureate Set for Saturday; Drama Group to Give Shakespeare Play

The Baccalaureate service at Bard College in connection with the 101st Commencement will be held in the Chapel of the Holy Innocents, Sunday evening, June 18th at 8 p. m. The Right Reverend James Stuart Wetmore, DD Suffragan Bishop of New York, will deliver the address, and Dr. Reamer Kline, president of the college, will read the lesson.

This year, for the first time, some special music has been composed for the service by students of the college. This music includes a Processional for brass instruments and organ by David Moulton of the class of 1963, and Ode, using a Latin text by Horace, for mixed chorus, brass instruments and organ, and an Antiphon on the words "Alleluia Amen" for chorus and organ, both composed by Thomas Benjamin of the class of 1961. In addition, there will be an Amen response for a cappella choir, composed by Richard Perry of the class of 1963. The Postlude will be a last movement of "The Water Music Suite" by Handel, played on the organ by Clair Leonard.

'Twelfth Night'

On Satuurday, June 17, for one performance, the Bard College Drama Department will present its last production of the season: Shakespeare's festival comedy, "Twelfth Night". The performance will be at 9:30 p. m., out-of-doors. Admission is free, seats are plentiful and unreserved, and the production will be proceeded by baroque music on the lawns.

The setting will be a three-level architectuural stage, descending from the pergolas of the formal garden at the west of Blithewood to the lawns and the Hudson River. The play will be dressed in the manner of the First Empire, and the Court of the Duke of Illyria will have the bizarre glamour of the Court of Napoleon I. Paula Sholachman will be Viola, with Conrad Leokum as the Duke, Olivia Cole as Olivia, Robert Rockman as Malvolio, and many other members of the Bard College Theatre Company.

Michelangelo designed the dome which soars 435 feet above the altar of St. Peter's Cathedral. The altar is crowned with Bernin's 95-foot-high baldachin, a bronze canopy held aloft by four spiral columns.

Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, called for "the practice of the creative arts in colleges, rather than studying them second hand from text books," in an address Monday morning to the 1961 graduates at the State University College of Education, New Paltz.

Speaking on the subject, "A New Era for Education," Dr. Taylor told an audience of nearly 2,500, composed of 282 Bachelors' Degree Candidates and 111 Master Degree Candidates, and parents and friends of the graduates, that the "practice of the arts is the only way to understand them," and he stated "we need painters, writers, philosophers and teachers every bit as much as we need scientists and engineers."

Now chairman of a Committee on Peace Research for the Institute of International Order, Dr. Taylor advocated an expansion of the Peace Corps idea on the part of Americans to study in the under-developed areas of this country. The committee is trying, in new ways more practical than those usually followed, to discover the real conditions for maintaining a peaceful world."

"One of the characteristics at present in America, he said, "is a thick-headedness about education, its over-organization, massive accumulation of sterile academic materials which are collected in textbooks, condensed in lectures, and recollected in examination.

"The students," he said, "are graded like apples and rewarded with something called academic credit at the rate of three credits a throw for sitting still, listening, and making notes over a 15-week period."

"We in America have new and distinct possibilities for an educational system which is not bound to follow the European culture," he said, "but can create a body of knowledge and experience which accepts the whole world as its material and the whole range of human life as its scope."

Dr. Taylor also called for massive federal support for education fellowships for teachers, grants for pure research in the sciences and arts, and sufficient funds to entice a new body of first rate teachers. He emphasized that the body of teachers must be sufficient in size to enable students to be taught as individuals, not as units in a mass system.

He called for a program in U. S. education which would enable at least 100 thousand foreign students from every country in the world to study here. He welcomed the expansion of the State University System for opportunities to students in the State of New York, and he praised the program at the College of Education at New Paltz where the concept of international education is already in use.

A graduate of the University of Toronto, Canada, Dr. Taylor was awarded the Moss Scholarship to do advanced study, an award presented to the best all-round athlete and student in his graduating class. He received his doctorate in philosophy from the University of London at the age of 23. He then taught philosophy at the University of Wisconsin for six years before being appointed to the presidency of Sarah Lawrence College at the age of 30.

After his retirement from Sarah Lawrence College in 1959, he spent six months in Asia and Russia on a Ford Foundation grant, and he is now writing two books in philosophy and education and is lecturing in colleges around the country. He also serves as host of the ABC national television program, "Meet the Professor."

The 74th annual commencement exercises at New Paltz climaxed a weekend of activities for seniors, alumni, faculty and guests. Included among the activities was an alumni luncheon Saturday with the noted Washington radio-TV correspondent Joseph McCaffrey, as guest speaker. A graduate of New Paltz with the class of 1939, McCaffrey received an award from the alumni association as an outstanding alumnus. He addressed an audience of nearly 250 returning alumni.

Tillson Resident Earns BA Degree; Magna Cum Laude

CAROLYN ENGERT

Miss Carolyn Engert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Engert of Tillson, was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree at the annual graduation exercises held at State University College of Education at Albany on June 11. Miss Engert, a magna cum laude graduate, has also earned 15 hours toward her master's degree. She is a mathematics major and German minor.

While at State, Miss Engert participated in the German Club and four honoraries: Signum Laudis, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Mu Lambda Alpha and Kappa Delta Epsilon.

Local B'nai B'rith Chapter Represented At Convention

Women delegates from each of the northeastern state and all of eastern Canada assembled at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha, N. Y. for the 40th annual convention of B'nai B'rith Women, District No. 1, held June 4-7.

Sunday session included registration of delegates, a dinner, and a joint session with B'nai B'rith Men who were holding their 109th District Convention. One of the main highlights of the session took place Monday morning, when B'nai B'rith honored the outstanding contributions of four "Women of Achievement." Those selected on the basis of performance in a vocational field as well as humanitarian interests were Julie Harris, dramatic star, Jane Pickens, musical star, Eugenia Sheppard, Women's Feature Editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and the Honorable Birdie Amsterdam, first woman judge of the New York Supreme Court.

Monday evening, Label A. Katz, internationl president of B'nai B'rith, addressed the group. The program on Tuesday was highlighted with discussion clinics pertaining to problems of the organization and a banquet at which Arnold Forster, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League delivered a most inspired speech. On Wednesday, the spotlight was on A.Z.A. and B.B.G., the B'nai B'rith Youth Organizations.

Attending as official delegaes of the Kingston Chapter were Mrs. Irwin Gellen and Mrs. Max Goldberg. Other members who attended the various sessions were Mrs. Irving Alcon, Mrs. Edna Helmrich, Mrs. Arnold Pinsly, Mrs. Robert Ronder, Mrs. Seymour Semilof, Mrs. Morris Tucker, Mrs. Ronald Wolfield, and Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Five awards were received by the local chapter. Mrs. Morton Levine and Mrs. Irving Alcon received pins in recognition of their excellent accomplishments as treasurer and financial secretary of Zephaniah Chapter. A shield to add to the chapter flag was awarded for meeting a share of the support of national B'nai B'rith philanthropies.

Kingston Chapter also copped a third prize in the district "Do as We Do Contest" for the local series of polio clinics held during the past two years. An honorable mention in the same contest was also given for the B'nai B'rith Calendar listing birthdays and anniversaries of local citizens and commercial listings subscribed to by local merchants.

Vassar Announces Trustee Election; Directors Named

Mrs. Frank H. Ellis, Northampton, Mass., was elected an alumnae trustee of Vassar College at the annual meeting of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College held on June 11. Six directors of the association also were named, including Mrs. Robert S. Bruns Jr., Short Hills, N. J., who will serve three years as Alumnae Fund Chairman.

The latest total of Vassar's 1961 Alumnae Fund, $1,356,655, was announced by Mrs. Clifford D. Couch Jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y., Alumnae Fund Director. This sum is the largest yearly alumnae fund gift in Vassar's history. It includes gifts by the 25th and 50th reunion classes which total over a quarter million dollars. This year Vassar is celebrating the centennial of its founding in 1861.

JOHN CHARLES SMITH JR.

Completes Studies At Pharmacy College

John Charles Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Smith of 59 Andrew Street, Kingston, was graduated on Thursday, June 8, from Union University, Albany College of Pharmacy, Albany, with a bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy. The degree was conferred by the Chancellor of Union University, Dr. Carter Davidson. Dr. Melvin W. Green, Director of Education Relations for the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education, delivered the address.

Mr. Smith was named to the Dean's List during his senior year. He was an active member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity, serving as its treasurer during his junior year and as its president during his senior year. Some of Mr. Smith's other activities include serving as assistant editor of the senior year book; chairman of the Interfraternity Council; on the staff of Mortar and Pestle, the school's official publication and a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the camera club. He also participated in Intramural basketball and softball.

Mr. Smith, a 1957 graduate of Kingston High School, will enter the University of Rhode Island in September as a graduate student majoring in pharmacology.

Bachelor of Science Degrees in pharmacy were also conferred upon two other area residents by the Albany College of Pharmacy on June 8. They are Dorita Grossman of Pine Plains, and David B. Van Etten of Lake Katrine.

The graduates were guests of the Albany College of Pharmacy Alumni Association at its annual banquet held in the ballroom of the Sheraton Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany the same evening.

Open Tryouts Will Be Held at Hyde Park Playhouse

On Sunday, June 25, the Hyde Park Playhouse will hold its annual open tryouts for all mid-Hudson Valley actors who may wish to perform during the summer with the professional company. Actors are asked to bring a reading or prepared scene of about one minute.

Especially good roles are available this summer according to M. David Samples, executive director, and they cover a wide range. A Negro, 20 to 40, and an Oriental in the same age, range is wanted. There is a fine role for a ten year old boy in Invitation to a March. Both male and female roles are played by community and little theatre actors who can qualify. A number of area actors appeared with the company last season.

Mr. Samples will meet all actors at the theatre from 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m. This is the only open tryout held all season.

Suit Raises Are Clarified

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Jacoby-Smith three no-truump response makes it possible to clarify all suit raises. Thus the single raise shows a maximum of 10 supporting points. The double raise from 11 to 13 supporting points; the triple raise and the three no-trump response from 13 to 17 supporting points with the one difference—

NORTH 14
♠ K J 3 2
♦ A Q 8 5

WEST
♥ A 10 5
♦ 10 4
♣ K 9 7 6 5 4

EAST
♥ K Q J 9 7
♦ K 7 6 3
♣ Q J

SOUTH (D)
♠ A Q 10 6 4
♥ 8 3 2
♦ J 9 2
♣ A 10

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ 10

the triple raise shows not more than 10 high card points and the three no-trump response from 11 to 15 high card points.

Since no book on Jacoby-Smith is available at present, you can describe this system by saying that your raises are limiting bids only and that your three no-trump response is the equivalent of a forcing jump raise.

After North's limit raise to three spades, South passes. Against a heart or club lead he will make only three; against the actual diamond lead he is able to discard a club on dummy's fourth diamond and make an overtrick.

This is unimportant in rubber bridge, but the hand is taken from a recent tournament and plus 170 scored by Jacoby-Smith bidders turned out to be top.

At other tables North responded two diamonds. Sometimes East bid two hearts; even when he stayed out his partner shunned the diamond lead and the declarer was held to his contract.

Pledges Reach $8,960 for the Growth Plan

The Planning Board announces that pledges totalling $8,960 toward the Planning Program Fund have been received by the Town of Woodstock as of June 12. This is within $1050 of the halfway mark.

When pledges total $10,000 the guarantee received by the town becomes effective and the Town Board will be in a position to authorize making a contract for the preparation of a Growth Plan for Woodstock.

The total cost of this plan complete will be $20,000. It is expected, from the rate that pledges are being received, that the halfway mark will be passed this week.

Mallory Grove Open to Public

Woodstock's new woodland park, Mallory Grove, is now ready for use by local residents. The last two Saturdays have seen members of several local organizations hard at work installing picnic tables and clearing a patch and picnic area so that the grove may be used this summer.

The fifteen acres of land was donated to town by Mrs. Maurice Van Buren, in memory of her mother. The Woodstock Association, the Woodstock Planning Board, the Girl Scouts and Garden Club, spearheaded by the Woodstock League of Women Voters were all instrumental in getting the property put to use and in planning the picnic area.

The picnic tables were donated by the League of Women Voters and one by the Garden Club, and I. J. Rose, local craftsman who made the tables and donated his labor. The Brownies and Girl Scouts have been a great help in clearing the area and the Woodstock Association will put up appropriate signs to direct people.

The property is located just beyond the Yerry Hill Bridge and cars may be parked on the Water Supply land. There is a hundred foot path cut in to the picnic site which is located on a three-acre island in the Sawkill Creek. It is planned to keep this area in as natural a state as possible and the Garden Club hopes to label some of the trees and wildflowers so that the park can be used as a nature trail.

Women's League In Buzz Session

An informal Buzz Session was the program for the evening at a meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters held on June 7 at Deanie's. Round table discussions were held on all the items now being studied by this group, followed by the various chairmen on what had been discussed that evening.

In addition a lively and extremely funny skit was presented by Mrs. Walter Balk, Mrs. Michael Earnest and Miss Florence Harrison on the subject of their trip to the League's State Convention in Niagara Falls last month. This was followed by a more serious report on the Convention.

On June 8, several members of the Woodstock league's Board of Directors attended an Area Conference in New Paltz. This was a welcome opportunity to meet with members of other Leagues and exchange ideas. Those attending from Woodstock were Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, Mrs. Thomas Horsey, Mrs. Lynn Wells, Mrs. Hans Cohn, Mrs. Inger Walker, Mrs. Michael Earnest, Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz and Mrs. Gordon Frye.

Q. Does zoning affect existing conditions?

A. No, generally speaking, zoning only applies to new situations. The American law, following the English tradition, does not allow retroactive legislation and all provisions of a zoning ordinance are subject to the test of the courts. Therefore all land uses, buildings, and structures that were in existence before the zoning ordinance was passed may, in general, continue even if located in a zoning district where new uses and structures of the same kind are prohibited; these are called non-conforming uses. The test as to whether a non-conforming use may continue after the enactment of a zoning ordinance lies in the proper interpretation of the law and the case histories of the courts sustain that rulings may not be arbitrary or create unnecessary hardship from strict conformity to a newly enacted zoning ordinance. A Growth Plan and its concurrent zoning ordinance are primarily a guide to future growth. In the case of Woodstock, we have a relatively undeveloped area that shows signs of fast growth; existing non-conforming uses will therefore soon be a minor item.

This is another series of questions and answers pertaining to planning and zoning in the town of Woodstock furnished by the Woodstock Planning Board:

Q. How do we get zoning?

A. Zoning is established independently of a community Growth Plan by the legal instrument called a zoning ordinance. A zoning ordinance is not made by the Planning Board but by a separate zoning commission which is appointed by the town board and does not have to seat any member of the town Planning Board, although it generally will. The zoning commission is dissolved after the zoning ordinance is drawn up. The zoning ordinance may thereafter be enacted by the town board by the same procedure as any other town ordinance, for example, the tree ordinance, the trailer ordinance, and the gasoline station ordinance. This requires a public hearing and majority vote of the town board members. At the same time that a zoning ordinance is enacted, the town board is required to appoint a Board of Appeals, to hear appeals for variances to the literal application of the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance where, by reason of peculiar conditions, unnecessary hardship may result from strict conformity. Every decision by the Board of Appeals is subject to review in the courts.

Christ Lutheran Congregational Meeting, June 27

Mrs. Peter Weider, chairman of the publicity subcommittee of the Building Committee of Christ Lutheran Church, announces that an important meeting of the congregation has been called for Tuesday, June 27, at 7:30 p. m.

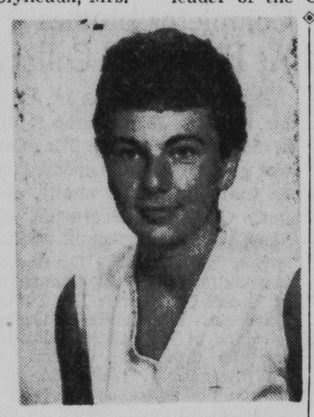
The purpose of the meeting is to inform the members of the progress of the building program and to give them an opportunity to play a more active role in it. All members and friends of the congregation are urged to attend.

The women of Christ's Church have an opportunity next week to increase the effectiveness of the role they play in their auxiliary organization of the church. On Tuesday, June 20, 11 a. m., a workshop will be held at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kingston, which will concern itself with the work of the United Lutheran Church Women. Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, president of the church's ULCW, urges all the women of the congregation to attend and should be contacted by those needing transportation.

Lawrence Deede of West Hurley announced that a Vacation Church School is being planned during the last two weeks in August providing that sufficient response is shown to a forthcoming letter of inquiry concerning it. The school, which has gained increasing popularity nationally, will be open to all children and young adults. Those interested in participating in this program as workers or students, including non-members, should communicate that interest directly to Mr. Deede or Pastor Krapf.

The Church Council will meet this Tuesday, June 20, at 7:30 p. m.

MALLORY GROVE OPENING—Present at the official opening of Mallory Grove in Woodstock, from the left: I. J. Rose, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, president of the Woodstock League of Women Voters; Mrs. Arthur Jones of the Garden Club; Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux, Mrs. Reginald Wilson of the League of Women Voters and town Planning Board; Mrs. Henry Winzenreid, president of the Garden Club; Benjamin L. Webster, of the Woodstock Association and Planning Board and Mrs. Paul Perlman, leader of the Girl Scouts.



COLLEGE BOUND—Donna Adler, left, and Jennifer Baswick, members of the senior class at Onteora Central High, will continue their education in September. Miss Baswick, the class valedictorian, has been accepted at Vassar College and will major in languages and political science. She has been awarded a scholarship at Vassar in addition to a New York State Regents Scholarship. The daughter of Mrs. Betty Baswick, she lives at Beaver Lake House in Krumville. Miss Baswick was senior editor of the year book, a delegate to Girls State, a member of the National Honor Society, a varsity cheerleader, and a participant in the senior seminar program. She was awarded a Letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Donna Adler will major in English and Social Studies at Drew University. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Arthur Adler of Woodstock, she was editor-in-chief of the yearbook, managing editor of the school newspaper, secretary of the Student Council and her junior class, and the choreographer for the Junior-Senior musical, in addition to participating in the senior seminar program. She has been offered a scholarship at Drew University.

Annual Supper Musicale Set At Byrdcliffe

The sixth annual Supper-Muiscale of the Woodstock Festival of Music and Art will be held on Saturday evening, June 24, at Byrdcliffe, the Festival Committee announces.

The event, which traditionally launches the summer season activities in Woodstock, will feature a buffet supper beginning at 6:30 p. m., followed by an informal musicale in the Byrdcliffe Theatre, home of the Turnau Opera Players. The new singers of the Turnau Opera Company will be presented, in addition to various other prominent vocal and instrumental artists.

The Festival Committee announces also that the 1961 Festival Program Booklet is expected to be ready by June 24 and will be introduced at the supper. The booklet, again edited by Abe Kramer, will feature articles by various prominent persons in the arts in Woodstock, accompanying the complete calendar of scheduled activities.

The annual supper-musicale, usually one of the most popularly attended affairs of the year, is arranged and conducted through the active cooperation of many folks of the community, who cheerfully contribute their time, effort, talents, money and much of the food.

Mrs. Carnright, Mrs. de Lisio Leaders at Rip Van Winkle CC

Mrs. Betty Carnright fired low net of 72 to pace a 25-player field in the annual Ladies Invitation at Rip Van Winkle Country Club in Palenville Tuesday.

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock posted low gross which plays to men's par of 36-36—72.

Mrs. Georgianna Mau of Catskill Country Club led Class B gross with 50-48—98. Mrs. Etta Ginder, also of Catskill, topped Class C gross with 50-61—111.

Other prize winners included:

Class B — Mrs. Ginny Carnright, second low gross, 51-50—101; Mrs. Inger Walker, Woodstock, 103; second low net, Mrs. Edward Minasian, Twaalfskill, 106-27—79; tied for third, Mrs. Bert Vozdik and Mrs. Ray Smith, RVW, 105-24—81.

Other Winners

Mrs. Myrtle Overbagh had second low gross in Class C with 55-60—115. Tied for second low net were Mrs. Rodney Ball and Mrs. William Brinnier, with 84's. Mrs. Albert Flanagan had third low gross, 116.

Low putts winners were Mrs. Ray Smith in Class B, with 34 and Mrs. Ruth Vozdik with 37 in Class C. The blind hole award went to Mrs. V. Mikkhitarian of Catskill. Special award for the day was won by Mrs. Anderson of Catskill.

Winners in the 9-hole division were Mrs. Stella Rhode with 62 and Mrs. Terry LaDolce, with 80. Mrs. Marguerite Cantine was given a special award the nature of which was not revealed.

Following the matches, the women were guests of the country club at a buffet luncheon at which an attractive assortment of prizes were awarded by Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor.

California Cuties At Stadium Tonight

Softball of a comic and classic variety will be on display at Dietz Stadium when the California Cuties, a road troupe, takes on Amato's All Stars at 8:30 p. m.

The Cuties are an all-male team that plays in garnish female attire. They have been touring for more than 10 years and are scheduled for a U. S. State Department-sponsored trek to the Pacific in September.

150 Ready In US Open

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—It will be 150 men against the monster when play starts Thursday in the 61st National Open Golf Tournament.

The monster was the name given the Oakland Hills course in 1951, when Ben Hogan won here. It has stuck. To golf-wise persons the contest isn't so much among the 150 players, survivors of an original field of more than 2,400, but the men against the course.

In the decade since Hogan won the third of his four Open titles, the monster has been gentled a trifle and a new generation of golfers has grown up. They've heard of Oakland Hills and have learned to respect it during practice, but they don't shudder at its fearsome reputation.

The principal changes in the course have been the elimination of seven traps, mostly in the target areas and some changes to greens. Golf architect Robert Trent Jones estimates it is 1½ to 2 strokes a round easier unless the rough is allowed to grow deep at some danger spots.

Palmer Says 275-280

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, said Tuesday he thought a 72-hole score between 275 and 280 would win. The Open record is 276, set by Hogan at Riviera in 1948. Jimmy Demaret shot 278 the same year and Palmer's winning 280 at Cherry Hills last year is the next-best score ever made in the Open.

In practice Tuesday, Bob Shields, 31, a 245-pound club pro from Quincy, Ill., shot 34-32—66 for the best practice score, and three-putted the last green. Walter Burkemo, former PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., who used to work at Oakland Hills, has had rounds of 69-68-70-67. Doug Sanders, with a painfully injured back, fired 69.

Palmer, 31, and Gary Player, 26, stocky South African, are tabbed as co-favorites. Palmer has won four tournaments and Player three this year.

Triplets' Banks Slams 3 Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Third basemen George Banks is swinging a heavy bat for the Binghamton Trips, slicing away the Springfield Giants' Eastern League lead.

Banks belted three homers Tuesday night to boost his league lead to 14 as he sparked Binghamton to a doubleheader victory over Williamsport, 4-3 and 10-6. The Trips now have won 11 of their last 14 games.

The twin victory, coupled with Springfield's 11-2 loss to Reading, allowed the trips to pick up a game and a half on the Giants and they now trail by only 1½.

In the only other activity, Johnstown and Lancaster split a doubleheader. Johnstown won the opener 4-2, dropped the nightcap 7-2.

Apaches Scalp Iroquois, 7-6

Apaches scored a run in their last turn at bat to edge the Iroquois, 7 to 6, in the Met Knothole League.

Bart Godby's triple paced the 7-hit offensive against Mike Prosser, Roger Thiel and Bruce Brown. Godby and John Mayone of the Apaches gave up 12 hits between them. Mayone was credited with the win.

Mike Prosser and Bill Pleugh of the Iroquois each stroked a double and two singles. Bill Kilmer and Bob Mitchell hit doubles and Thiel had two singles for the losers.

Hoffman 2-Hitter

Glynn's, Lincoln Park Rec Softball Winners

Rich Hoffman unfurled a 2-hitter, as Glynn's Shoes trounced Bloomington Inn, 11 to 3, in the Recreation softball leagues Tuesday.

In the companion game, Lincoln Park Inn exploded for nine runs in the fifth inning to clobber the White Eagles, 19 to 7.

Richie Sickler slammed a home run and single to pace Glynn's eight-hit attack on Nick Savino and Dave Lewis. John Parete and Jim Garrison contributed doubles.

Chic Carpino scattered 10 White Eagle hits and was extremely effective after the second inning. Don Juhl got two hits and drove in two runs during the 9-run rally in the fifth.

Lincoln Park had broken a 5-5 tie on Bill Hickey's fourth-inning home run. Al Goodwin slammed three singles for Lincolns.

Ben Jones, One of Racing's Best Trainers, Succumbs

Jones, who trained six Kentucky Derby winners, a record no other trainer has ever approached, died in a Lexington hospital Tuesday.

He had been in ill heath several years. Last Saturday he was hospitalized after suffering a heart attack.

"Always used to baffle me how a man could train out of a book," Jones once said. "Lose a page and he wouldn't know what to do."

Because of his background, he said, he had to decide between Holstein cows and horses.

"Couldn't decide which I liked better, but when I got big enough to help with the milking, I made up my mind."

Then for Calumet there were Whirlaway in 1941, Pensive in 1944, Citation in 1948, Ponder in 1949 and Hill Gail in 1952.

Favorite Scores At Roosevelt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winner, whose time for the mile was 2:01 4-5 Tuesday night returned $5.

At Saratoga Raceway, Ranlom Song sped over a muddy track in driving rain to win one division of the $4,500 Kenneth G. Reynolds Memorial Pace.

Ranlom Song was clocked in 2:11 and paid $4.50. Legal Freight was second and Yankee Tardios third.

In the other division, Success Major, driven by Mike Akoury Jr., stepped the mile in 2:12 2-5 and returned $7.40. Wayne C. was second and Walter Knight third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Lee Echo C. returned $22.75 by winning the $800 Class C-2 Pace in 2:05 4-5. The winner was driven by Harold Hewson. Stewart's Dillard was second and Border Scot third.

At Vernon Downs, Galomir won the featured $1,500 trot for two-year-olds in 2:12.1 on a muddy track. The winner's driver was Robert Walker and the payoff was $16.80.

Hickory Hill was second and Fury Hanover third.

The winner in the filly division was Tercel, with Harry Pownall Sr. at the reins. Her time for the mile was 2:15.2 and she returned $4.50. Stardel Hanover was second and Prudent Hanover third.

Buffalo Bison Hits 3 Homers

Don Mincher, who was sent down by the Minnesota Twins because of weak hitting, hit three home runs Tuesday to power the Buffalo Bisons to a 13-11 International League victory over Jersey City.

Mincher, who had only four singles in 22 at bats since he was optioned by the Twins about two weeks ago, connected with the bases loaded in the third and clouted a bases empty smash in the fifth. His third was the game-winning blow and capped a seven-run Bison explosion that erased a 11-6 deficit in the seventh inning.

Richmond and Syracuse belted out 26 hits as the Virginians nipped the last-place Chiefs, 7-6. Columbus handed Rochester its fourth straight loss, 5-3 in 11 innings. League-leading Charleston and Toronto were rained out.

Huskies Testing Onondaga Lake

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Washington's talented Huskies have joined 23 other crews testing the waters of Onondaga Lake for the 59th Intercollegiate Rowing Championship Saturday.

Cornell, another favorite, and Columbia and Dartmouth were due today to join the crews training at the lake and MIT was scheduled to arrive Thursday.

Washington and Cornell are picked to give undefeated Navy and defending champion California a stiff challenge in the traditional race. Syracuse also is considered a contender.

Most experts are sticking with Navy, however.

Stickles Is Free On Bond, Hearing Set for June 20.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Monty A. Stickles, of Poughkeepsie, pro football end for the San Francisco Forty-Niners, remained free on bond Tuesday pending a June 20 hearing on a motion to suspend a 60-day sentence for assault.

Stickles, 22 - year-old former standout at Notre Dame, drew the sentence in Newport News Municipal Court Monday for his part in the beating of Peter M. Bauer on a lonely road May 28.

Stickles and Robert P. Behm, 22, both on reserve Army duty at Ft. Eustis, were convicted of forcing Bauer's car off the road in order to engage in a fist fight.

Behm and Stickles each received $100 fines, in addition to 60-day jail sentences.

Sickler's Beat AL Firemen, 8-2

Aided by a six-run rally in the fourth, Sickler's trounced the Firemen, 8 to 2, behind the 5-hit pitching of Tom Dittus in the American Little League.

The winners collected 10 hits off Bob Jones, including a home run by Gregg Rice. Dittus fanned 8 and Jones struck out 10.

Dittus helped his own cause with three singles. Joel Tomson hit a single and double and Greg Nickerson had two singles for the winners. Bill Brady hit two singles and Kevin Ross a double for the Firemen.

McGowan's HR Wins for Lions

Frank McGowan's home run in the bottom of the sixth gave the Lions a 4-3 victory over the Masons in the American Little League. Both teams had been shut out since the first inning when each scored three times.

Bill Prosser of the Masons and Joe Curlin of the Lions pitched five hitters, the former striking out six and Curlin 11.

Tigers Outlast NL Braves, 8-6

Tigers outlasted the Braves, 8 to 6, in a National Little League slugfest in which the winners racked up 16 hits.

Steve Van Dyke was the beneficiary of the 16 Tigers safeties off Wayne Corkery. The losers had 11 off Van Dyke.

Tony Darwak had a perfect day at the plate, with four singles in four trips. Chip Grover smashed two singles and a three singletons.

Walt Kidd of the Tigers and Tom Saulpaugh of the Braves slammed home runs. Saulpaugh also had a single.

Jaycees Wrens Whip Hawks, 8-3

The Wrens scored five runs in the first inning and went on to whip the Hawks, 8 to 3, behind the 4-hit pitching of Billy Ball in the Jaycees Little League. Ball struck out nine.

The winners picked up nine hits off Scot Findholt and Mike Jubie, including single-double combinations by Russ Suppies and Bill Roosa. Ball also hit a double. John Fay led the losers with a single and double.

Back to back doubles by Roosa and Ball accounted for the five runs in the first inning. The Hawks picked up two runs in the second on a two bagger by Higgins and a walk with the bases loaded. Ball hurled hitless ball over the last three innings.

Cleveland Retains Game Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland retained a one-game lead and dropped New York back to third place in the American League race with a 7-2 victory over the Yankees Tuesday night. Detroit returned to second place by whipping Boston 7-1.

Baltimore defeated Washington 8-7, Minnesota cracked Kansas City 8-6 and the Chicago White Sox swept a twi-night twinbill from the Los Angeles Angels 2-1 and 10-2.

The Indians chopped off the Yankees' winning streak at five games by building a 6-0 lead in two innings against Jim Coates (6-3), who also had won five straight. A two-run homer by Johnny Romano capped a four-run first that nailed it for the Tribe, and Bubba Phillips homered leading off a two-run second. Jim Perry (5-4) won his third in a row, although needing relief help in the ninth from Frank Funk. Perry gave up 10 hits, one home run No. 21 by major league leader Roger Maris.

Norm Cash batted in four runs with a pair of homers, one a three-run, inside-the-park shot that settled it in the third inning for the Tigers, Cash, 2-for-3, took over the AL batting lead at .374, pushed his league-leading RBI total to 54 and upped his home run count to 19, slugging six in the last four games. Southpaw Don Mossi (7-1) was the winner, although allowing 12 hits, the same number Detroit collected off loser Gene Conley (2-5).

Martin Delivers

A pinch single by Marv Throneberry broke a 7-7 tie in the ninth for the Orioles. Reliever Dick Hall (2-2) won it, scoring the winning run after getting on base with a single — his first hit of the season. Gus Triandos drove in three runs for Baltimore with two homers. Tom Sturdivant (2-4) was the loser in relief.

Billy Martin did the thumping for the Twins, driving in four runs as Manager Cookie Lavagetto came back a winner after a week's vacation ordered by club owner Cal Griffith. Martin drove in two runs with a triple as the Twins tied it 3-all in the sixth, then clinched it with a two-run single when they scored four in the seventh and beat Norm Bass (4-4). Ray Moore (4-2) was the winner in relief.

The White Sox, winning four in a row for the first time this season, took the opener on a two-run homer by Floyd Robinson off loser Ryne Duren (2-7) in the third inning. Right-hander Cal McLish (3-6), who had lost five in a row, made it stand up, shutting out the Angels on five hits until Leon Wagner homered in the ninth. Al Smith's grand-slam homer in the fifth inning did it in the nightcap giving southpaw Juan Pizarro his first AL victory. Ron Kline (1-4) was the loser.

Erie Sailors Third In NY-Penn League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Erie Sailors were in third place in the New York-Penn League baseball standings today —by one percentage point.

The Sailors grabbed a double-header from the second-place Wellsville Braves Tuesday night in Erie and shoved the Indians into fourth. On the basis of a 5-4 victory in the first game and an 8-7 nightcap squeaker, the Sailors now have a .526 rating. Wellsville is .525.

Erie scored three runs in the last inning of the abbreviated opener for the first of the sweep. Homer Green homered with two on for Olean in the second inning to give the Oilers a lead they never relinquished.

Frisco Relievers Douse Los Angeles

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The third place San Francisco Giants moved within one game of the National League lead by beating second place Los Angeles 4-3 Tuesday night.

Relievers Dick Lemay, making his first major league start, Tom Bolin and Stu Miller blanked the Dodgers on two hits over the last 5 2-3 innings. Miller (6-0) was the winning pitcher.

Cincinnati lost 2-1 to Pittsburgh, but retained a half-game lead. Philadelphia beat St. Louis 3-2 in the only other NL game scheduled.

A two-run homer by Willie Mays in the seventh inning wrapped it up for the Giants, who trailed 3-0 after 2½ innings. Ed Bressoud homered in the third for the Giants' first hit off loser Stan Williams (4-6), and Mays manufactured the second run virtually all by himself in the fourth.

Willie beat out an infield hit, stole second, scampered to third on a fly to short center and trotted home on a single by Jim Davenport.

The Dodgers scored all their runs, one a homer by Ron Fairly, off starter Sam Jones. Lemay, up from the Texas League, came in with one on and two out in the fourth inning and stopped the Dodgers cold with 2 2-3 frames of no-hit relief before giving way for a pinch-hitter.

The Pirates beat the Reds for the fifth time in seven tries, breaking up a shutout duel with two runs in the sixth inning. Don Hoak, who had a single, a double and a triple while extending his hitting streak through 12 games, drove in the first run with a double off loser Jim Maloney (2-2), who then forced in the clincher by walking Bill Mazeroski with the bases loaded. Joe Gibbon (5-2) won it, blanking the Reds on five hits until the ninth, when Frank Robinson doubled and scored on a single by Gene Freese.

Johnny Callison broke up a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning with a double for the Phils, his first hit in two weeks. Frank Sullivan (3-9) making his first relief appearance, was the winner. Larry Jackson (2-6) lost it.

Tappe Now Tops With the Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs' version of musical chairs—the rotating head coach system—has Elvin Tappe on the throne today. For the time being, at least, the other nine coaches have lost their seats.

The Cubs announced Tuesday that Tappe, who has been serving as head coach of the manager-less Cubs since last Friday, will continue to direct the team on the field for an indefinite period.

Speculation immediately arose that owner P. K. Wrigley had abandoned his experiment with the council of 10 coaches which he inaugurated this season.

Wrigley himself responded to just such a query with:

"I don't know. Anything can happen. Tappe may finish out the season in this position, then again he may not. I haven't the slightest idea."

Elliott Heads Home Without Making Run

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — Herb Elliott headed back to England today determined to keep away from bigtime track until the British Empire Games in Australia next year.

Elliott lost his second half-mile race in four days Tuesday in the biennial Harvard-Yale vs. Oxford-Cambridge Track and Field Meet. This time it was Yale Captain Jim Stack who jumped him on the backstretch and won going away by about eight yards in 1:50.6. Elliott was caught in 1:51.7.

Leftists Smash USIA Windows as Protest to Adlai

In the most hostile incident so far of Stevenson's South American tour, about 30 demonstrators paraded through the streets of Santiago, chanting "Cuba si, Yanqui no." They rushed the USIA office, shattering plate glass windows with long poles.

The lone policeman on duty arrested one demonstrator, but the rest escaped, leaving behind a banner saying "Go home Stevenson."

U.S. Embassy officials said the demonstrators were Communists.

Otherwise, Stevenson's reception was warm and friendly. Crowds of several hundred greeted him at the airport and at the hotel where he is staying in the heart of Santiago.

Stevenson planned to devote most of his time here to talks about next month's meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council at Pinta del Este.

Chilean President Jorge Alessandri already has endorsed the conference and has had his experts working on preliminary aspects for some time.

Favorites Advance In Colgate Tennis

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) —Top seeded Peyton Howard of Brown and sixth ranked Walter Kot of Georgetown were in the quarterfinals of the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament today.

They advanced during a rain-spattered round Tuesday, during which Jack Douglass of Pittsburgh upset Dick Gordon of Ohio Wesleyan, the eighth seed.

The tournament, at Colgate University, began Monday.

Stacey Accepts Lesser Charge, Faces 20 Years

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — A Lyndhurst, N.J., man accused of shooting a woman friend in a diner near here has been allowed to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

Joseph A. Stacey, 34, wept when Dist. Atty. Benjamin Newberg announced Tuesday he would accept the plea.

Stacey's first - degree murder trial had progressed through the selection of four jurors.

Stacey, who will be sentenced June 26, pleaded guilty in the death of Mrs. Sandra Lee Allison last October. The shooting occurred in a diner at Liberty.

John Burroughs Program To Be Featured Friday

Dr. Heinz K. Meng with Falcon

A special event for the Town of Esopus 150th anniversary starts Friday at 8 p. m. when a special program on John Burroughs will be held at the Town Hall in Port Ewen. Participating will be Dr. Heinz Meng of the faculty at State Teachers College, New Paltz, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley of West Park, a granddaughter of John Burroughs.

John Burroughs, the world famous naturalist, was a resident of the Town of Esopus at West Park for 45 years. He maintained a home "Riverby" on the banks of the Hudson and his famous retreat "Slabsides" in the hills back of West Park. Many of his well known books on nature and articles were written during this period. Many famous people of this era came to visit him either at his home or at his cabin. Probably the visitors who made the biggest local stir was Theodore Roosevelt who visited John Burroughs at "Slabsides" when he was the President of the United States in July 1903. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt walked with John Burroughs and his son, Julian, to "Slabsides" to enjoy one of John Burroughs' delicious dinners and drink spring water and talk about birds.

John Burroughs was also a great favorite with Vassar students and many Vassar girls came to visit him at either "Riverby" or at "Slabsides." Two couples were so enraptured with the spirit of "Slabsides" that they held their weddings there.

Authority on Falconry

The principal speaker at Friday night's John Burroughs program will be Dr. Heinz Meng. Dr. Meng is a graduate of Cornell University where he received his PhD. in 1951. Since that time he has been a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at New Paltz where he is the associate professor of biology and conducts courses in ornithology, botany, field biology, and field zoology. Dr. Meng is considered one of the leading authorities on falconry and brings with him to his talks live hawks and other birds of prey found in this area. Dr. Meng is a past president of the John Burroughs Association, specializes in bird painting and is a member of many ornithological societies. Dr. Meng will talk on John Burroughs work and particularly on the birds he found in this area and those he would find if he were alive today.

Mrs. Kelley, who will also participate in the program, has written a book and many articles on her famous grandfather. She will talk about John Burroughs life and illustrate her talk with slides, many of which were taken by John Burroughs himself.

The program is open to the public and no admission will be charged. The program is sponsored by the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial committee. The committee is conducting a series of special events throughout the summer in honor of the town's 150th anniversary, with at least one special event taking place each week until Labor Day.

Zoo Trip Better Than Pills for Cancer Victim, 4

Perhaps the pleasure he derived from his visit to the Philadelphia Zoo eased temporarily the pain the four-year-old cancer victim has known for several months.

To visit the zoo was Johnnie's only wish. It had been ever since last December. It came true Tuesday. It was Johnnie's day because his many friends wanted it that way.

An ambulance brought Johnnie, who has had his left leg amputated and has lost the sight of his left eye, from his suburban Ridley township home to the zoo.

The boy, who realizes he is seriously ill but has not been told he has cancer and may not have long to live, was moved into a wheelchair and taken slowly around the special section for children. His widowed mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, was at his side.

Johnnie was especially pleased when attendants placed a baby lion on his wheelchair and allowed him to feed the animal milk from a baby's bottle.

"He loved that," Mrs. Dougherty said.

But when he spotted two big lions apparently fighting, he told his mother he wanted to move on quickly.

"He was really happy," said Mrs. Dougherty after it was all over. "He said he loved it. He didn't talk much. He was so busy watching.

"When we got home he was playing and eating a little better. I didn't have to give him a sedative. He was entirely different for the first time in two weeks.

"It makes your heart feel good to see how he was smiling. I'd love to take him again if he'd improve just a little bit."

Kansas Is Given Custody of Two Who Killed Seven

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Kansas offcers assumed custody of two teen-agers today, heading them back to the hamlet of Sharon Springs to face trial for one of seven robbery-killings.

The youths, George R. York, 18, Jacksonville, Fla., and James D. Latham, 19, Mauriceville, Tex., waived extradition late Tuesday on a warrant accusing them of killing Otto Ziegler, 62, a railway roadmaster, near Wallace, Kan.

The teen-agers, both AWOL from an Army disciplinary unit at Fort Hood, Tex., have admitted a series of seven killings in five states. Officials of Utah and other states agreed at a conference to let Kansas take custody.

Both, and York especially, had expressed a preference for Florida, which wants them for the May 29 slayings of two Valdosta, Ga., women near Jacksonville — Althea Ottavio, 43, and Patricia Anne Hewitt, 25.

They also are wanted in Illinois, where two were killed June 8: Albert E. Reed, 25, Litchfield, Ill., and Martin Drenovac, 69, a Granite City service station operator.

Colorado wants them for the June 10 slaying of Rachel Marian Moyer, 18, near Craig. Tennessee wants them for the June 7 killing of John A. Whitaker, 71, a railroad porter, at Tollahoma.

Rescue Brothers After Ten Day Ordeal on Raft

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Two half-starved, sunburned brothers are easing back onto normal diet after living on a life raft for 10 days on two cups of rain water and a fish.

Dr. L. M. Richards, 28, Limona, Fla., optometrist, said, "It was just by the grace of God" that he and his brother, Eric, 30, of Melbourne, Fla., were alive when rescued in the Gulf of Mexico.

The yacht All Alone spotted the brothers Tuesday and picked them up 90 miles southeast of Panama City. An Air Force helicopter took them to Tyndall Air Force Base hospital and the two later were transferred to a civilian hospital.

The Richards took off from Tampa June 3 in a single-engine plane for Guatemala. After landing at Cross City, Fla., to repair a fuel line, they took off on the New Orleans leg of their flight.

Over the Gulf of Mexico the plane developed engine trouble and caught fire. The brothers ditched and launched a one-man life raft which had no food or water.

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Amos 'n' Andy may have retired, but the longtime team of Correll and Gosden is carrying on.

The boys are starting a whole new career—in whiteface, so to speak.

"We even had to join the Screen Actors Guild for the first time," says Freeman Gosden, who played Amos and the Kingfish.

Charles Correll, the deep-voiced Andy, couldn't make it to lunch. His partner explained: "Charlie just got back from trying to see 20 countries in 26 days. He's resting up."

Gosden has enough enthusiasm for both of them, and he was excited about their new venture. They are playing the voices of a new TV cartoon series, "Calvin and Colonel."

"I play a Southern colonel," said Gosden. "That comes easy to me since I was born in the South (Richmond) and my father fought in the Civil War with Moseby's raiders. Charlie's family was originally from the South. He is the first time in 45 This plays a bear—a lazy bear with an eye for females; I'm a fox. They're both Southern, but not colored."

years that Correll and Gosden haven't played in blackface — vocally or otherwise. Both started in minstrel shows in the South. They met and joined forces in Durham, N.C., in 1919. The next year they did their first broadcast in New Orleans. They began their "Sam 'n' Henry" series in Chicago in 1926 and switched to "Amos 'n' Andy" two years later.

"A 'n' A" ended 32 years on radio last November. "They just couldn't afford our show any more," said Gosden. "We were the last of the big-name shows to go.

"People have asked us if we don't miss the glamor of it. We never had the glamor. We worked the same as if we worked for a steel company. We went to the studio on schedule, did our work and left. We were the only stars who weren't recognized."

2 to 9 Vote Set For Marbletown On School Issue

Voters will go to the polls from 2 to 9 p. m. today to cast their ballots on a proposition to build an addition to the Marbletown Elementary School.

The proposition, presented by the board of education of the Rondout Valley Central School, calls for construction of eight additional classrooms and other facilities at an estimated cost of $240,000. Of this amount, $118,965.52—or more than 49½ per cent—would be paid by New York State.

HIRE THE HANDICAPPED WEEK—Mayor Edwin F. Radel, center, proclaims period from June 19 through 23 as Hire the Handicapped Week in the presence of two representatives of Gateway Industries, Inc., which trains people for jobs at 519 Broadway. William F. Edelmuth, left, former mayor, is president of the organization, and Charles S. Ronder is chairman of the executive committee. The proclamation urges employers to consider the handicapped for jobs they are able to do in their firms because they are interested in creating a productive future through their own efforts by industrial training. Electric Rocket May Be Answer for Space Shots

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Meet the electric rocket—a tiny power plant that some day may drive space ships of almost any size to the moon and the planets.

The electric rocket probably will be the final and critical stage of the huge projectiles President Kennedy has ordered developed to take men to the moon and back in this decade.

Works In Lab

Eight companies and two government agencies gave technical papers on electric rockets Tuesday at one of the nation's top scientific conventions—the annual joint meeting of the Institute of Aerspace Sciences and the American Rocket Society.

Concensus of the papers is that the electric rocket works—under laboratory conditions.

By the time large clusters of present-day intercontinental missiles are ready to boost big space ships beyond earth's gravitational pull — possibly in three to five years—electric rockets should be far enough advanced to take over the job of propulsion in space.

Capt. Richard Hayes, an Air Force research expert assigned to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington, said in an interview:

Important Field

"This is an important field where the United States can forge ahead of Russia in the space race."

Neither the Soviet Union nor the United States has yet tested an electric rocket in space, but both are rushing research programs. Hayes said the U.S.S.R. plans a test flight later this year; America's target date is sometime next year.

What's so special about electrical rockets?

In the language of the average motorist, they are designed to give more miles per gallon and much higher speed. But they are only good for cruising in high gear. They don't have enough power for the fast takeoff necessary to get into space.

Electric rockets are comparatively small—about the size of a garbage can. Chemically fueled Atlas rockets tower 65 feet into the air.

Electric rockets have a very small wallop — a fraction of a pound of thrust compared with the 360,000-pound thrust of an Atlas.

Equalization Rates Are Less In 2 Townships

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment reported today that tentative state equalization rates based on 1960 assessment rolls have been established for 31 more towns including the Towns of Lloyd, Plattekill and Saugerties.

Proposed rates in the towns of Lloyd and Plattekill each dropped one point below the rate based on the 1959 assessment roll. Saugerties township's rate based on the 1959 assessment roll. Saugerties township's rate remains 17 points.

The new rate for the Town of Lloyd is 24, dropped one point from the 25 point rate based on the 1959 assessment roll. The new rate for the Town of Plattekill dropped one point from 9 to 8.

A hearing on the new rates will be conducted by the Equalization board at its office, 155 Washington Avenue, Albany, Thursday, June 29 at 10 a. m.

Stuttgart Rail Crash Claims 35

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Two more bodies were pulled from the wreckage of two commuter trains today, bringing the death toll from Tuesday's head-on collision to 35. At least 47 were injured, some critically.

Packed with home-bound commuters, the two trains collided just outside the rail terminal at nearby Esslingen. The German railway blamed the collision on the failure of one train, bound for Stuttgart, to heed a red signal.

The other train was en route to Goeppingen. Six children of U.S. servicemen, returning from school to their homes at Goeppingen, were on this train but all escaped unhurt, a U.S. Army spokesman reported.

The spokesman said as far as is known, no U.S. citizens were among the victims.

The Army identified the six children as: Ida M. Ogilvie, 15, McKinney, Tex.; Marion Candelore, 17, Niles, Ohio; Reuel S. San Pedro, 15, Junction City, Kan.; Linda Juhas, 14, Weirton, W. Va.; Ruth A. Joiner, 16, Newcastle, Tex., and Penelope Biggs, 15, Philadelphia, Pa.

Hillary Warned To Stay Below

KATSMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Sir Edmund Hillary, 41, is walking back to Katmandu, under doctor's orders never to return to the extreme Himalayan heights where he won fame.

Hillary suffered a mild cerebral stroke last month while in camp at 19,500 feet on Mt. Makalu. Doctors with the party, which had tried unsuccessfully to climb the 27,790-foot peak without oxygen equipment, sent Hillary to a lower elevation. Since then the New Zealander has been ordered to remain below 16,000 feet.

Staatsburg Plan On Pupil Change Lost by 7 Votes

A margin of seven votes defeated a proposition Tuesday night which would have authorized trustees of the Staatsburg Union Free School District 2, Towns of Hyde Park, Clinton and Rhinebeck to contract with the Hyde Park Central School district to send pupils in the upper three grades to Franklin Delano Roosevelt school for the year 1961-62.

The vote was 147 against and 140 for the proposition.

Albert W. Salter, president of the Staatsburg school board, opened the meeting and introduced Roland Block, who presided as chairman.

Many Oppose Contract

The proposal was explained by the chairman after which those in attendance were given the opportunity to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of the proposed contract. Under terms of the proposed agreement pupils in Grades 10, 11 and 12 would have been sent to the Franklin Delano Roosevelt School for the school year 1961-62.

According to Kenneth Stewart, principal of the Staatsburg school many of the qualified voters who opposed the proposition, disapproved the contract plan, and many indicated they were in favor of annexation with the Hyde Park Central School district, rather than the contract.

Stewart told The Freeman today that proposed annexation of the Staatsburg Union Free School District 2 with the Hyde Park Central School District is being studied by the State Department of Education and officials of the Staatsburg and Hyde Park school districts.

Await Survey Report

Stewart explained that the needs of facilities, teachers and finances over a period of several years will be included in the survey now under way.

The principal of the Staatsburg school district said yesterday that if the proposition was approved about 65 or 67 students now attending the Staatsburg school would be assigned to classes at the Roosevelt school.

Stewart also stated that if the proposition was turned down by qualified voters of the district, it would be necessary to keep the students at the Staatsburg school, which reportedly is overcrowded because of the necessity of holding split classes.

Fine Driver $50, 15 Days; Car Hit Student at Bus

The New York City driver whose car struck a five-year-old boy as he crossed Route 28 from a stopped school bus on May 26 was fined $50 and 15 days in jail Tuesday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle of the Town of Olive.

Simon Steinlauf, 57, is free on bail pending an appeal.

The child, Peter Fenty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Fenty of Ashokan, who was taken to the Kingston Hospital in critical condition, was reported "good" today by hospital authorities.

The child got off an eastbound Onteora Central School bus at 4:05 p. m. Friday, May 26. As he passed in front of the bus he ran in front of the left side of a 1954 sedan proceeding west, according to the Phoenicia state police.

The boy reecived lacerations of the forehead and behind the right, ear, punctured right cheek, concussion and multiple abrasions of the face and two black eyes.

Police Not Looking For Missing Girl

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Cheryl Crane is still missing. But authorities expressed little serious concern today, even though Lana Turner's 17-year-old daughter had been gone three days.

Police chief Clinton Anderson told newsmen late Tuesday: "We don't consider her a runaway and we're not out looking for her."

The slender teen-ager dropped from sight Monday after leaving a note that she was "going away for a few days to think things over."

She was to be interviewed by a juvenile officer regarding an escapade with two other young girls last Sunday.

Police who arrested the trio said Cheryl's companions were drunk.

Cheryl had been a ward of Juvenile Court since the 1958 knife slaying of her mother's boy friend Johnny Stompanato.

Body of Orange Man Found, Also That of Woman

SANDY HOOK, N.J. (AP)—The badly decomposed body of a man and the body of a woman with her mouth gagged were found by the Coast Guard Tuesday floating in the waters off Sandy Hook.

Middletown Township police identified the man from papers found in his clothing as William G. Shepherd of Newburgh, N.Y. His body had been in the water for some time, detectives said.

The unidentified woman had bruises and wound on her head and handkerchief was stuffed in her mouth, police said. They added it appeared that her body had only been in water a day or two.

The woman, about 55, was fully dressed and was wearing a gold wedding ring and gold earrings, according to police.

The bodies were found about three miles apart, the man in Ambrose Channel and the woman in Swash Channel, both south of Lower New York Bay.

Monmouth County physician Julius A. Toren said he would perform an autopsy on the bodies today.

Body of Orange Boy Found Close to Pool

NEW PALTZ, N.Y. (AP)—The body of Robert Eden Jr., 6, of Newburgh, was found Tuesday in the rapids a half mile from the swimming pool at Midway Park.

The boy was drowned Sunday when he fell into the pool and was washed into a creek that adjoins it.

5 Scout Troops Participate in Court of Awards

The five Port Ewen Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scout Troops held their joint Court of Awards at the Town Hall, Port Ewen, Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Harry Van Ormer played the piano for the Advance of Colors and singing. The Rev. Harry Christiana of the Port Ewen Reformed Church gave the invocation. Miss Emily Card, neighborhood chairman, welcomed the parents of the scouts, thanked all who had helped the troops during the year. The Intermediate Troop of Church of Presentation was welcomed as a re-activated troop. It was annunced with regret that Mrs. Robert Shelightner, leader of Brownie Troop 120, since it was formed five years ago was retiring as leader. Mrs. Shelightner was presented with a corsage of yellow roses in appreciation.

Mrs. Josephine Horvers and Mrs. Richard Kelikian presented 12 service stars to members of Brownie Troop 61. Karen Bock of Troop 61 received her Brownie Wings.

Mrs. Shelightner presented 28 service stars to members of Brownie Troop 120. She presented Brownie Wings to the following Brownies:

The following Brownies from Troop 120 were received into Intermediate Troop 51 in an impressive candlelight service by Miss Ella Jones, leader:

Miss Nancy O'Donnell and Mrs. William Mills, leaders of Troop 137 presented 11 service stars and four second class badges, two backyard camper, one swimmer, one treet, two housekeeper, three child care, three garden flower, one cat and dog, one needlecraft, one writer, one homemaker and one foods badge.

Miss Jones, leader of Troop 51, presented a five-year pin to Donna Terpening, representing five years in scouting, six four-year service stars, one third-year, ten two-year and one one-year star also seven second class badges, seven cook, eight child care, two first aid, six good grooming, one personal health, two weaving badges, one outdoor cook, one adventurer, one cat and dog, one reader, one magic carpet and one horsewoman.

Mrs. Vernon Outwater, leader Troop 121 presented the following first class badges to Donna Nilan, Irene Sahler and Sharon Shook. Five year service pins were presented to Linda Cooper and Stephanie Parvi, Service Stars: four first year, five second year, five third year and eight four year.

Badges: four public health, five housekeeper, five interior decoration, three hospitality, five cook, five adventurer, four personal health, one world gifts, five backyard camper, six player, six drawing and painting, five horsewoman, five reader, five magic carpet, two child care, four good grooming, one seamstress, four first aid and one cat and dog.

The badges given the three girl scout troops show the wide range of interest of the scouts. Volunteer workers who have helped with some of the badges have enabled the leaders to give the Scouts a variety of badges.

Senator Suggests All-Free Berlin To Ward Off Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., suggested today establishment of an internationally protected free city of Berlin to avert an East-West nuclear clash.

Mansfield, the Senate's Democratic leader, said that if the world must live indefinitely with a divided Germany, peace itself requires that "Berlin—all Berlin—be held in peace and trust until the day of unification."

Says Berlin Is Lever

He said that the way to peace cannot be found either in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal to turn only U.S.-supported West Berlin into a free city or in the West's insistence on a status quo in Berlin until Germany is reunited.

"Berlin is the lever which may ease Europe toward a more durable security or push the Western nations and the Soviet Union into a new vortex of irrationality at whose center lies the graveyard of humanity," Mansfield said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

Mansfield said that the United States will not be "driven, pushed or barred" from fulfilling its responsibilities for freedom in Berlin.

Whole Future of U.S.

But he warned that the U.S. commitment to Berlin's defense extends from a beginning of firmness "to a final pledge of the lives and fortunes of every man, woman and child in the nation."

"We are not engaged at Berlin with the fast draw and wax bullets of television any more than the Russians are engaged in a harmless game of chess," Mansfield said. "In the last analysis we are engaged now, as we have been in Berlin, with the whole future of the United States."

Mansfield made clear that in advancing his suggestion, which is close to a position he has been advocating for years, he was speaking as an individual senator.

Pivot for Disaster

He said that in addition to the Western proposal for a free West Berlin and the Western insistence on a status quo, "a third way may lie in the creation of a free city not in West Berlin alone, but in the creation of a free city which embraces all Berlin—the Communist East no less than the free Western segment of that metropolis."

Unless both sides change their positions, Mansfield concluded, "sooner or later, Berlin is likely to become the pivot of a new disaster for mankind."

Woodstock Woman Appeals, Not at 'Alert', She Says

Jeanne Nield of Woodstock was found guilty of the charge of failing to take shelter during the April 28 Civil Defense "alert" when he case was called before Justice of the Peace Rudolf C. Baumgarten Tuesday night and a five-day jail sentence and a fine of $25 was imposed. Failure to pay the $25 fine could result in serving time not to exceed 25 additional days in jail.

The guilty verdict was handed down by Justice Baumgarten after a trial which lasted some three hours during which defendanft claimed she had not been present when Town Constable Paul Senecal ordered several persons from the Village Green in Woodstock during the alert.

Defendant was represented by Gerald Stern of New York City, a member of the firm of Oaul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison of 575 Madison Avenue. Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt appeared for the prosecution.

Says She Was Present

Constable Senecal testified before Justice Baumgarten that he had known defendant for some time and identified her as one who was present when several persons were ordered to take shelter.

Mona Fletcher of Lake Hill, one of those who was also charged with the same offense, testified Jeanne Nield had not been present when the constable ordered the group to take shelter.

On cross examination by Assistant District Attorney Vogt, defendant said she had left her place of employment at 3:30 p. m. and had done some shopping and took a walk about the village and that she had arrived at the Village Green after the town constable had ordered several others to take shelter.

Denies Early Decision

Asked if she had any intention of disobeying the alert when she left her place of employment, the defendant said she had not made any decision at that time.

300 Dozers, 200 Tractors Sought

HAVANA (AP) — Encouraged by their first day of talks, a fourman American team expected to see Prime Minister Fidel Castro today on their mission to swap 500 tractors for 1,214 invasion prisoners.

The tractors-for-prisoners negotiators met President Osvaldo Dorticos, officials of the Agrarian Reform Institute and representatives of the captives on their first day in Havana Tuesday.

Havana radio said today Dorticos informed the negotiators three prisoners would not be exchanged for tractors—Manuel Artime, leader of last April's invasion; Jose San Roman, a battalion commander; and Rafael Bolivar Fuente, who was not identified.

'The Hook' Is Bait

The broadcast reported Dorticos said the three would only be exchanged for Francisco (The Hook) Molina, a Cuban citizen awaiting sentencing in New York for the slaying of a 9-year-old girl during a political scuffle; Pedro Albizu Campos, a Puerto Rican nationalist leader, and Henry Winston, imprisoned U.S. Communist party leader.

The American negotiators replied they were not authorized to negotiate such an exchange, the radio said.

Dorticos also told the negotiators Cuba wants 200 heavy bulldozers and 200 lighter farm tractors in exchange for the other prisoners on an installment plan. Eastern Havana

Woman Seen Behind Spy Link to Poles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overtones of a classic spy thriller cloak the case of an American Foreign Service officer charged with giving U.S. secrets to Communist Poland.

A blonde Polish spy was reported to have lured Irvin Chambers Scarbeck, 41, bespectacled father of four, into turning over classified information to Communist agents while he served in the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

Bail Set at $50,000

Scarbeck was held in jail after bond was set at $50,000. He was arrested Tuesday by FBI agents on a Washington Street.

The complaint filed by the Justice Department before U.S. Commissioner Sam Wertleb said Scarbeck admitted communicating to Polish agents information that was classified "as affecting the security of the United States."

The State Department, citing his "service, loyalty and devotion to duty," had given him a meritorious service award for his work in 1957 while supervising the department's exchange program in San Francisco.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters, "I understand the root of the trouble was a woman. I was informed a Polish blonde seduced him and then blackmailed him."

No Details on Data

The Justice Department gave no details about the information Scarbeck was charged with passing to foreign agents. There were indications the information was of a political rather than a military nature.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, replying to questions, said, "any espionage is of major importance. I do not think the case would have come to the Justice Department if U.S. security had not been involved."

If convicted, Scarbeck faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

In Warsaw 2½ Years

Scarbeck had been assigned to the Warsaw embassy for 2½ years. His duties largely involved the housekeeping chores of running the establishment, but he had some access to classified material.

Reassigned to Naples, Italy, Scarbeck was with his family on leave in Dusseldorf, Germany last week when he was summoned to Washington.

Upon arrival last Saturday, he was handed an order suspending him from the Foreign Service.

Amesse Will Face Sentence June 20, 20 Years Possible

Amesse, who is father of two by his estranged wife, could receive up to 20 years in prison.

Cleared of One

A Dutchess County jury of six men and six women cleared Amesse, who is 20, of a second-degree murder charge Tuesday but convicted him of manslaughter.

Both charges stemmed from the death last Dec. 21 of 18-year-old Rachel Perry. She plunged to her death from the Mid-Hudson Bridge into the ice-clogged river.

The state based its murder charge on a claim that Amesse pushed the girl from the bridge because he thought she was pregnant. An autopsy revealed she was not.

Amesse and the Perry girl met here while he was a truck driver for a department store and she an employe of the state hospital at nearby Wingdale. Amesse was not living with his wife at the time.

Stories Conflict

Amesse was with the girl when she plunged into the Hudson. State Police said he told them of a suicide pact he lacked nerve to carry out, later admitted he pushed the girl from the bridge, then denied it again.

The body was not recovered from the Hudson until last March 17.

The secondary charge of manslaughter was lodged to cover Amesse's encouragement and abetment of Miss Perry in her suicide plunge.

Bill Before Kennedy

The authorization measure passed by Congress Tuesday after conferees compromised differences between House and Senate versions, merely authorizes the construction.

Queen Mother Laid Up

LONDON (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth has fractured a small bone in one foot and will be forced to forego public engagements for several weeks, it was announced today.

A press statement from her London residence, Clarence House, said the injury occurred Monday at Windsor Castle. No details were given. The queen mother is 60.

State Wants Look At Newburgh Plan About Welfare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state, citing a possible loss of $150-million in federal aid, seeks a look at Newburgh's plans to cut welfare costs and revise local welfare administration.

The State Social Welfare Department said Tuesday it had asked Joseph Mitchell, Newburgh city manager, his plans and requested a copy of a City Council resolution granting Mitchell wide powers in welfare matters. The council voted Monday.

A department spokesman said, however, that no immediate action was planned beyond determining what local changes were contemplated.

Clifford Tallcott, the department's area director, has warned that Newburgh, by setting up its own welfare standards, could jeopardize the $150-million federal payment to the state for welfare programs.

Under federal law, all of the state's 65 welfare districts must meet uniform standards of welfare eligibility and payments.

Shultz Is Elected Leader of Coal And Oil Concerns

At special directors' meetings held in the company offices, Mr. Shultz was elected president of the Rodie and North River Coal marketing bituminous and anthracite coals throughout New York State—and of the Kingston Coal Company, a retail coal and oil business. He also will serve as president of the Rodie Coal Company's retail coal and oil business conducted at 4 Fairview Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

Joined Firms in 1945

Mr. Shultz has been affiliated with these companies since December, 1945, and has served as a vice president and director for 10 years.

A native of New York City, Mr. Shultz graduated cum laude from Princeton University in 1940. After graduation he entered the newspaper business, covering the Governor's office and New York Legislature as a legislative correspondent for the Associated Press. During World War II he served as a Marine Corps combat correspondent in the Pacific, seeing action in the (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Body of Boy Is Recovered From The Shawangunk

The body of Samuel Thomas Eden, 5½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eden of 253 Robinson Avenue, Newburgh, was recovered from the rain-swollen Shawangunk Kill creek, Town of Gardiner, Monday afternoon by two volunteer searchers who joined Sheriff Claude Bell's party of searchers yesterday.

Roy Henry Weygant and Harold Ostrander of Gardiner recovered the body of the boy at 3:15 p. m., Monday approximately one-half to three-quarters of a mile from where the boy slipped into the creek Sunday afternoon while wading.

Funeral Is Friday

Coroner Francis J. McCardle was summoned and issued a verdict of death by accidental drowning. The body was turned over to the Colonl Funeral Home in Newburgh and funeral services will be held Friday with burial in Calvary Cemetery, New Windsor.

The little boy was swept under in the strong currents of the rain-swollen stream while wading at Midway Park Beach, Town of Gardiner, which is owned by John McEntee. He apparently lost his footing. John Williams, 17, a neighbor, attempted to rescue the boy but failed and he was carried downstream.

Expresses Thanks

Sheriff Claude Bell, who with several deputies, volunteer firemen, skin divers, state police and volunteers, conducted the search today thanked all who assisted.

Father Curry of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, was summoned when the body was recovered and went to the scene.

Five boats manned by officials and volunteers were at the scene Monday combing the stream. The search was directed by Sheriff Claude Bell and Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh and state police from Highland station. Also assisting in the search was Trooper Charles Erway from Troop C Headquarters at Sidney. Aiding in the search were Deputy Sheriffs John Tuey, Joseph McNierney, Cornelius Dumond, (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Bates' Gateway Show Is Thursday

The benefit show for Gateway Industries, Inc., goes on at Kingston Municipal Auditorium, Thursday at 8:30 p. m., featuring Peg Leg Bates with his Broadway Show and Friends.

It has been reported that approximately 700 tickets have been sold for the event arranged by the friendly one-legged dancer of stage, television and movie fame.

Proceeds are to help the training center at 519 Broadway where handicapped people prepare themselves for jobs in industry and in other fields.

CC Lists 4 Reasons Against School Aid

Several important actions were taken by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night in the Governor Clinton Hotel at which President Joseph F. O'Connor presided.

Dr. Elbert F. Mac Fadden Jr., 98 Fair Street, was elected a director of the Chamber of Commerce to fill the unexpired term of Sully Fleming. Fleming resigned after accepting a position to manage a new Montgomery Ward Store in Menlo Park, N. J.

A resolution opposing the Thompson school-subsidy bill, H.R. 7300, was adopted.

This action was recommended by the National Legislative Affairs Committee. They listed four principal reasons for the opposition to the proposed federal aid to education.

John W. Egbert, district manager of the New York Telephone Co., was named chairman of the annual banquet committee for 1961-62.

To Sponsor Security Seminar

It was decided to request and agree to sponsor a two-week national security seminar put on by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces of Washington, D. C. The sponsorship was recommended by the Chamber convention committee.

The industrial promotion committee, chairmaned by John H. Haulenbeek, was authorized to prepare and publish a leaflet designed to encourage industrial development at a cost not to exceed $300.

The Kingston Consolidated School system will again be asked to participate in the two major public relations projects Business-Education and Education-Business Days. They will be arranged by the Chamber's education committee in cooperation with the school system.

Endorsed Proclamation

A resolution was adopted endorsing Kingston's Urban Renewal and Modernization Week as proclaimed by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and urged public support thereof.

One new membership application, the Fair Street Nursery School, 209 Fair Street represented by Mrs. George Dingee, was approved.

Gotham Snarled By Power Cut as Heat Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The second massive power failure in less than two years threw five square miles of midtown Manhattan into a 4½-hour chaos involving millions Tuesday. It was the hottest June 13th in the city's history.

From skyscraper peak to subway bottom — and in between — citizens of this always cramped metropolis were snarled in the vivid example of electricity's value to modern man.

Trapped in Elevators

The power went out just as the mammoth office buildings began pouring their tens of thousands into the streets.

Riders were trapped in elevators for up to three hours. Passengers were stranded below ground in subways. Passengers emerged from both, shaken and dripping with perspiration.

"It was like a steam bath," said a patrolman coming out of a subway.

The Great White Way was a strange sight as the setting sun dropped across the Hudson River. Times Square's brilliance was blacked out for a time. Many of its movie houses and theaters closed.

Traffic Lights Out

12,496 in Ulster Get Social Security Benefits

By the end of 1960, some 12,496 people in Ulster County were receiving old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits. The total benefits paid to these people for December 1960 was $814,252, according to George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston, New York social security district office. "This is an increase in the number of people receiving benefits by about 10 per cent over the same month last year," he said.

Nationally, almost 15 million people were receiving about a billion dollars a month in old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits at the close of 1960. Many of these people were made eligible for benefits by the changes in the law made in 1960—such as the reduction in the amount of work required to qualify for benefits and the removal of the age 50 requirement for disability benefits.

Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $70 in December 1960; to a retired couple, both receiving benefits, the average payment was $124. The average for an aged widow was about $58.

Last year was the 20th year that social security benefits were payable, and the 25th anniversary of the Social Security Act, which became law in 1935. Changes in the law since 1935 have brought more than nine out of every 10 people in the United States protection by old-age, survivors, and disability insurance protection paid for by taxes on employes, their employers, and the self-employed. Earnings will be reported to the social security accounts of more than 75 million workers during 1961.

Destructive Storms Hit Various State Sections

The storms, accompanied by strong winds and hail, knocked down trees, cut electrical and telephone service and spawned floods.

More heat, humidity and storms were forecast.

The sudden and torrential rains lashed down on a state sweltering in an officially uncomfortable combination of humidities and temperatures ranging to the 90s.

About 30 residents of the Madison County community of Georgetown were evacuated last night when Otselic Creek sent water swirling three feet deep into the main street.

Mrs. Lucy Howe and her son, Frederick, 10, fell into the current as they left the town hall. Mrs. Howe, the village librarian, and her son were rescued by the local civil defense director.

Two women driving toward Middleville in Herkimer County were cut by flying glass when a falling tree limb shattered a windshield.

Falling tree limbs disrupted travel and utilities at Plattsburgh, Oswego, the Albany area and Poland, Herkimer County.

Lighting disabled a 34,500-volt transmission line in the Syracuse area, cutting power to about 14,000 homes for up to 1½ hours.

Plattsburgh was without power for nearly an hour.

About 1,000 homes in the Kuyahoora Valley in Herkimer County were without electricity briefly.

Rome and other Oneida County communities reported falling trees, heavy rains and storm damage.

In Albany, a half-inch of rain fell in 15 minutes. Hailstones up to a half-inch in diameter fell with the deluge. In Schenectady, television station WRGB was silenced.

Before the storm, a blanket of heat and humidity rested over the state. In New York City, where the temperature reached 95, and other communities the weather bureau's comfort index—in terms of heat and humidity—reached the oppressive stage.

$6 Million Stock Issue Will Help C-H Construction

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was given permission by the Public Service Commission today to issue $6 million in preferred stock.

The money will be used to help finance a $57-million-construction program the company has scheduled for completion by 1964.

The stock will have a dividend rate of 4.96 per cent. The 60,000 shares, with a par value of $100, will be sold to 17 institutional investors, the PSC said.

In another action today, the PSC approved plans of the Brooklyn Union Gas Co. for construction of a 7,500-foot main in Brooklyn and Queens.

The New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas & Electricity was still to act on the project.

The work will extend along Flatlands Avenue, from its intersection at Fountain Avenue, Brooklyn, along 156th Avenue in Queens to Cross Bay Boulevard.

The Council has a membership of administrators of 23 hospitals in the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Putnam.

Last year, Schnitzer was a member of its Board of Directors and chairman of its nursing committee. Robert L. Feil of Cornwall Hospital is the new president.

Cows will produce more milk if they do not have to swish off flies with their tails all the time, tests have shown.

Would Be Largest

Directors Named For Bank-Holding Company in State

NEW YORK (AP)—Sponsors of a proposed bank-holding company—the largest in the nation—have announced the names of 25 directors chosen by the seven banks seeking affiliation.

Formal applications for federal and state approval of the project will be made in the next few weeks. The planned new company is named the Morgan New York State Corp.

John M. Meyer Jr., president-designate of the company, said Tuesday night that compilation of the necessary data is at an advanced stage.

The Morgan New York State Corp. would have assets of more than $6.1 billion and deposits of more than $5.1 billion and 149 banking offices throughout the state.

Other proposed member banks are: Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co. of Buffalo, Lincoln Rochester Trust Co. of Rochester, the National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany, First Trust & Deposit Co. of Syracuse, the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York in Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

Each would continue to operate under its present name and management.

Says Firm Ready Financially to Buy 3 Stations

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Capital Cities Broadcasting Co. will finance its purchase of three radio and television stations with little dilution of equity, its president pledges.

Frank M. Smith said the firm was in a "substantially stronger working capital position at the end of 1960."

He told the firm's annual stockholders meeting Tuesday that Capital Cities expected continued improved earnings this year from radio and television stations in Albany, Providence, R.I., and Raleigh-Durham, N.C.

The purchase to which Smith referred was of stations WPAT, AM and FM, in Paterson, N.J. and New York City, and WKBW, AM, TV, in Buffalo. The sale applications are pending before the Federal Communications Commission.

All 12 directors, including CBS radio news commentator Lowell Thomas, were re-elected. Thomas is a stockholder in Capital Cities.

Buffalo Sector Pastor Leader Of Church Parley

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP)—The New York Synod of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. began business meetings today under a new moderator, the Rev. Henry W. Eddy.

The Rev. Mr. Eddy, pastor of Deerhurst United Presbyterian Church in the Buffalo suburb of Kenmore, was elected moderator Tuesday night at the opening session of a three-day meeting.

He succeeds Wayne Hammer Byrne of Plattsburgh.

The Rev. Donald B. Reitz of Skaneateles was appointed field director of Christian Education for the synods of Kansas and Missouri.

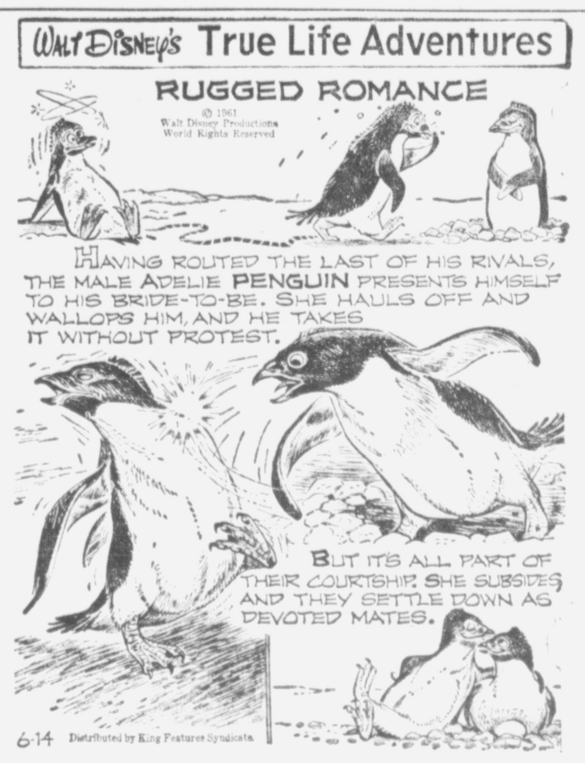
ASTME Plans Final Program Tonight

Tonight the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, Catskill Region Chapter 151, will hold its final program of the 1960-61 season at Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel.

Featured at this meeting will be Don Weed, IBM electronic engineer and inventor who will speak on "The Manufacturing Requirements for Future Electronic Devices." Weed is well qualified for this topic by virtue of his connection with advanced developments at the local plant. Technical meeting commences at 8:15 p. m. and non-members are, as usual, allowed one visit per year.



State Guide Dies at 90

LOWVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—David L. Conkey, who walked into the Adirondack Mountains at 16 with a rifle and a sack of flour—and stayed 50 years as a guide—is dead at 90.

Conkey, a native of Petrie's Corner, Lewis County, had been told by a doctor that the only way to cure a leg ailment and survive was to "live off the land."

He died Tuesday in a nursing home in nearby Martinsburg after an illness of several months. Conkey operated a camp at Beaver River Flow in Herkimer County and also was a forest ranger there.

36 Committees Are To Reorganize at Albany Meetings

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino announced the plans jointly today.

The committees have sizable budgets and staffs to assist the legislator-members in dealing with such problems as school aid, highway safety, problems of the aging, health insurance and mental retardation.

In rare instances, non-legislators are named to some special committees. Charles H. Diefendorf of Buffalo, a banker, is the chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on School Financing.

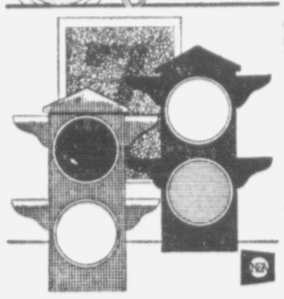
matter of Fact



Can color blindness be cured? No, scientists say—at least, not the commonest kind of color blindness. Most defects in color vision are inherited, and nothing can be done to change inherited color blindness. People whose color vision is different from normal include one-half of 1 per cent of the ladies and 8 per cent of the men. When it comes to seeing colors, the men are the "weaker sex."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 14, 1961

PERHAPS ALL THREE

When Soviet Premier Khrushchev took power some years back along with the now forgotten Nikolai Bulganin, his good will tours with Mr. B were often described as virtual vaudeville turns.

In recent times, not too many in the free world have been able to think of Khrushchev in those terms, despite his gay moments spouting from balconies, chatting with peasants along the roadsides, and so on.

Speculation naturally is rife. But probably we'll never know for sure whether this meant he thought he came out on top in Vienna, whether he likes President Kennedy or whether he just likes the cha-cha.

SECONDHAND BOYHOOD

They were thinking about boyhood, these two fellows in their mid-40s, and one of them said: "Remember how kids used to get a couple of pieces of rib bone, or maybe wood, and hold them in their fingers and make a clacking noise? I don't see those around anymore; I wonder if kids do that these days."

Whereupon his companion retorted, with bruised cynicism, "Probably what they do now is sit around listening to a recording of boys doing that."

Bruised cynicism or not, that has an acid hint of truth in it. This is the age of the vicarious thrill. Youngsters do a lot of adventuring via television and movies and records. They learn a lot that way—but they also miss a lot that used to come first hand to boys and girls a generation ago.

Whoever sees a boy whittling anymore? Whittling used to be a favorite time-passer for boys, and most of them would sooner have ventured forth without shoes than without a pocket knife. Are we going to come to a time when, instead of knowing the satisfaction of whittling, boys will see movies of whittlers in action?

And will there be records of boys playing a comb-and-paper, or doing a bit of soulful knuckle-whitling, or making the shrill noise that a grass blade makes when properly held and blown? Perhaps not. Perhaps that aforementioned bruised cynicism has gained the upper hand. But has anyone, lately, seen a boy clacking a carefully smoothed pair of rib bones? Neither have we.

The President reports that he and Nixon said nothing about politics in their recent conference. And neither one is a mind reader.

THOSE NEW ISSUES

A startling phenomenon in the recent stock market scene has been the appearance of large numbers of new issues. Word has gotten around that now is a good time for closely held companies to "go public." So, egged on by underwriters who find the business profitable, many a relatively small establishment on Main Street is floating a few thousand shares of stock.

There is nothing fundamentally wrong with this. Profitable ventures once owned by but two or three individuals may spread out their risk and procure new capital by inviting the investing public in. But certain more somber aspects have arisen. Many of these underwritings have seen the stock "come out" at one or two dollars a share and double or triple in value within a day or two after issuance.

This becomes a speculative lure calculated to burn investor fingers. In addition, these fantastic price increases represent a temptation to investing officers to turn a quick personal profit. In their special position they may be able to pressure brokers into allocating these stocks to their own accounts.

Those experienced in stock market matters have great misgivings about many of these new issues. They try to picture the wreckage which may be strewn a year or two hence. The lucky will have found the issues of lasting worth, the unlucky may have nothing but the wherewithal to paper their walls.

THE COMMUNIST DILEMMA

After 11 years, Justice Felix Frankfurter's decision settled the fact that the Communist Party is illegitimate in the United States. The decision upholds the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950. When the Subversive Activities Control Board's order is fulfilled the position of the Communist Party and of an individual Communist will indeed be altered. Many sanctions will be applied against Communists, such as they will be ineligible for government employment, they will be unable to hold or receive an American passport; they will not be permitted to work in defense facilities or receive defense information. If they send any propaganda through the mails, they will have to mark it "Communist Propaganda."

In a word, the law not only outlaws the Communist Party but it makes of the individual Communist a pariah. While the Frankfurter decision upholds the law per se, it does not go into each detail of sanction. What the Communist lawyers face then is the problem of how to prevent this order from becoming final.

Under Supreme Court rules, the Communist Party has 25 days from June 5 to petition for a re-hearing. Now we come into red-tape complications. If the Court is in session on June 30, the period when application for a stay may be applied for, the petition for a stay operates as an automatic stay of judgement and there will be six months or more delay before the Internal Security Law can become operative. If the Court is in summer recess on June 30, a motion for a re-hearing, no matter where filed, will not operate as an automatic stay. The Board's order then becomes final as soon as the Court issues its judgement and awards the case to the Circuit Court, which in normal course will be early in July.

The lawyers for the Communist Party have to decide what to do to save their members from the drastic sanctions of this law. Gus Hall, the leader of the Communist Party, said that the Frankfurter decision requires the Communist Party to commit suicide. He announced that the Party would soon ask for a stay and a re-hearing.

It is to be presumed that a 5-4 decision would continue against the Communists. Chief Justice Earl Warren voted in favor of the Communist Party. If Gus Hall's decision to petition for a re-hearing and stay is carried out shortly, it means that the Communist Party intends to manoeuvre the situation so that its leaders will have an opportunity to defy the Supreme Court and risk arrest for contempt. At issue immediately would be the registration of the Party and the filing of membership lists with the Attorney-General. The Communists admit guilt by regarding the filing of lists as being stool pigeons.

From a tactical standpoint, the Communists would prefer a stay so that they might have an opportunity to organize fellow-traveller groups as well as doctrinaire liberals to demand that the Communists be given equality with Republicans or Democrats. This would be of tremendous agitational value. During the Cold War, the Communists have lacked a cause as no one could support Khrushchev's imperialism. The Frankfurter decision gives them a cause.

The Communist Party, if it petitions for a stay immediately, will not have too much time for martyrdom; but if the Supreme Court sits until July 10, the matter can be heard and decided finally.

The Communist Party might take advantage of one more technicality. If the Supreme Court should recess before June 30, the Communist Party might, between the date of the recess of the Court and June 30, find a Justice who would be willing to frustrate the action of the Court's majority by acting unilaterally to grant a stay pending a decision for a re-hearing. It is difficult to believe that any Justice would do that but it could happen, particularly as Chief Justice Earl Warren is so antagonistic to Justice Felix Frankfurter.

It is of tremendous interest that Justice Frankfurter should have become the leader of conservative thought on the Supreme Court bench. His position is strictly constitutional. The Chief Justice seems to be embarrassed by the presence of so superior a jurist as Felix Frankfurter among the brethren. It may yet turn out that those who for years were critical of Felix Frankfurter may have to apologize to him for their error of judgement.

Make Your Retirement A Renaissance of Spirit

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Let's have another word for retirement.

Most of us think of retirement as a passive act. We say we are going to retire for the night. Or the newspapers say a public figure retired to private life, suggesting the end of his usefulness.

This concept of retirement as a sort of descent to what Dr. Edward Bortz, of the Committee on Aging, describes as a precemetery existence is a major cause for the problems of our many senior citizens.

Floating suggishly downstream, they permit body and mind to become flabby. Or suddenly released from decades of routine chores, they behave like youngsters on their summer holidays and hurl themselves into aimless pursuits like shuffleboard, sunbathing clock golf, bingo and card games.

Bored by inactivity or pleasure seeking, they take refuge in endless complaints: Loss of appetite. Faulty elimination. Fits of the blues. Sleeplessness. Fatigue from the slightest demands on their flabby muscles. Aches and pains from any unexpected or unusual form of motion.

In short, sheer and unadulterated boredom.

Soon the eagerly anticipated retirement becomes the pre-cemetery existence that Dr. Bortz so aptly describes.

These retirement blues can be prevented. And all that is required is active preparation for the new life that is to be. Not retirement, then, but a rebirth or reincarnation, if you will.

You don't need to be a learned person to plan your reincarnation. And you don't need to seek professional advice to discover what form your reincarnation should best assume.

All you've got to do is give thoughtful consideration to the things or subjects that interest you outside of your cash-and-carry activities. Maybe it's bird watching. Or gardening. Or stamp collecting. Or chess. Or participation in community activities. Or travel. Or baby sitting. Or reading to the blind. Or the care of crippled or handicapped children. Or non-professional duties in your local hospital.

But you must have a purpose. You must derive a sense of accomplishment from whatever you decide to do. You must have the feeling that you are pulling your weight in the boat, that you are being helpful to someone less fortunate than yourself.

With these accomplishments under your hat, you'll have little need for vitamins, gland shots, special diets and/or the blandishments of "rejuvenation specialists."

"Don't Run Away, Kids! Thanks!"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Registered lobbyists in Washington apparently stayed away from both the Democratic and Republican $100-a-plate dinners here in droves, or else most of them went in disguise. Both dinners claimed 6,000 total attendance.

There were 40 registered lobbyists on the seating list for the Democratic dinner in honor of President Kennedy May 27.

BUT FOR THE GOP DINNER at which ex-President Eisenhower was the guest of honor June 1, the funniest thing happened. There was no printed seating list.

Instead, the good Republicans and fat cats who shelled out their $100 a plate for the Grand Old Party had their table number printed on their tickets.

There were a number of young Republican officials acting as ushers to help people find where to sit. These guides had copies of a master seating list.

But when reporters asked to get copies of the list, to see who was there and where seated, they were told a list was unavailable, or that there was none. The master list had mysteriously vanished, even at Republican national headquarters.

One good party wheel horse explained that they didn't want to make the list public because it might give the Democrats ideas where they could raise money.

IN THE MEMORY OF THE OLDER political reporters around town, this is the first time a banquet of this kind has been run off without a printed souvenir seating list. Such modesty is unusual among Republicans. And usually the guests want credit for having contributed and for being there.

Maybe all this sudden shyness is the result of bad publicity which the Democrats received from the J. K. Evans letter to Washington oil and gas company representatives. He asked them, on behalf of his old friend Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, to buy $100 tickets and come to the dinner.

Evans himself didn't attend the Democratic dinner. President Kennedy, at the dinner, had thanked Udall "for handling the publicity." So, as chairman of the public relations committee, Udall was asked about this at his last press conference.

"I was otherwise occupied, myself," he said, "and didn't run a check" of the oilmen present."

IT HAS BEEN THIS reporter's intent to check on both the Republican and Democratic dinners to see if more oil men had gone to see the GOP affair than to their opponent's banquet.

Since the Republican list is mysteriously missing, that can't be done. Maybe this story will smoke it out later. If so, there will be a follow-up, revealing what they had to hide.

For the time being, all that can be done is report on the oil people who came to the Kennedy dinner.

 IN SO DOING, FULL credit must be given to the Democrats for being open and aboveboard about who came to their party and contributed to its success. They hid nothing.

Of the people who received the Evans letter, five showed up: Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Vice of Standard California, Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Wild Jr. of Gulf Oil, Mr. and Mrs. Carstens Slack of Phillips Petroleum, Mr. Harrington Wilberly of El Paso Natural Gas and two guests, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kane of American Petroleum Institute.

There was a concentration of oil people at table 270, along with the Wilds and the Slacks. Among the others there, who were not recipients of an Evans letter, were: Joe T. Dickerson, [illegible] Crossitt, John R. Lewis and John L. Wilson.

There may have been others, but these were all that could be identified. Now if the Republicans will just send in their list.

Did Communists Trick Us Into Suspending A-Tests?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 13—The United States is still star-gazing and moon-gazing while the Soviet government is gaining its biggest victory below the earth's surface.

For two years and seven months now this country has voluntarily refrained from any nuclear testing, though there is every indication that the Soviets, while professing to do likewise, have been cheating.

Since it is impossible as yet to detect with certainty any underground testing of nuclear devices, the experts here believe the whole crusade to ban nuclear tests is based on a Communist trick to outwit the United States.

Many members of Congress, including Democrats, now are in favor of resuming tests. Senator Symington, Democrat, of Missouri, has suggested that reasons of national security and the possibility that the Soviet Union has been secretly conducting tests are forcing the United States to a renewal of weapon development. He added that the Soviet Union might have decided not to reach an agreement at the Geneva conferences "because of the tremendous unilateral advantage that passed over to them voluntarily" by declaring a suspension on Oct. 31, 1958.

The Way Ike Put It

General Eisenhower—who as President approved the voluntary ban—has come out now for a resumption of testing. He put it this way in a public comment the other day in Cincinnati:

"We cannot very much longer put this thing on ice. The time has come when we are going to have to fix a date. I told my own people before I left office we were going to have to take steps to lay down a date where we would no longer be bound by an agreement tacit or otherwise. We have already made that statement that we are no longer bound to abstain from testing, but we haven't yet fixed a date. If we are just going to stand here talking this way — and as we know their tests may be going on in that vast (Russian) interior."

President Kennedy has hinted but has not flatly stated that there would be a resumption of testing. He has said the United States would continue negotiations at Geneva as far as possible so that the world will know that it is not this country's fault if the talks fail and testing is resumed.

The whole issue is permeated with hypocracy. The mere ban on the testing of nuclear weapons will not save any country from a holocaust. The crusade instigated by the Communists throughout the world to stop nuclear tests have given a misleading impression. For the signing of such a treaty doesn't mean that either the United States or the Soviet Union would agree not to use in the future the nuclear weapons already tested or to destroy them altogether so they never could be used for inhumane purposes.

So what is the real motive behind the worldwide pressure the Soviets have created in order to get a ban on nuclear testing? Also, why have they prolonged the negotiations and set up obstacle after obstacle to cause the Western powers to be deprived of any treaty or agreement on a nuclear-test ban? There could have been only one object — to delay the negotiations as long as possible while the United States refraining voluntarily from any testing.

Stevenson Advocated Ban

The Eisenhower Administration at first resisted such pressure, but the Democrats and many persons in the scientific world though much would be gained in the court of world opinion by a "unilatered" or voluntary ban. At the time Adlai Stevenson first made the suggestion when he was running for the presidency in 1956, the Republicans, led by President Eisenhower, denounced the proposal. But two years later the voluntary-ban idea was accepted by the Eisenhower Administration over the protests of many top experts in the government. On Capitol Hill hardly a voice was raised then by Democrats in opposition. In fact, they gloated over it as a surrender by Mr. Eisenhower to the position taken by Mr. Stevenson during the 1956 campaign.

What brought about the reversal? There is reason to believe that our allies played a significant part in forcing the voluntary ban. Thus, in England the British Labor party for a long while demanded that a nuclear-test ban be imposed and that the storage of nuclear weapons or the establishment of missile bases inside Great Britain by the United States should be prevented. Lately the Labor party, due to a serious division in its ranks on this question, has shown signs of wishing to wiggle out of the test-ban issue on the political front.

Constant Agitation

In almost every country in the world the test-ban idea has been constantly agitated. While many pacifists and other sincere persons have joined in the world-wide movement, still it is doubtful whether the crusade could have achieved such momentum or far-reaching scope without Communist funds and the inspiration or direct help of the Communist apparatus in every country.

Tests conducted below ground involve no danger whatsoever. There is no "fall-out," the effects of which have been grossly exaggerated so as to produce a scarce propaganda.

The recent series of events tends to support the belief that the United States has been outmaneuvered by the Communists and that valuable time has been lost that should have been used to keep the Soviets from getting ahead of us. It could prove more important to the safety of the American people than exploration of space and projected flights to the moon.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

ODESSA, Tex., June 11—When John C. Tower, a Conservative Republican was campaigning for the Senate against William A. Blakeley, a Conservative Democrat, Richard Nixon quietly volunteered to come over from California and help Tower with some speeches. Tactfully but firmly, Tower's people sent back their answer. It was "stay away. We are not running one of your Tom Dewey campaigns. You are too 'liberal.'" Phrase it as you like, that is the meaning of Tower's answer to the man who was afraid to peep the word "communism" in the election of 1960.

Tower, the first Republican Senator from Texas since the time of the Civil War, had announced: "I am a Conservative. I never supported a 'Liberal' movement in my life." He did not define such "Liberal" movements but he didn't have to. The voters knew what he meant and they felt just as he did.

The people of Texas, in fact the people of the United States, are sick to hatred of pressure exerted from New York by a few organizations with offices in the midtown area. There are editorial censors who reject that sentiment because either they want these movements to prosper or thy are afraid these outfits can get their jobs one way or another. It is a personally dangerous heresy to report that most of the rest of the American outback is fed up with New York and its campaign of hatred against outer America which resembles in reckless fury the clamor of the New England draft dodgers who brayed "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory—" and jubilated over the scorched-earth campaign in Virginia and Georgia in the sixties.

Those New York warmongers are snorting the same concocted fumes of hatred and sending riders into Mississippi and Alabama, as Harry Truman in one of his truthful aberations pointedly remarked a few days ago and as U. S. Judge Frank M. Johnson affirmed in a fuzzy decree, probably illegal and unenforceable, the same day in Montgomery, Ala.

If the election of 1960 were held tomorrow, Jack Kennedy would be beaten badly by the loss of Texas, Mississippi and Alabama on this issue alone in which his juvenile brother Bobby, the attorney general, has taken an obstreperous part. This pair went out on a limb to applaud the outrageous verdict of the federal court in the Apalachin case. The Supreme court revoked the whole Apalachin business as an atrocity, which it was from start to finish.

There was froth on the lips of the voters for Tower, and even of some who voted for Blakley, against the skulduggery of Lyndon Johnson's political career. In 1954 Johnson was re-elected to the Senate by votes which were reported late, after it had became apparent that that many votes would do the trick. In preparation for the 1960 election, his machine caused the Legislature to pass a special law permitting him to run again for his job as senator and, as well, for president or vice president. But this was just too damned slick for their own good. Because after Johnson was elected vice president it was necessary to elect a senator in [illegible] and that election went to a man who publicly despises all that the Kennedy Administration, and "New York," now plainly signify to the majority of Texans and the mass of people in other far states who rarely get a chance to vote for a man with the principle to reject Rockefeller, Lehman, Javits, Harriman and the whole writhing tangle of worms in the can of bait for suckers.

California is not as badly confused as some election returns may suggest. Earl Warren did great damage there with his system of political depletion called cross-filing, which enabled a candidate without political principles to run as both Republican and Democrat. If California had a man of Barry Goldwater's quality and size he could be elected next week to any office on the roster. For that matter, Goldwater probably could be elected to almost any office in any state except New York and Illinois.

Barry did Tower some good in Texas, but his help was not actually decisive. Tower probably would have won on the strength of his total, absolute contempt for the whole dirty business of the New Deal, the Fair Deal and the New Frontier.

Nixon is still strong in California and may be the boss Republican as of now but he isn't conservative enough to win for president. He dogged it with Kennedy when he should have kicked him all over the hall with straight Republican stuff. He even made a bad picture by contrast with Kennedy's synthetic juvenility and his "unruly" hair.

He should have seen that this me-too deal was doomed to failure after Dewey's two pathetic flops and Barry Goldwater's grand success in the state which adjoins California. The most compelling demonstration of the power of conservatism occurred when Ike and Dick flew across Arizona on their way to help Senator Knowland run for governor two years ago.

With their help Knowland was slaughtered.

Without their help, Goldwater waltzed home.

Local Residents Attend Sessions To Aid Retarded

A two-day conference of teachers for trainable mentally retarded children and allied professional personnel was held Friday and Saturday at the Carnegie International Center, in New York City.

This was the eighth annual conference of its kind sponsored by the New York State Association for Retarded Children, Inc.

Attending from the local area were: Mrs. Mabelle Mix, and Mrs. Robert Gaines of Kingston, teachers of trainable classes; and Mrs. Donovan Buehring of Kingston, member of the state Education Committee.

The conference attracted teachers and professional persons from the entire state. Top personnel in the field not officially appearing were on the program.

The two-day session opened on Friday with the entire day devoted to conducted tours. Delegates from the state and guests attending were able to see the tremendous advances made in the field of training children with low IQ's by visiting two leading centers of the state, the AHRC Occupation Day Center and the AHRC Training Center and Workshop both in New York City. They also visited numerous classes for trainable children within the New York City public schools.

Far Cry From Quick Reports on Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's aides have been far less prompt with news about his back injury—described as not serious—than President Eisenhower's staff was with information about his truly serious illnesses.

You might get the impression—listening to Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger — that news just travels slower in White House circles these days. But one thing is sure.

Hottest for Salinger

Salinger is either a lot more tardy in learning what happens to his boss—or in telling the press about it—than was ever the case with James Hagerty, who was Eisenhower's press secretary.

As a result, Salinger Tuesday got into one of the hottest news conferences he's had since taking over as Kennedy's press secretary.

According to the White House, Kennedy hurt his back May 16 while in Canada turning a spadeful of earth during a ceremony. With an aching back he went to Europe for separate talks with British Prime Minister Macmillan, French President de Gaulle, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

But it wasn't until June 8, two days after Kennedy's return from Europe, that Salinger revealed the President had suffered the injury. By this time Kennedy had been in pain three weeks.

Shifts Responsibility

Why had the news been bottled up that long? Salinger put the responsibility on the President and said Kennedy hadn't even mentioned it to his personal staff.

Yet Salinger said Kennedy had been on crutches two days at his Hyannis Port, Mass., home before leaving May 30 for Europe. This raised an immediate question: Didn't Kennedy's staff know about this? If not, where was the staff?

While Salinger insisted the back injury wasn't serious—and wasn't at all related to previous back injuries which required three operations—the long delay in letting it be known gave it importance.

When Salinger finally made the news known June 8 he did so by opening his conference with the announcement that "the President will appear today using crutches."

Once Kennedy did appear on crutches, of course, the news of the injury would be out anyway. So Salinger's revelation was only going to beat public knowledge by a few hours anyway.

Salinger said Kennedy was under the care of his White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell, who had treated him before for trouble with his back.

Another Tardy Issue

Salinger on Tuesday disclosed further that a New York specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, had been called down to Florida last weekend to examine Kennedy's back. Salinger said Dr. Wade agreed with Dr. Travell this injury was not related to previous ones.

But this disclosure also was tardy.

In the first place, it wasn't made until after Kennedy had cancelled a speaking engagement. The White House said the speech was canceled so the President could give his back a chance to rest. Salinger said he himself learned only Tuesday that Dr. Wade had been called to Palm Beach Sunday.

In the second place, even Dr. Wade's appearance in the case was handled in a way that was something less than completely direct.

Salinger didn't go to Florida with Kennedy. But Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, was there. Salinger said Hatcher didn't know Dr. Wade had been called in Sunday. But Hatcher was asked specifically last Friday by The Associated Press whether Dr. Wade was being called in. This question was based on reports that he was.

Hatcher said Dr. Wade was not being called in and would not be. Hatcher said Tuesday he did learn Saturday that the New York specialist was being called on.

But he never subsequently—until Salinger talked of it—revealed this knowledge, even though he had been asked the direct question about it.

GOP Kept Press Informed

Photographers Monday were kept at a distance when Kennedy, on crutches, boarded his return plane in Florida, got off it here, and later arrived by helicopter on the White House grounds.

The President reportedly is carrying on his usual White House work.

In 1955 the press was notified within 13 hours after Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Thereafter newsmen were kept fully and continually informed.

The same thing happened in 1957 when Eisenhower suffered an ileitis attack that late required an operation. The press was notified within 12 hours after he was stricken. When Eisenhower had a small stroke in 1957 the press got the news within 24 hours.

Landing on Moon To Cost Lives, And 10 Billion

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A government official says landing a manned spacecraft on the moon will cost about $10 billion—plus a lot of human lives.

Trevor Gardner, chairman of the Air Force Space Study Committee, told a science meeting Tuesday: "I'm sure we are going to kill a lot of men in this business. But it's like testing high speed aircraft in which men have died. The risks are there and they have to be faced."

Gardner, assistant secretary of the Air Force in 1955-56, also told a joint meeting of the Aerospace Sciences and the American Rocket Society: "I am sure we can win the race if we are prepared to pay the price."

West Shokan Wins Frying Pan At Camp Weekend

The frying pan was an award for first place in camping. To make it a clean sweep, the troop also received a blue ribbon for first place in the scout skills contest.

The camping contest covers setting up and maintaining a neat and orderly camp. A panel of judges inspected each campsite and the decision was unanimous in favor of the West Shokan troop. Troop 163 received 108 points out of a possible 110.

A total of 842 boys from 103 troops participated.

The scouting skills contest included physical fitness, observation, identifying leaves, compass problems, Morse Code and first aid. Troop 163 received 60 points out of a possible 65.

This is the first time the West Shokan troop has won first place in either event.

The troop elected Wallace John into the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's honor society. The tapping ceremony was conducted on Saturday night at the camporee.

He'll Keep Order

MARSHFIELD, Mass. (AP) — It's a good guess that there'll be decorum and order in the classroom Albert J. Sinuc takes over in September, even though it is his first teaching job.

Sinuc, 42, of Brockton, got his teaching degree this week from Bridgewater State College. He decided to make teaching a second career—after retiring as a major following 21 years in the Marine Corps.

Why We Say--

ALONG SHORE: Many people believe that the name longshoreman, for someone who works loading ships is descriptive of the robust appearance that these workers quite often have. But the name actually means "along the shore men" as a designation of where they work.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Stretched out credit is becoming more available to business, big and small.

And demand for longer term financing is reported to have firmed up notably since the economy turned toward recovery in April. The supply of funds has kept pace.

In Line With U. S. Goal

This financing trend is in line with the experience of consumers, who have been learning the joys of revolving credit, longer term mortgages, and credit card living in general. It's also in line with the goal of the government, striving to lengthen its outstanding debt.

For business, banks are putting a larger share of their funds into long-term loans. Big companies, who are their best customers, are the chief borrowers. This trend to term lending has increased by 17 per cent in the last five years and the average length of this type of loan has climbed above 50 months.

More recently many smaller concerns have found equipment leasing companie extending the length of their contracts, thus making longer term credit more available all along the line. In the last five years equipment leasing (which is distinct from rentals by manufacturers) has increased seven fold, reaching $530 million in 1960, according to Nationwide Leasing Co. of Chicago.

Competition Still Keen

Trade credit terms have been stretched by many large manufacturers, often in the form of revolving credit for their customers. This trend gained ground during the recession and seems to be holding over into the recovery, perhaps because competition is still so keen.

A New York financing executive says: "Many small companies receive credit for replacement orders as soon as they've paid for the previous shipment, and the credit often stretches out for years without the account ever being cleaned up."

Commercial finance companies last year launched five-year capital loans for industry's expansion projects. These loans, mostly in the Midwest, came to $80 million in 1960 but the companies expect the volume to triple this year. A Chicago commercial finance company says the loans range from $75,000 to $2 million, and the borrower must show how the cash will be used to expand sales and profits.

Where It Comes From

Where has the money come from for this stretch out in credit terms?

Mainly from pension funds and insurance companies, says Robert Sheridan, president of Nationwide Leasing. The availability of long-term money (supply) and the growth pressures on industry (demand) have kept step, he says. This has made for a smooth, steady increase in long-term financing instead of a sudden change.

Local Farm Credit Agent to Attend In-Service Class

C. Kenneth Taber of the Cooperative Farm Credit office at Kingston has been selected to attend the Cooperative Farm Credit In-Service Training School at Cornell University, during the week of June 18.

The school is jointly sponsored by the New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, and the Farm Credit Banks of Springfield, Mass. Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for professional improvement in those special fields related to farm credit service.

Taber has been in charge of the Kingston office since it was opened in 1943. Presently through this office there are 175 Federal Land Bank Association members with a mortgage loan volume of over one and one half million dollars. There are also 102 Farmer Production Credit Association members with a short term loan volume of over $468,000.

Thirty-five men have been registered. The courses scheduled include Professor Raymond Albrectsen—New Developments in Dairy Production; Professor L. C. Cunningham — Economics of Farm Machinery and Structures; Professor K. L. Robinson—Public Problems in Agriculture and Professor S. W. Warren—Farm Management.

Director of the school will be W. H. Hayes, vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Springfield and the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and Professor C. A. Bratton will be executive secretary.

Dutchess Leads State in Number In Institutions

A report from the Office of Biostatistics of the State Health Department based on figures as of Jan. 1 shows that Dutchess County has a heavier concentration of persons in state and federal institutions within its borders than any other county of the state.

According to the figures Dutchess had 17,712 persons in institutions the first of this year, with 1,869 in Green Haven State prison; 3,692 in Wassaic State school; 4,817 in the Harlem Valley State hospital; 2,004 in Matteawan State Hospital for Criminally insane; 5,115 in Hudson River State Hospital and 215 in the VA hospital at Castle Point.

Ulster County had 1,654 persons in institutions, including 142 in the Highland Boys' school; 505 in Wallkill prison and 1,007 in the Napanoch Correctional Institution.

Greene County has only the Vocational school at West Coxsackie with 636 boys.

Orange County's population in institutions totals 4,105, with 3,181 in the Middletown State Hospital; 215 in the New Hampton Boys' school; 258 in the Otisville Boys' school and 451 in the Warwick Boys' school.

Ramer Promoted In Bridge Office

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Edward J. Ramer, 69, of Albany has been promoted to deputy chief of the Bridge Division of the State Public Works Department.

Ramer succeeds Carroll F. Blanchard, 71, of Albany, in the $18,630-a-year post. Blanchard retired after 40 years as a state engineer. Ramer, with the department 34 years, had been assistant deputy chief engineer.

In another state promotion, John Cummings of Albany was named director of the vocational rehabilitation division of the State Education Department.

Cummings will receive $12,880 a year as head of the division, which assists handicapped persons in obtaining employment. He had been acting director since 1959.

Ice Cream Strike Ends Today in Albany Area

Local 787 of the Teamsters Union, which represents ice-cream shippers and deliverymen, and the dairies agreed Tuesday night on a new contract.

Details were not disclosed.

The union struck the Borden Co., Norman's Kill Farm Dairy Co., and Sealtest Dairy Products for higher wages.

P-TA Has Final Season Meeting; Installs Officers

WEST HURLEY—A highly successful year was climaxed by the final meeting of the West Hurley P-TA held recently. The meeting was highlighted by the installation of the officers for the 1961-62 season.

New officers include president, Lloyd Collins; first vice president, Mrs. Clarence Anderson; second vice president, Mrs. Andrew Horvath; recording secretary Mrs. William Schwartz; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Erhardt Hennemann; treasurer, Lawrence Deede; executive committee, Walter Van Wagenen.

They were installed by David Fox.

After the business meeting pictures, slides and snapshots of the P-TA Follies held April 21, 22 were shown. The best attendance award was won by the Second Grade.

A large group of local membership attended the regional P-TA conference held at Grossingers on May 25.

Big Rains Force Ravena Residents To Purify Water

RAVENA, N.Y. (AP) — The 3,000 residents of ths Albany County village again were under orders today to boil their water.

Dr. Norbert P. Ringelmann of the county health department said recent heavy rains had washed more organic matter into the village watershed than normal chlorine treatment could handle.

Inadequate purification was blamed for an outbreak of diarrhea in Janury 1960, that struck more than half the village residents. A similar order was issued then.

Morehouse Lauds Advancement of StateUnderRocky

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller, by replacing "confused commotion with affirmative action," has made "heroic progress in restoring New York to its pre-eminence," a Republican spokesman says.

State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said the Republican governor, who succeeded Democrat Averell Harriman, also replaced "concern for the next headline with concern for the next generation."

Morhouse made the remarks in a speech Tuesday night at a joint meeting of Young Republican Clubs of Montgomery and Fulton counties.

Local police found Tuesday disorderly conduct day.

Six arrests, police said, date back to a reported May 28 altercation downtown, and three were booked for alleged loitering on school property without permission, after a reported fight in the area.

Arrested for alleged participation in name calling and scuffling downtown reportedly involving some of the group were: Moses Harrell, 26, of Van Buren Street; Edward Scarfo, 44, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue; Arthur Boughton, 45, of 83 Hasbrouck Avenue; Marie Boughton, 42, of the same address, and Alfonzo Williams, 32, of 49 Meadow Street, and Howard Dawson, 22, of 60 East Strand.

Harrell's case Tuesday night was put over to June 20 and the others were adjourned to June 21. It is claimed that Boughton became involved with the others as he came out of his house to defend a nephew, and it was indicated that the trouble started with some all-round name calling on East Union Street. The arrests were on warrants executed by officers Garvin Fisher, Thomas Coffey, and James Amato.

A police report at 1:30 p. m., yesterday said, Henry C. Humphrey, 21, and twin brother, Harold, and younger brother, William, 16, all of 9 East Pierpont Street, were booked on disorderly conduct charges for allegedly having lingered on the MJM School property. It was reported that a fight had been in progress before police arrived.

City Judge Aaron E. Klein last night imposed a suspended sentence of 10 days each in jail.

Gotham Snarled

motorists — accustomed to the bumper-to-bumper routine — found themselves hopelessly tangled face-to-face as well.

In hospitals, some patients were caught on operating tables. Emergency generators were thrown into use and disaster averted.

The temperature had reached 96 degrees at midafternoon, a record for the date and the highest in two years. Throughout the city air conditioners droned by the hundreds of thousands.

But the Consolidated Edison Co. —although reporting it had had the largest load in history from 3 to 4 p.m.—said overloading had not caused the power failure.

The company said the trouble appeared to have started when a circuit-breaker caught fire in a transformer at a substation on West 65th Street between Amsterdam and West End Avenues, where high voltage is reduced for distribution into the streets.

As a result, the company said, a breakdown also occurred at a substation on East 63rd Street and a substation in Long Island City, across the East River, which supplies power to Manhattan.

Race to Beat Darkness

While they waited for power to return, the harried, sweating New Yorkers remembered with some anxiety that it had taken 8 to 12 hours to restore power in a similar blackout Aug. 17, 1959.

Later, power was restored in an irregular pattern on the West Side from 43rd to 71st streets. All power was back by 9:27 p.m., an hour after sunset.

A force of 3,500 policemen was ordered into the blacked-out area, supplemented by scores of civil defense workers. Motorists were warned to keep out. Searchlights were rushed to strategic intersections.

Only the alternating current was affected in the power failure. The flow of direct current was not impeded.

Top Hotels Affected

World-renowned hotels—the Astor on Times Square, the Park-Sheraton on the West Side and the Waldorf-Astoria on the East Side—were without air conditioning and electric light.

Telephone service was continued throughout the area, through use of special equipment.

The Independent subway division, the city's newest and fastest, was knocked out for an hour above 42nd street. Tens of thousands of its rush hour passengers were stranded, many in tunnels beneath the East River.

Fortunately, the electrified third rails stayed on, supplied by direct current, and the stranded travelers had lights and fans. Still, many fainted.

Laos Bargaining May Be Closer

GENEVA (AP)—The storm of East-West accusations at the 14-nation Laos conference showed signs of abating today and long-delayed bargaining on rival peace plans may be near.

Western spokesmen indicated they are ready to call for the conference to break up into working groups to consider Soviet and Western proposals for unifying and neutralizing the Southeast Asian kingdom and keeping it peaceful.

The Soviets, who accused the West Tuesday of stalling and said the conference should get to work, are expected to demand bargaining sessions. These are distasteful to the West because they usually turn into propaganda sounding boards.

Mboya's Brother Talks for Lions

Peter Okongo, 16-year-old student at the New Paltz Campus School of the State University of Education in New Paltz, spoke of his own country and the problems confronting his people today.

Okong'o told of the crude school system in Kenya. He related that he himself had not started school until he was 12 years of age, and then had no books or pencils, and there were no chairs in classrooms. Peter's efforts to advance himself, earned for him a scholarship to a better school in Kenya, and in turn, he was one of 225 students awarded a scholarship and flown to the United States Airlift Program last Fall.

In reference to the troubled areas of the southern states in this country, Okong'o said he was "firmly convinced that segregation is outmoded," and "the time is here for the Negro to reach for greater things in life."

In speaking of his own country, Okong'o said that while sincere help is wholeheartedly welcomed in Africa, the people there do not want outsiders ruling their country. He said Africans are willing to share with anyone, but these people must recognize that they must act and accept things as Africans.

Red Hook Fire Loss Estimated $453,000

Losses estimated at $453,000 resulted from fire of undetermined origin which raced through a long concrete storage house on Norton Road, Red Hook, Tuesday afternoon, according to Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan.

Quinlan said television and movie film owned by various companies were stored in the building owned by Joseph L. O'Conner, Red Hook. The building was leased by Rudolph Mayer, of 51-10 21st Street, Long Island City.

The sheriff said 4,500 rolls of films, valued at $100 each were destroyed by the flames that swept out of control shortly after the fire was discovered despite the combined efforts of fire companies from Red Hook and Rhinebeck.

Quinlan told The Freeman there is a possibility that heat from the rays of the sun, shining through skylights on the roof may have caused a spontaneous combustion. The sheriff said the origin was not definitely determined and agents from the National Board of Fire Underwriters are expected to investigate Thursday.

Deputy Sheriffs Charles Borchers and Robert Mahar made preliminary investigation of the fire yesterday. They said a gasoline can was found next to a nearby unoccupied house, but Quinlan said apparently the can had no connection with the fire.

Quinlan also said the building was valued at $3,000. It was completely gutted.

Union Man Says Others Hired for People Let Go

A representative of the Furniture Workers of America, AFL-CIO said today that persons have been hired to replace employes of the Levine Brothers Bag Co., Inc., 46 Mill Street, who, he charges, were let go because of effort to gain union recognition for the plant.

James Griesi, the representative, said that two women and one male employe of the plant have been released. The company employes 18, and Griesi claims that 70 per cent of them are interested in union representation.

The male employe, he said, had been employed 14 years as a bailer, and the wage rate at the time of his discharge was $1.45 an hour. He claims he had no previous trouble with his employer, nor was there any fault found with his work. The discharged employe, Griesi said, had contacted him last month and said the plant's employes were interested in a union.

Griesi said he had informed the plant's management June 2 that a majority of employes were interested in a union, and was told that management was not going to let a union tell it what to do after "it took 28 years to establish the business."

The wage scale of the women at the plant was reported at $1.10 an hour.

Griesi said earlier in the month he would file charges of unfair labor practices with the National Labor Relations Board.

Even Jackie in Dark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Kennedy kept his back injury a secret from Mrs. Kennedy.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters he understood she first learned of it from stories in the newspapers while she was vacationing in Greece last week.

When Mrs. Kennedy found out, Salinger said, she sent a message to her husband saying she thought she should return to Washington to be with him. But Kennedy told her not to, he said.

Until she read of the back strain which caused the President to walk on crutches, Salinger said, "It is my belief that Mrs. Kennedy did not know anything about it."

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Ben Jones, 78, veteran Calumet Farm thoroughbred horse trainer and known in horse circles throughout the world, died Tuesday, apparently of a heart attack. Jones, who trained six Kentucky Derby winners, a record, retired in 1957. He was born near Parnell, Ky.

Crew of 17 Feared Lost

TOKYO (AP)—Wreckage of a missing fishing boat was found off north Japan today and the ship's 17 crew members were feared lost.

Hamblin, Former Trooper of Area Is Heart Victim

A retired trooper who served as justice of the peace in the Town of Wallkill, Orange County, was found dead in his bed about noon Tuesday.

William Hamblin, 56, who retired from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation as a sergeant in 1956, reportedly died of a heart attack.

Hamblin had presided at a case in magistrate's court about 2 a. m. yesterday and retired late. His wife left the following morning for Tarrytown without waking her husband but on her return about noon found him dead.

He was serving with the BCI out of the Middletown barracks when he retired five years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at Grace Episcopal Church, Middletown, with burial in the Oak Hill Cemetery, Nyack.

German Is Given Three Years for Spying on U.S.

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—A German employed in the U.S. Army library at Frankfurt was sentenced today to three years in prison on charges of spying on U.S. forces for the East German intelligence service.

The West German federal Supreme Court found that Kurt Kuehn, 36, had received 10,000 marke—$2,500—for supplying the East Germans with over 20,000 microphotoed pages of U.S. Army manuals.

Miller's Personal Guess

Thinks Nixon Will Be Coast Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Chairman William E. Miller has added some heat to the fire Republicans seem to be building to get Richard M. Nixon into the 1962 California governor's race.

Miller tossed off the "personal guess" Tuesday that when the time comes the former vice president will decide he is the only man who can save the sagging California GOP by running against Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and may become a contender for the party's 1964 presidential nomination, puts it another way. He says that Nixon either will have to run for state office or bow out of politics.

The opinions of Miller, Goldwater and Republicans of similar views are unlikely to be compelling with Nixon. The defeated 1960 Republican presidential nominee is a man who is known for making his own political decisions.

But Miller aptly sketched the dilemma when the national chairman noted in a National Press Club speech that Nixon had pledged himself to try to rebuild the party organization in California. If opinion polls indicate that only Nixon could beat Brown, Miller said there would be "tremendous pressure" on him to run.

Nixon has fended off this pressure while he has tested out the reaction to his preferred plan to keep himself in the political spotlight. This involves the kind of speeches he has been making at party rallies, plus private efforts to get some of his friends into contests for governor's offices.

This strategy seems designed to keep Nixon free from entangling state commitments so that he will be available for another presidential nomination in 1964.

Four Reasons Given

After enumerating all of the above actions, the four reasons for opposing Federal aid to education were outlined. They are as follows: (1) Federal aid leads to further centralized control in the federal government. (2) Arguments in favor of federal aid are not too well documented and some of the statistics have been found, to be inaccurate. (3) Much has been accomplished by states to provide for the increasing population during the period of most rapid increase. Statistics show that the rate of school population increase will be smaller in the future. (4) States, which under the proposed arbitrary aid formula, would pay much more in federal taxes than they would receive, have already expended most to take care of the school situation within the state and individual localities.

To Meet in September

Robert Carlzon recently elected president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was present at the meeting and spoke briefly. He is an ex-officio member of the board.

Action was also taken cancelling the regular meetings of the board of directors for July and August. Business will be handled by the executive committee unless a special meeting is called by the president. The next regular meting will be held September 12.

Regional Council Favors Jetport At Pine Island

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—The recently formed Regional Chamber of Commerce Council went on record Tuesday night as favoring a jetport in the Pine Island section of Orange County.

But the council stipulated that landowners should be sufficiently compensated for any land taken for such a site.

The vote on the proposal was 15 to 1 with six abstentions. The Pine Island representative voted against it.

The Regional Chamber of Commerce Council, formed four months ago, is composed of representatives from communities in Southern New York, Northern New Jersey and Pike County, Pa.

The Port of New York Authority plans to build a jetport, but no site has been picked.

Drivers Are Fined On Traffic Counts In Court Tuesday

A driver was fined $60 and another paid $50 in city court Tuesday night on traffic charges and others paid smaller fines totaling $63.

Wayne Bonesteel, 17, of Box 38, Ulster Park, charged with speeding as a second offender, was fined $50 on that charge and $10 for an infraction involving a junior operator's license.

Rita Sachs, 31, of Route 5, Box 24, Saugerties, also listed for a second offense of speeding, paid $50. Warren Swart, 19, of 246 West Chestnut Street, charged with speeding, was given the choice of a $15 fine or spending 15 days in jail. The fine was paid.

Robert Shaller, 34, of 68 Glen Street, charged with a traffic light violation, and driving with an expired license was fined $5 on the first and $3 on the other charge.

Timothy Countryman, 38, of 59 North Front Street, charged with disorderly conduct for creating a disturbance near 586 Broadway recently, was fined $10.

Charged with traffic light violations, Wallace Fiore, 28, of Box 133, Highland; Lila Newton, 28, of 200 Broadway, Port Ewen, and Martha Valk, of 94 Washington Avenue, Saugerties, were fined $5 each. Hugo Paisecki, of 34 Boulevard, and Thomas J. Malone, 37, of RD 2, Box 91-A, Kingston, paid $5 each, one for a stop-sign and the other for a one-way street infraction.

Samuel Turck, 28, of North Street, charged with third degree assault, said he wished to obtain counsel, and the case was put over to June 20. The arrest was by Detective Albert Hutton, and Delores Campanella, 23, of Oak Ledge, Saugerties, was listed as the complainant.

Financial and Commercial

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 248.60 with industrials up 1.30 rails up .40 and utilities up .10.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers as the list staged a technical snapback from two sessions of sharp decline.

The trend was higher among steels, motors, chemicals, rails and tobaccos. Coppers, drugs, aircrafts and farm implements were mixed.

A 2-point upswing by Du Pont helped buttress the averages. Gains of close to a point by Kennecott, U.S. Steel and Allied Chemical were also helpful in this respect.

Upjohn fell 1¼.

Buffalo Men Held For Try at Arson

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Three men have been charged with attempted third-degree arson in connection with what police investigators describe as a downtown building wired for fire.

State and county law enforcement officers arrested the three Tuesday outside a four-story business building.

Held in bail were:

Pascal F. Politano, 38, Frank Pusatieri, 34, and Salvatore Varco, 40, all of Buffalo. Politano was held in $50,000 bail and the other two in $25,000 bail each.

Police said they found a makeshift device that was timed to start a fire in the second floor. The upper three floors of the building are vacant and the lower store houses a book shop and a novelty store.

State Police, who said they had had the three men under surveillance for the last six months and had questioned them about a number of fires, had asked the Erie County district attorney's office and the Sheriff's Department to help in the investigation.

Says Dorpian Native May Be CIA Head

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Telford Taylor, a retired brigadier general, is receiving active support to succeed Allen W. Dulles as head of the Central Intelligence Agency, The Newark Star-Ledger said today.

In a Washington report, Edward J. Mowery, a special writer for the Newhouse Newspapers, said Taylor's supporters claim the New York lawyer has been interviewed extensively for the CIA post. Taylor is a native of Schenectady, N.Y.

His possible nomination has reached the "cloak room 'discussion' stage" and has the sympathy of Walter W. Rostow, deputy special assistant to the President for national security affairs, the paper said.

Others under consideration for the CIA post are Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Dep. Atty. Gen. Byron White and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Mowery reported.

Dulles, 68, has not indicated that he is going to step down as head of the intelligency agency.

Seek Swidler Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) —Administration forces today seek Senate approval of Joseph C. Swidler as a member of the Federal Power Commission. The Tennessee lawyer is President Kennedy's choice for the agency's future chairman.

Action on Swidler's nomination follows Tuesday's Senate confirmation of Howard V. Morgan as an FPC member after a bitter debate.

Shultz Is Elected

Saipan, Tinian and Okinawa campaigns.

Active in Civic Affairs

In recent years Mr. Shultz has been active in various civic and community affairs. He is presently a trustee of the Rondout Savings Bank, a vice president of the Kingston Boys Club, president and a director of Winnisook Inc., a member of the board of governors of Winnisook Club, a trustee of Kingston Academy and a member of various other organizations including the Princeton Club of New York. He has been active in Princeton affairs and is presently serving as Ulster County chairman of a capital funds drive to raise $53,000,000 for Princeton University.

He is married to the former Barbara Hinkley Rodie of Kingston and they have three children. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Shultz, of Altamont, are both former longtime residents of Kingston.

Kenny Man Is Winner

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Thomas Gangemi, backed by the strong Hudson County Democratic organization of John V. Kenny, was elected mayor of Jersey City in Tuesday's runoff election.

Gangemi, Hudson County supervisor, piled up 57,927 votes to defeat Parks Director Bernard J. Berry who collected 43,277 with all 231 districts reporting.

Milk Output Gains

The Crop Reporting Board said today that milk production in herds checked by crop reporters averaged 25.32 pounds per cow on June 1, about 2 per cent above the previous record for that date set a year ago.

OAS Report Favorable

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Investigators of the Organization of American States will return to Washington Thursday. Indications are that their report will look favorably on welcoming the Dominican Republic back into the family of American nations.

The decision of the OAS subcommittee to leave after five days of intensive fact finding came as a general surprise. It had been understood the team would leave two representatives here to keep tabs on things while the other two returned to present a preliminary report to the OAS.

Lutheran Group Votes to Merge With 3 Others

SEATTLE (AP) — The Augustana Lutheran Church has voted 495-21 to merge with three other Lutheran groups into the Lutheran Church in America.

The action came Tuesday. Representatives of the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, the American Evangelical Lutheran church, the United Lutheran Church in America and the Augustana Church have been negotiating a merger for five years.

A spokesman for the Augustana Lutherans said the United Lutheran Church in America has ratified the action, and the two other groups are expected to give their approval at conventions this summer.

imposed sentence. She was sent to jail.

Bail Furnished

Later an application for bail was made to County Judge Raymond J. Mino who fixed bail at $500 cash pending appeal from the judgement of conviction by Justice of the Peace Baumgarten.

Three of five persons charged with violation of the constable's order to take shelter have pleaded guilty to the charge. All were given five days in jail and fined $25. They are Dorothy Secrest of Woodstock, Mona Fletcher of Lake Hill and Holley Cantine Jr., of Woodstock. Two have paid their fines after completion of a five day jail sentence. Only Dorothy Secrest has declined to pay the $25 fine and remains in jail.

One case is still pending. Gerlen Kelcey Jacober of Woodstock will have a trial on June 27 at 7 p. m. before Justice Baumgarten following a plea of innocent.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband and I will soon retire, and we would like to invest in Consolidated Edison stock. We have $10,000 for this purpose, and my husband will not consider any other stock. Would you please advise us how much this amount of money will buy and also what income we can expect on a monthly basis? How should we go about buying it?" O. S.

A) Let me take your last question first. So many readers inquire how to start buying securities that I'm going to devote today's column to this subject and to the balance of your question.

Buying and selling securities is a faith and credit business. You have to find a broker you can get to know and trust, and he in turn has to rely on you to carry out your commitments.

Inquire at your bank or from your employer for the name of a reliable broker. Go to see this man and tell him you'd like him to handle your business. Personally, I would insist on dealing with a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers.

A broker will require from you about the same information that is needed to open an account in a department store. If your account is approved, he will place orders for you and bill you just as any other merchant does.

Now I will discuss your investment of $10,000 in Consolidated Edison (NYSE). This is a good conservative stock, but I personally believe that your husband should deversify his investment. There are lots of other strong stocks which offer good security and at least as good prospects.

However, if your $10,000 is all placed in Consolidated Edison, it would purchase 123 shares at a price of around $81. Dividends on this stock are paid quarterly, not monthly, at a rate of $0.75 each March, June, September and December. Total income on your investment would be $369 anually.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Committee Sets Buffalo Hearing On Liquor Laws

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An interim hearing by a state legislative committee on liquor laws will be conducted here Monday with attention focused on two recent actions by the State Liquor Authority.

The SLA last month suspended the liquor licenses of 22 establishments in the city and suburbs after an under-aged girl testified that she had been served drinks in all of them. There have been strong protests here and elsewhere in the state concerning the authority's ban on "drink frames" in bowling alleys where liquor licenses are held.

Bloodshed Threatens

The first solid effort to end the 6½-year war in the North African territory broke down Tuesday when the French delegation called for a "reflection period" of 10 to 15 days, apparently hoping that the exiled rebel regime in Tunis would ease its tough, no-compromise stand.

'Riders' Split Up

Fourteen white and Negro groups of seven today to continue their assault-by-bus on segregation in the South.

The first group is to depart from Wilmington, N.C., by scheduled public bus for Charleston, S.C., with the second group traveling the same rout ea few hours later.

All intend to spend the night in Charleston and resume their journey to Jacksonville, Fla. Thursday morning. They are not passing through Alabama or Missippi.

Director of FDR Library Is Named To U. S. Position

Appointment of Herman Kahn, director of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library, Hyde Park, since 1948 as a special assistant to the archivist of the United States, was announced Monday.

Kahn will assist the archivist, Dr. Wayne C. Grover in administering the Presidential library system, which includes the Roosevelt library, the Eisenhower library under construction at Abilene, Kan., and the Harry S. Truman library at Independence, Mo.

John L. Moore, General services administrator, Washington, D. C., also reported that Dr. Elizabeth Drewry, chief of the Record Retirement branch of GSA's National Archives and Records service, will succeed Kahn at Hyde Park.

A year ago Kahn received the GSA distinguished service award for having established the Roosevelt library, and his contributions to development of the Presidential library system. A native of Rochester, Kahn will receive an annual salary of $15,290.

Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio, were joined by rail on Feb. 18, 1851.

County Numismatic Club to Sponsor CoinShowSunday

Encased postage stamps used during the Civil War as a medium of exchange due to the shortage of metal coins, will be featured in one of many displays arranged for the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club coin show and jamboree Sunday at Stuyvesant Kingston Hotel. The exhibition will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The idea was patented by J. Gault, a New York City merchant, in 1862.

Many concerns used the encased postage stamps as an advertising medium and had the firm name embossed on the back of the metal case. Clear mica covered the front of the case so the denomination of the stamp was visible.

Gault issued 11 denominations, 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 12, 24, 30 and 90 cents. Many of them today are the prized possessions of coin or stamp collectors. The encased postage stamp is the common ground of the stamp and coin collectors.

The exhibition will also include ancient coins, paper money, curious coins and many other mediums of exchange.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio soap operas which invariably used organ music for their background gave the instrument some of its saccharine reputation. Now television is helping restore the organ to its deserved high place.

TV daytime serials still rely on the organ to provide dramatic accents and over-all atmosphere. But nowadays the music is much more sophisticated. Billy Nalle the organist on the "Young Dr. Malone" series on NBC, plays jazz for the show's music, improvising and weaving themes together as the action proceeds.

Nalle broke the organ-taboo in television. He played a jazz background on a CBS "Suspense" show in 1953 — long before the dramatic "Peter Gunn" theme music was even dreamed about.

The most interesting part of Tuesday night's "TV Guide Awards Show" on NBC was the result of the voting by readers on their favorite shows and performers. Presumably the most dedicated of TV viewers were the ones who cast their ballots in the magazine's poll. There were eight categories of shows.

"Sing Along With Mitch" won as the best musical or variety show. NBC's election night coverage and its nightly Huntley-Brinkley news report were tops in their current events categories.

"Macbeth," an NBC Hall of Fame special, was chosen as the best dramatic program of the season. CBS' "The Andy Griffith Show" was picked by the public as its favorite new series, while CBS' "Perry Mason" and its star, Raymond Burr, were declared the favorite series and the favorite male star. Carol Burnett, of CBS' "Garry Moore Show," was voted the favorite female star.

The program wasted little time passing out the awards, and most of the 60 minutes was devoted to a series of rather uninspired sketches gently kidding—as usual — television ratings, commercials, cue cards, Westerns and private eyes.

Recommended tonight: Mystery Theatre, NBC, 9-10 (EDT)—premiere of a series of English films replacing the Perry Como Show for the summer; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11—"Trial Without Jury," starring Richard Kiley.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I wonder how many readers ever really lived in New York City, which is known as the stone and iron city, with its endless pavements and tall buildings. I remember my years down there. Folks would talk about spring in Paris, and cherry blossoms in Washington, but to me, there was no place like my Ulster County in the spring. I think it was John Burroughs who once wrote, that one can write best about the outdoors and this section when working indoors like he did in Washington.

You cannot imagine how eager New Yorkers are to enjoy a little sunshine. Lunchtime, they walk in it, they sit all around the parks and buildings and let the sun tan them in the short time they have. The girls at the "Y" down there used to say to me, "You're from Kingston, how far is it from Ellenville, or Woodstock . . ." where they used to spend their meager two weeks vacation. They could not believe that I was ten minutes ride from a beach, from Greenkill Park, and had the country all around me. That we picked fruit off trees, and berries from vines, without it ever seeing a market basket.

When you are a cliff dweller on the 18th floor or so, you look out, and all you see is another building, with a court of stone below, and you cannot see the sky and do not know what the weather is like outside. You have central heat, which is usually too hot and air-conditioned which is unnatural in the city. The subways had fans on the ceiling but it brought no relief at all, as I remember. On Sundays everyone went somewhere, and it was the same rush hour like on a working day, whether to the beach or office.

I understand that Fifth Avenue is going in for plants and flowers in pots like we have on Wall Street now, and even miniature fountains. Rockefeller Center has a change of flower arrangements weekly, I am told, to the delight of photographers. Now that New York is a stone and iron city, and cement or blacktop is over everything they want to go back to nature. Walking on grass is a treat.

Even up here, I know our scurry-hurry life makes many of us walk around with a serious important frown on our faces. I see many folks who seem to have big important deals on their mind, or perhaps social events that will get them somewhere in the future. New York City is full of people like that. Perhaps they never stooped to plant and water a flower, or stopped and listened to the music of the wind in big maple trees like we have all around us, or to a strange bird call to its mate. I hope I never get too far away from the simple things in life, of which there are so much around us, especially in this fine weather.

The other day, I read something from a foreign newspaper, about spring in New York City, and after the reporter covered Fifth Avenue Rockefeller Center, she said the views along the Hudson River are the most picturesque. One incident she told was about a little lady bringing a basketful of potted plants to Central Park. She took these little flower pots and placed them carefully on the bench alongside of her. When asked if they were for sale. She said, "No . . . I have a little dark room, and I am afraid my flowers will die from lack of sunshine, so on nice days I bring them here, so they can grow strong from the warm sun."

Berry Festival, Bazaar Set for Port Ewen Church

Another event in the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial celebration will take place Thursday night when Port Ewen Reformed Church will hold a strawberry festival and bazaar. The festival will be held at the church hall, Salem Street, Port Ewen.

Dinner will be served at 5 and 6 p. m., the highlight being old fashioned strawberry shortcake. In addition to the dinner, there will be the following booths, cakes and candy, cards and handkerchief, fancy article, miscellaneous items.

All booths will be open at 4 p. m. and will remain open throughout the festival.

Two other events are also scheduled for this week as part of the Town of Esopus 150th anniversity fete. Friday at 8 p. m. a John Burroughs lecture in honor of the famous Town of Esopue naturalist, will be held at the Town Hall, Port Ewen. Participating in the program will be Dr. Heins Meng, a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at New Paltz, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley, a resident of Wast Park and a granddaughter of John Burroughs.

Saturday at 1:30 p. m. a special Little League baseball program will be presented at Ross Park, Port Ewen. Featured will be a double header baseball program between teams of the Town of Esopus Little League and teams of the Ellenville Little League.

The public is invited to attend all of the events in the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial celebration.

Ellenville C of C Installs, Major Problems Aired

Members of the Ellenville Area Chamber of Commerce and village officials attended a dinner and Meeting Monday night to discuss major problems in the community and possible solutions, which will be further aired at a special meeting Friday night of the Town of Wawarsing Board.

Village Manager John Weichsel and Mayor Eugene Glusker were among guests at the meet-at which Henry Fazzano, newly elected president of the Chamber of Commerce was installed.

Requests from the Dyna-Foam Corp., for improved roads in the vicinity of their property in the Town of Wawarsing, will be brought up at the special meeting of the Town Board June 16, it was reported. According to reports, Dyna-Foam officials are considering expansion of the plant either in the Town of Wawarsing or at Goshen, and the Ellenville Chamber members and town officials and other groups, hope to have road improvements made so the company will expand in this area rather than in Goshen.

Another project of major interests to Chamber officials is the ski center being developed by Joseph Tso of Mt. Meenegha, where improved roads are vitally needed, it was reported.

At last night's Chamber meeting, others items discussed included proposed reactivation of the Sam's Point area, where development and beautification is being planned.

The Chamber group also discussed proposals to put the organization on a year's basis instead of a part-time operation. According to Executive Director Sidney Sinick, who also is chairman of the Regional Chamber of Commerce Council which represents 60 to 65 Chamber organizations in three states.

Sales Tax Take Best Since 1957, Po'keepsie Says

Retail sales tax receipts in the City of Poughkeepsie for the first five months of 1961 totaled $247,347.34, an increase of $9,-695.98 above the total of $237,-651.36 collected for the same period last year.

Finance Commissioner Aubrey B. Coons noted a review of the Poughkeepsie sales tax income during the last five years showed the 1960 receipts of $771,909.66 exceeded the 1959 total of $745,-035.10 by $26,874.56.

Coons said the 1960 receipts were the greatest since the 1957 record year when $804,403.33 total was recorded. The 1955 sales tax yield was $747,761.36; 1956 was $783,582.43 and 1958, $756,-309.84.

Dutchess to Have Children's Judge

A post of separate Children's Court judge at a salary of $6,000 was created Monday by the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors and at the same meeting the salary of County Judge John R. Schwartz was increased to $20,000 a year.

The salary increases and the new judgeship will be effective on Jan. 1, when Schwartz will relinquish Children's Court duties for which he now receives $3,000. The county judge salary at present is $17,000.

The vote on the new Children's Court post was 24 to 6. On the resolution increasing the county judge's salary was 23 to 7 for approval.

Savings Banks Support Cabinet Of Urban Affairs

Washington, June 14—Strong support for the establishment of a cabinet Department of Urban Affairs and Housing (H. R. 6433) was given today by the national Association of Mutual Savings Banks in a statement to the House Subcommittee on Executive and Legislative Reorganization.

In the statement, Robert M. Morgan, chairman of the National Association's Committee on Mortgage Investments, and president of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, pointed out that mutual savings banks are particularly interested in urban affairs and housing, not merely because these thrift institutions have two-thirds of their total assets invested in mortgage loans, but also because for the most part these banks are located in the central ccre of the older urban communities.

"As a consequence," he noted, "problems in urban affairs—central city decay, transportation and land use, renewal and rehabilitation—thrust themselves upon mutual savings banks for solution. . . . In this regard, savings bankers in several cities have taken an active part in worknig with local government officials and private citizens on urban revitalization programs and in providing financing for the building and rebuilding necessary."

One change in the proposed legislation suggested by the National Association was that the Federal Housing Administration be transferred to the new Department intact, rather than abolished as called for at present. Mr. Morgan said that to abolish FHA, which has become a trademark of success in government-industry cooperation, would imply a downgrading of housing and private mortgage finance in the structure of the new Cabinet Department. He recommended the appointment of an Under Secretary to handle FHA matters.

Mr. Morgan cautioned against too many functions being included in the purview of the new Department, lest the importance of housing and urban renewal be diluted by the diversion of attention to other miscellaneos facets of urban affairs. He regretted that the Declaration of Policy of the bill makes little or no mention of the part played by private enterprise in carrying out the objectives of the new Department, and suggested that the prime role of private institutions — financial, construction, and other—in implementing the objectives of the bill be stressed at the outset.

Similar testimony is expected to be filed with a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Government Operations.

Service to Mark Lutheran Pastor's 30th Anniversary

A special service will be held to honor the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Market Street, Saugerties on Sunday at 11 a. m.

The service is in recognition of his completion of 30 years in the ministry of the Lutheran Church. Pastor Cowen was ordained at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Mt. Vernon on June 26, 1931, into the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England. Due to special commitments the service is being held June 18.

The Rev. Andrew Brndjar, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Danbury, Conn., will be the guest preacher for the occasion. The Rev. Mr. Brndjar was a classmate of Pastor Cowen at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., and a roommate at Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary, where they were graduated in 1931.

Wilbur Cowen Jr., a nephew of the pastor, will read the lessons at the service. He was graduated from Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pa., in 1961 and will enter Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary in the fall to prepare for the Lutheran ministry.

Paraments for the altar, lecturn and pulpit as well as the stoles of the pastors will be red, the color used for festive services.

The order of service will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Cowen.

The second setting of the Lutheran service will be led by the pastor. The anthem will be sung by Atonement Choir under the direction of Donald S. Fellows, choir director with Mrs. Fellows at the organ.

The committee in charge of the service of recognition are Clyde Rescott, Peach Street, Saugerties, chairman of the worship committee; Franklin Clum Jr., Durward Swart and Vincent Lewis, president of the church council.

Some 100 invitations have been sent out to relatives, friends and associates of the pastor, and to congregations he has served during his 30 years in the ministry of the Lutheran Church. They are:

REV. WALTER COWEN

1931-1935 Evangelical Lutheran Church, Poestenkill.

1935-1944 Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Red Bank, N. J., a mission congregation where the church edifice was built during his pastorate. He also served under the Service Men's Commission of the National Lutheran Council, as contact pastor for Lutheran service personnel at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

1944-1950 he served as pastor of Incarnation Lutheran Church, Jamaica, L. I., during which pastorate the church was completely renovated, a new organ installed, a parsonage purchased and the church debt liquidated.

1950 to 1958 he was pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Rochester, where a $17,000 redecoration program was completed. He also served for five years as Protestant chaplain at Genesee Hospital, Rochester, visiting all undesignated Protestants twice a week.

In 1958 he was called to Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties.

A family dinner will be held following the service at Forest Hill Farm, at which 25 members of the immediate family of the pastor are expected to be in attendance.

The Rev. Mr. Walter Cowen, is a native of Mt. Vernon, where he attended school and was also confirmed at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

His wife, the former Marion Alice Wolfe, is a native of Freeland, Pa., a graduate of Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia, Pa., and is a registered nurse.

They have two children, Richard Walter Cowen, a newspaper man for Call-Chronicle, Allentown, Pa., and Mrs. William Robinson, a housewife living in Fairport. They have five grandchildren.

During his 30 years in the ministry Pastor Cowen rejoices in being blessed of God with good health and states that during those 30 years he has not missed one service due to illness.

A gift of a serling silver pectoral cross will be made by his wife.

There will be an open house reception at the parsonage, 96 Market Street and on the church grounds. Invitations have been sent to members and adherents of the congregation, friends and relatives, congregrations formerly served by Pastor Cowen, and clergy of the Hudson Conference of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England.

Saugerties DAR Unit Holds Picnic

The National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Saugerties Chapter, met Saturday for its annual picnic at the home of Mrs. William Young on the lower Esopus Creek. Despite the bad weather an unusually good attendance celebrated Flag Day as well as the chapter's 60th birthday.

Following the buffet lunch, Mrs. William Russell, who was in charge of the program, read an original poem dedicated to the 31 charter members. Three of these are still living, though only one attended, Mrs. Julia Phelps of Larchmont, who addressed the members. Letters were read from the other two, Miss Anna Russell of Syracuse and Mrs. Katherine S. Taylor of New York. Other absent members sent greetings:

An essay was read on "What the American Flag Means to Me," written by Mary Rosner, eighth grade pupil, age 12, from St. Mary of the Snow. This was the winner from 19 local entries in a contest sponsored by the State DAR and was sent on for further competition.

Miss Alberta Coons and Mrs. Russell each read interesting articles on the flag and its correct use. Mrs. Carroll Nieffer, regent, reported that flags had been placed on the graves of all Revolutionary soldiers in the Katsbaan and Mt. View Cemeteries as usual for Decoration Day, and that the new flag for the library was ordered and would be formally presented later.

Mrs. Lyle J. Howland of Rome, who is state vice-regent, was introduced by Mrs. Russell as the guest speaker. She said her message to each chapter was to combat communism, first by faith in our country and then by prayer.

In closing the meeting each one was given a bag of small gifts, collected by Mrs. Robert Freligh, and each member given a decorated report of the past 10 years of the chapter. The next meeting will be early in September.

Marlboro Dedication

Bishop James H. Griffiths, STD, auxiliary bishop of New York, will bless and dedicate the new church hall at rectory of St. Mary's parish, Marlboro, Saturday 4 p. m.

Named Candidate For Local B of E

NORMAN NITSCHKE

A local industry executive, Norman Nitschke has announced his intention to run for trustee on Saugerties Central School board of education in the forthcoming election to fill the unexpired term of Kenneth Beadle who resigned a year ago because of pressure of business.

Nitschke has resided in Saugerties for the past six years and is a native of Sullivan County. He is employed by IBM as a department manager in the engineering organization.

His activities in various community projects include town chairman of the cerebral palsy fund drive in 1959, co-chairman of the Citizen's Group appointed to invesigate and recommend a proposal for new school facilities, chairman of the finance commission and member of the official board of Saugerties Methodist Church, former member of the Jaycees, and one of the co-founders of Saugerties Golden Age Club.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children Have a Built-in Shyness Toward the New

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some time ago the collapse of a love affair induced severe insomnia in a young woman who decided to seek psychotherapy. She announced this most private decision at a big party. With the loud, cynical and self-mocking bravado that characterized all her social behavior, she toasted herself in a highball crying out, "Drink to me, everybody and my trek into head-shrinking country!"

Ten months later parties had become a conscious strain for her. She was easily embarrassed. She had lost the ability to defend herself with the aggressive wise cracks that had long been her social stock-in-trade. A crack had been made in the armor of bravado behind which she'd learned to hide her shyness with people. One day she said to me:

"Oh, I'm so happy to be able to be shy again! I was always shy as a little girl but mother was so afraid I'd be a social dud that she made me ashamed of it. Now I'm being what I always was for the first time in my life."

Shyness toward new people is a more natural response in children than self-assurance.

When your small Jimmy runs out to the kitchen instead of remaining in the living room to meet someone new, he is expressing his need for caution in making new relationship. He needs time until familiarity with the stranger has assured him that she's a friend.

When we make fun of him, drag him back to the living room saying, "Come on, don't be so shy," we are ridiculing his natural self-protective equipment. We are refusing him the appropriate response to strangeness.

Denied it, Jimmy may develop a secondary response. His shame of his shyness may begin to express itself in "showing off," in efforts to win applause by cute tricks, in attention-attracting conduct that has no likeness whatever to the shy child's spontaneous and sudden decision to give interest to a new person.

Parents troubled by a child's shyness need to ask themselves the question "Am I never shy?" It can be a very upsetting question.

We adults can get destructively detached from consciousness of our own shyness—that natural uncertainty we are bound to feel at the prospect of involving ourselves with people before we know who those people are.

We are so anxious to be masters of our social fate that we don't like to register the strain we feel at the prospect of entertaining our husband's new employer, of giving our first dinner party in a new community. Yet it is shame of our own shyness that makes us uneasy with Jimmy's.

Raincoat His Garb While Clothes Dry

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Housewives, doing their washing at an automatic laundry, weren't too surprised to find a raincoat-clad mailman sitting in one of the waiting chairs during a summer thundershower.

However, amazement and then smiles crossed their faces as the mailman went to the dryer, withdrew his uniform, took it to the restroom, put it on, and then went about his duties of delivering the mail.

Pennington Drowns Despite Rescue Try

PERU, N.Y. (AP) — David J. Pennington, 16, was drowned in Lake Champlain Tuesday night despite efforts of two teen-age companions to pull him to shore.

Pennington and Judy Neaves, 14 of Peru, had swam to a boat approximately 60 feet from shore, rested and then began to swim to shore near this Clinton County community.

Pennington called for help. Judy and her brother Roger, 14, attempted to help him but he started to pull them under.

Case Sees Some Progress Made on DelawareCompact

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican Senator says that, although he is not optimistic, "certainly progress is being made" toward agreement on provisions of a Delaware River compact.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., spoke of attempts to iron out differences between the federal government and the four states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware—that are parties to the proposed compact.

Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, has objected to the federal government joining the compact as it is written. Case said Udall is seeking a veto over all development plans that may arise from the compact.

"But I believe the states will balk at giving the federal government an absolute veto," Case said during a program taped in Washington Tuesday for use by New Jersey radio stations.

Case said, however, that he was confident the proposal would be adopted by Congress.

Charges GE, Four Others Connive On Cleveland Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio Senator charges General Electric Co. and four others with "conniving" to submit identical bids to the City of Cleveland.

A spokesman for the Justice Department's anti-trust division said Tuesday, however, the companies could have arrived at the same figures without collusion.

He confirmed that the Cleveland bids, on electrical meters, were received after three of the companies pleaded no contest in federal court in Philadelphia to charges of rigged bidding.

The Justice Department spokesman said the meters "are a standardized product that follows a price catalogue."

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, said in a Senate speech Monday that identical bids of $68,691 were received twice from Westinghouse, GE, Duncan, Sangamo and Allen Electric companies last April.

Javits Says He Is Getting Work For Jobless Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., says he is making some progress in getting more defense contracts for areas of New York State that have a labor-surplus.

Javits said nine of the areas received more contracts during the first three months of this year than in the January-March period of 1960. Three areas were awarded fewer contracts and two were designated labor-surplus areas for the first time.

Javits, in a statement Tuesday night, said government defense contracts to the 14 areas during the first three months of the year totaled $50.8 million, compared with $38.5 million to 12 areas in the first three months of 1960.

The areas showing increases were Albany - Troy - Schenectady, Utica-Rome, Amsterdam, Auburn, Elmira, Jamestown-Dunkirk, Ogdensburg - Massena - Malone Plattsburgh and Wellsville.

Buffalo, Gloversville and Middletown-Newburgh-Beacon had decreases, Javits said.

The total amount of defense contracts to all New York State firms, however, dropped, while California firms continued to receive an increase in defense contracts.

"Open bidding now applies to less than 15 per cent of the $23 billion awarded in defense contracts," Javits said. "It is time we insisted upon more competition to give everyone a chance to bid for this business."

In another development, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., challenged a recent statement by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that the Democratic Kennedy administration was causing a depression for New York defense contractors.

Stratton said the contracts increased 43 per cent during the first three months of this year, compared with the last three months of the Republican Eisenhower administration.

Ottawa Approves Shipping Change

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian House of Commons has approved and sent to the Canadian Senate amendments to the Canada Shipping Act that would permit U.S. lake vessels to sail down the St. Lawrence Seaway to Montreal without pilots.

The bill, opposed by pilots' associations, was passed 134-24 Tuesday night.

Transport Minister Leon Balcer said no Canadian pilot would receive less pay or lose hi sposition because of the amendment.

Kennedy Getting Varied Treatment For Back Ailment

The ultra sound—using high frequency sound waves—is a method for applying heat to deep—seated tissues.

It is the latest treatment in a regime including rest and swimming prescribed by White House physician Dr. Janet Travell who reported Tuesday that Kennedy "continues to improve." He is still using crutches.

Busy Today

Today the President undertook a busy schedule—a late afternoon conference with top advisers on the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance after visits from a Vietnamese officials, a group of Ceylonese parliamentarians and a Michigan delegation concerned with that state's economic problems.

Reporters had a heated session Tuesday with White House news secretary Pierre Salinger on his handlings of news about the President's ailment.

The exchange was partly triggered when he disclosed that a New York specialist had been summoned to Palm Beach, Fla., last Sunday to examine Kennedy.

The disclosure came after Kennedy canceled a speaking date.

Salinger said the specialist, Dr. Freston Wade, agreed with Dr. Travell's diagnosis that Kennedy's ailment was "a new back strain no related to any previous back injury suffered by the President."

Telling All, He Says

Salinger seemed irked when newsmen prodded him for more details and he snapped: "Nothing is being withheld in this matter whatever."

When a reporter suggested that the White House didn't reveal Kennedy's pain until last week, although it said the injury occurred when Kennedy was spading dirt at a ceremonial tree planting in Canada last month, Salinger replied: "I really have no control over what the President tells me."

Salinger said he hadn't learned until Tuesday morning that Dr. Wade had been called into consultation. He added that his assistant, Andrew T. Hatcher, also had been unaware of it.

Hatcher, who accompanied Kennedy to Palm Beach while Salinger remained in Washington, was asked repeatedly during the Florida stay whether any specialist or outside doctors had been called in. Each time he said no.

"I guess I'll have to clean my room tomorrow. I can't get in it anymore!"

The township school board walked one by one into the classroom as the lone teacher was about to dismiss the class. She continued the lesson, though for their benefit. Playing her only ace she called upon her star pupil. Who wrote On the Barroom Floor? she asked him.

Flustered by a question to which he didn't know the answer the boy replied, I don't know, teacher, I didn't because I've never been in one. The teacher told him to sit down and prepared to ask another question. But she was interrupted by a member of the school board who said. Don't let that boy get off so easy. He has a guilty look about him.

Carnival Theme Set in Children's Room at Library

A carnival atmosphere will prevail in the children's room at Kingston City Library beginning next week with the opening of the library's summer reading club.

For the fourth summer since the opening of the children's room in 1958, the library will sponsor a reading program for children of grades 3 through 6. All children in these grades are invited to become members.

The program, designed to promote and sustain the reading of books during the summer vacation period, is named Summer Reading Carnival.

Registration for the carnival will continue through June 30. A clown mannikin is on hand to illustrate reading progress.

All children joining the club will receive certificates to chart their reading progress. Achievement ribbons will be awarded to a boy and girl reading the most books in each grade.

"Parents need not look upon the summer months as a period for neglecting the reading their children do," said Mabel E. Markle, children's room assistant.

"So many good books have been published during recent years, that it would be a disservice to the child to deprive him of this interesting reading," she said.

The Summer Reading Carnival officially starts July 1. Credit for books read will be given this week.

In operation through August 25, the reading carnival will be in existence for a total of eight weeks.

The children's room of the library will continue to be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

Shokan

Stephen Waligurski, Hurley, was numbered among the many weekend callers at the local museum of antiques. A teacher in the Kingston schools system, he is also official historian of the Town of Hurley.

Greene County people here Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Woloson of Cairo.

Seymour Winnie who with his family has been living in the Spillway area the past two years, is building a home on the Winnie Woodlot on the east side of the Ashokan mountain road.

Donald Garner recently attended the golden anniversary of the Indianapolis 500. He made the trip with Thomas Aley and Alfred Eignor of Big Indian in the latter's car.

Harvey Shultis, Ohayo Mountain Road, was in town Sunday. Harvey's father, Chester Shultis, is well remembered here as an expert timberman 40 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Nissen were Shokan callers Monday in the course of a visit to the reservoir headworks. Nissen is director of water supply laboratories for the City of New York.

Elder W. D. Griffin who has friends here, recently preached in the Old School Baptist Meetinghouse at Halcottville. Elder Griffin is pastor of the Welsh Tract Church in the State of Delaware.

Mrs. Claude Beidler has returned home following a hospital sojourn in Kingston.

The Delaware River has had its best shad run in years this spring. Sport shad fishing has been fine at points between Port Jervis and Narrowsburgh, and it is thought the run may reach Hancock in Delaware County next year.

Beatrice Gardner, Woodstock, was in in town Saturday. Miss Gardner, a native of Orange County, is a substitute teacher of art at the Ontcora School.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Tuesday, June 20 from 9 to 10:30 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

One Charge Is Gambler Saw Bigger Profits Under Law

Prober Plans Recommendations After Bingo Study Ends in Fall

(Racketeers and professional gamblers have ruscled into church and fraternal bingo games in New York State. This Associated Press membership Enterprise story describes how the racketeers have siphoned off a large share of profits and how bingo has helped pay off many mortgages.)

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

NEW YORK (AP) — Bingo means big money in New York State. Does it also mean a tie-in with racketeers and professional gamblers?

The state investigation commission says that far too often the answer is yes.

But the State Lottery Control Commission declares that, although a few bad apples turned up at recent investigation commission hearings, it believes the vast majority of the games are conducted legitimately.

Gilchrist Making Check

Now a one-man Moreland Act Commission, acting on behalf of Gov. Rockefeller, is looking into the situation to see how bad things really are.

Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., head of the latest probe, promises to take a constructive approach and come up with a set of recommendations when his study ends in the fall.

Since it was legalized on a local-option basis in 1958, bingo has been a tremendous source of income for many churches and for fraternal, veterans and other non-profit organizations.

Profits Over $19 Million

In the 2½ years bingo has been legal sponsoring organizations realized a profit of $19.2 million. As of last March there were 1,236 sponsors in the state's 62 counties.

Thirty-five organizations reported a net profit of more than $10,000 each for the six-month period ended last March 31. Ten had profits of more than $20,000 each. Eight of these were in New York City, one in Erie County and one in Nassau.

A probe by the investigation recently put the bingo problem in the public spotlight.

A hearing ended with an angry denunciation by Jacob Grumet, then commission chairman. He charged that commercial operators and gamblers were taking over bingo, corrupting public officials and duping honest citizens.

Avoids Through Fifth

William P. Buckner, 54-year-old gambler and convicted swindler, was portrayed as a kingpin in many of the operations. Ordered to the stand, he invoked the fifth amendment 55 times to avoid answering questions.

Grumet said Buckner ironically expected to enjoy larger profits and have greater freedom of operation in legitimate bingo than he had in illegal gambling.

Grumet called bingo conditions intolerable and insisted that the hearings had demonstrated a "compelling need for corrective action."

But Richard W. Hannah, chairman of the lottery commission, the agency responsible for keeping bingo in line, doesn't see it just that way.

The only trouble spots disclosed at the hearing, he said, were in parts of New York City, Yonkers and Utica.

Says Rest Honest

"While we regret that a few succumbed, we think that the rest are observing the law," Hannah added.

Hannah, who is serving under an appointment by former Democratic Gov. W. Averell Harriman, contended that the scandals could have been avoided if his commission's legislative program had been enacted. He accused Rockefeller, a Republican, of failing to back the program. Rockefeller said Hannah was trying to pass the buck. The program was inadequate, Rockefeller said.

A key section of the program would have limited bingo play in rented halls to three times a week.

"This would take the profit and incentive out of rented halls" of the type Buckner operated, Hannah said.

The investigation commission reported that 40 commercially operated halls grossed $5,403,393 last year, but that sponsoring organizations got only $854,184 of this.

Will Report Findings

Gilchrist's recommendations are expected to be given to the 1962 legislature. He has a small legal staff, one investigator and a $25,000 fund to assit him.

The American Veterans of World War II suspended two posts and the Disabled American Veterans suspended three chapters because of involvement with Buckner.

William H. Gray Jr., Yonkers city clerk, resigned under fire after he was connected with Buckner, and a lottery control inspector was suspended. Two Protestant church groups also called for a ban on the games.

None Voted Out

No town which previously allowed the games has voted them out since the scandal broke, lottery commission records show.

So the players seem unconcerned, even though there was testimony that some games were rigged. One middle-aged woman in Utica summed it up:

"I'm not worried about the gyps. If I wasn't spending my money here it would be dribbling away someplace else."

Some players really "dribble" it away, too. In many sections they spend about $5 a night. Some leave as much as $20 behind.

Law officials in Oneida County and Utica said they planned to ask the investigation commission for private testimony given by Utica residents on bingo.

In Broome County, an official said that it was "business as usual" and that the disclosures were strictly a "New York City affair."

In Lewis County, for example, only two organizations held games during the six-month period ended last March 31. The Loyal Order of the Moose in Lowville showed the greater net profit—a mere $173.

Of four sponsoring organizations in Putnam County, the one with the third largest profit was the Mahopac Volunteer Fire Department. This amounted to only $43.

Make Largest Profits

Sage Words to the Unwise Teen-Agers Being Married

Q—What immediate and long-range problems are created financially by teen-age marriages where either one, or both, lack a completed education and have little knowledge of money matters?—M. J.

A—Dear M. J.: If you are thinking of yourself, slow down. Both partners should complete basic education before marriage. If the wife does not understand how difficult it is to bring home the bacon, she may tend to be impatient with her husband—especially if the gal next door has more possessions. If neither know how to budget to make money grow via savings, to understand the careful use of credit and to set long-range goals, both will be on the road to quick unhappiness. In teen-age marriages, there is always the danger that as the husband advances at work, his wife will not keep pace with his growing interests and new social status. Often this is not her fault, especially if children come soon after marriage.

Q—I retired May 31, 1953, after paying maximum social security tax from the time the system started. I have been receiving only $157.50 per month for myself and my over-65-year-old wife since the last increase went into effect two years ago. Shouldn't we be receiving $180? —F. L. L.

A—Dear F. L. L.: Terribly sorry, but the $180 maximum to an over-65 couple is being paid only to those who retired in 1959 or later.

Q—Can I include closing costs in my FHA mortgage?—J. S.

A.—Dear J. S.: Yes, but only if the FHA appraisal is higher than the purchase price of your home. The amount of the mortgage is based upon the FHA appraisal or the acquisition cost, whichever is less. Acquisition cost includes purchase price plus closing costs but excludes such prepaid items as taxes.

Q—My friend claims that after 65 he will not have to pay a federal income tax on money he gets from social security or on earnings up to $1,200 a year. Is this true?—H. H.

A—Dear H. H.: Your friend is correct. However, his $1,200 of earnings would be subject to social security deductions even while he is receiving social security payments. If his earnings exceed $1,200 in any one year, they are taxed.

Q—Is it true that the average wage earner works six days every month to make enough to pay taxes?—J. O.

A—Dear J. O.: It may be a frightening thought, but it is true. The Tax Foundation, Inc., reports that out of a 22-day working month, you work four days for food and tobacco, four days for shelter and furnishings, two days to pay for transportation, one and a half days to meet the family clothing bill, one day to pay for medical care and another for recreation. Add in the six days you work to pay taxes and you'll find you have only two and a half days left to earn the money you want for savings, investments and luxuries.

Works of Famous Artist and Dancer Will Be Exhibited in Kingston Starting June 17

Extraordinary examples of artwork by the late Harold Liebmann of Hannacroix, N. Y., world famous artist and dancer will be on display at Arteraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, from June 17 until July 8. There will be an open house on Saturday afternoon, June 17 from 2 to 4. Mrs. Lola Liebmann will be present to greet friends and to answer questions about her late husband's work.

Mr. Liebmann, who was a painter, sculptor, dancer and originator of the "Cobra Dance," (a rage in the 30's) moved to Hannacroix near Ravena about 18 years ago and died in January 1960.

Born in Germany and a graduate of Leipzig University, he studied at the Art Academy in Weimar and later in Paris. He started a dance school in Germany and later moved to Holland. He created the "Cobra Dance" with his wife Lola. The dance was taken on tour in 1932 and performed in many of the leading night clubs in the United States and South America.

While on dancing engagements, Mr. Hannacroix also painted and became a headline dancer and a headline artist. He received honorable mention in the 18th annual American Water Color Society in 1945. His picture, "Easter Bunnies," shown in the Washington Art Gallery won honorable mention in a national Academy show in New York City.

He specialized in depicting horses and the moods of the country where he worked. He used the batix wax of the Balinese and Javanese batix painters to outline his figures and scenes. His "Poetry in Motion" hangs in the permanent American art collection in the Los Angeles Museum. He has received many other awards for his work and his exhibitions have hung in galleries throughout Europe and the United States.

In the years before he died, he had been making puppets and doing murals. With his wife, he started the Ridgewood Art Studio at their Hannacroix farm in 1957. Mrs. Liebmann taught dancing while he taught painting and ceramics.

After some of his works were hung in the Institute of History and Art in Albany, a spokesman for the Institute said, "Mr. Liebmann has retained throughout his life a freshness of approach and delicate economy of line that imbue his works with a vitality and appeal all their own."

Some of the examples of his works which will be on display are:

Water colors: The drawings done with wax which was removed after the painting was accomplished;

Ceramics in cement plaques.

Charlotte McGraw, director of the Arteraft Gallery, cordially invites the public to this show and also to the Saturday, June 17, open house.

The first annual photographic exhibit by members of the Kingston Camera Club has been hanging in the Gallery for the past two weeks and will close before Mr. Liebmann's show opens on June 17.

The gallery hours are 10 to 6 weekdays and Friday nights until 9.

Hurley Strawberry Social Set for June 22; Final Committee Appointments Announced

Mrs. Severyn Hasbrouck, chairman of the tenth annual strawbery social and card party being given by the Guild for Christian Service of the Hurley Reformed Church on Thursday afternoon, June 22, has announced that reservations for tables may be made directly by telephoning her or Mrs. Frank Race. Reservations will be closed Wednesday, June 21.

Final committee plans name Mrs. Albert Byrne chairman in charge of waitresses, Mrs. Ernest Myer chairman of the workers who will prepare the home made strawberry shortcake dessert, and Mrs. Clifford Henze as publicity chairman.

The recent winner of two first awards in the flower show put on by the Ulster Garden Club, Mrs. George Brown, is also donating her time and talents in preparing flower arrangements to be sold complete with holder, pin holder and free form base.

Adding to the interest of this social afternoon will be the work of one of Hurley's artists. A special oil painting by Mrs. Joseph Viano Sr., has been donated as a featured attraction.

This social and card party, Mrs. Hasbrouck believes, will be of special interest because its setting will be the garden of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, Route 209, Hurley. Service of dessert will be from 12:30-2 p. m. followed immediately by card playing. In case of rain the social will be held in the education building at the Hurley Reformed Church on Route 209.

ROBERT GRAY (Baranello,) son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gray of Stone Ridge, has been awarded a Navy ROTC scholarship to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute as well as a New York State Regents scholarship. He also received an appointment to the United States Coast Guard Academy and has been accepted by Cornell and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. At Kingston High School he is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club, and was assistant business manager of the Maroon for this year. Gray plans to accept the Coast Guard Academy appointment.

JOHN HETSCO, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hetsco, Nicholas Street, has been awarded scholarships to the University of Rochester and to Union College. He was also a winner of a New York State Regents Scholarship. Recently Hetsco represented Kingston High School at the sectional physical fitness conference at West Point where he received the physical fitness award. Hetsco was also accepted at Brown University. He is a member of National Honor Society, Dame Rumor staff, Key Club, Athletic Association Council, and he was co-captain of this year's football team. Hetsco will study engineering at the University of Rochester in September.

Benedictine Group Adjourns Meetings For Summer Season

A dinner-meeting of the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary attracted a large attendance on Wednesday, June 7 at the Sky Top Restaurant where the members also enjoyed a smorgasbord and social hour. Chairman Mrs. Douglas Masterson was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Matey and Mrs. Joseph Sanglyn Jr.

After the dinner, Mrs. William Cranston, president, conducted the last business meeting of the season. She welcomed members and guests.

Reports were made by the Mmes. Robert Stenson, secretary; Joseph Robertson, treasurer; Edward Whelan, corresponding secretary; John Finch, sales cart volunteers; Martin Golden, cart bookkeeper; John Ryan, baby photo; Andrew Daley, desk and escort service; Nicholas Stock, junior volunteers; and Thomas Gorman who gave the report on hospitality for Mrs. Vincent Guido.

Mrs. Cranston announced she had appointed Mrs. J. Edward Costello chairman of the summer dance which will be held at the Wiltwyck Country Club on August 26. Jim Sweeney's band will furnish the music and Mrs. Costello will be assisted by Mrs. Leo Kilcoyne, co-chairman, also the Mmes. George Gleason, Thomas Gorman and Franklin Crusius.

Mrs. Stock announced there will be an orientation meeting for junior volunteers the last week of June. Any young ladies interested should contact her.

Highlight of the evening was when the members voted to present Sister Berenice, hospital administrator, with a check of $2,000 as another payment toward their pledge for the nurse's residence and school.

The next meeting will be on October 4. All volunteer services at the hospital will continue during the summer.

Masters for Thomas Hahs

Thomas S. Hahs of 124 West Chestnut Street, this city, received a master of arts during the 100th commencement of Washington University, St. Louis on June 5.

Degrees were awarded to 1,100 graduates.

DONALD FRANCIS GARDESKI of Route 1, Box 306, received his bachelor of science degree at Rutgers, State University of New Jersey, Wednesday, June 7.

SHARON ELIZABETH LOWE, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Lowe of O'Neil Street, has been awarded a scholarship to Barnard College. She was also a New York State Regents scholarship winner and received honorable mention in the National Merit Scholarship program. At Kingston High School she was a member of National Honor Society, Prisma, Latin Club, Future Teachers. Miss Lowe has been accepted by Vassar College and at the New York State University College of Education at Albany. She plans to major in languages at Bernard in the fall.

Bard Baccalaureate Set for Saturday; Drama Group to Give Shakespeare Play

The Baccalaureate service at Bard College in connection with the 101st Commencement will be held in the Chapel of the Holy Innocents, Sunday evening, June 18th at 8 p. m. The Right Reverend James Stuart Wetmore, DD Suffragan Bishop of New York, will deliver the address, and Dr. Reamer Kline, president of the college, will read the lesson.

This year, for the first time, some special music has been composed for the service by students of the college. This music includes a Processional for brass instruments and organ by David Moulton of the class of 1963, and Ode, using a Latin text by Horace, for mixed chorus, brass instruments and organ, and an Antiphon on the words "Alleluia Amen" for chorus and organ, both composed by Thomas Benjamin of the class of 1961. In addition, there will be an Amen response for a cappella choir, composed by Richard Perry of the class of 1963. The Postlude will be a last movement of "The Water Music Suite" by Handel, played on the organ by Clair Leonard.

'Twelfth Night'

On Saturday, June 17, for one performance, the Bard College Drama Department will present its last production of the season: Shakespeare's festival comedy, "Twelfth Night". The performance will be at 9:30 p. m., out-of-doors. Admission is free, seats are plentiful and unreserved, and the production will be proceeded by baroque music on the lawns.

The setting will be a three-level architectural stage, descending from the pergolas of the formal garden at the west of Blithewood to the lawns and the Hudson River. The play will be dressed in the manner of the First Empire, and the Court of the Duke of Illyria will have the bizarre glamour of the Court of Napoleon I. Paula Sholartman will be Viola, with Conrad Lookum as the Duke, Olivia Cole as Olivia, Robert Rockman as Malvolio, and many other members of the Bard College Theatre Company.

Michelangelo designed the dome which soars 150 feet above the altar of St. Peter's Cathedral. The altar is crowned with Bernini's 95-foot-high baldachino, a bronze canopy held aloft by four spiral columns.

Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, called for "the practice of the creative arts in colleges, rather than studying them second hand from text books," in an address Monday morning to the 1961 graduates at the State University College of Education, New Paltz.

Speaking on the subject, "A New Era for Education," Dr. Taylor told an audience of nearly 2,500, composed of 282 Bachelors' Degree Candidates and 111 Master Degree Candidates, and parents and friends of the graduates, that the "practice of the arts is the only way to understand them," and he stated "we need painters, writers, philosophers and teachers every bit as much as we need scientists and engineers."

Now chairman of a Committee on Peace Researci for the Institute of International Order, Dr. Taylor advocated an expansion of the Peace Corps idea on the part of Americans to study in the under-developed areas of this country. The committee is trying, in new ways more practical than those usually followed, to discover the real conditions for maintaining a peaceful world."

"One of the characteristics at present in America, he said, "is a thick-headedness about education, its over-organization, massive accumulation of sterile academic materials which are collected in textbooks, condensed in lectures, and recollected in examination.

"The students," he said, "are graded like apples and rewarded with something called academic credit at the rate of three credits a throw for sitting still, listening, and making notes over a 15-week period."

"We in America have new and distinct possibilities for an educational system which is not bound to follow the European culture," he said, "but can create a body of knowledge and experience which accepts the whole world as its material and the whole range of human life as its scope."

Dr. Taylor also called for massive federal support for education fellowships for teachers, grants for pure research in the sciences and arts, and sufficient funds to entice a new body of first rate teachers. He emphasized that the body of teachers must be sufficient in size to enable students to be taught as individuals, not as units in a mass system.

He called for a program in U. S. education which would enable at least 100 thousand foreign students from every country in the world to study here. He welcomed the expansion of the State University System for opportunities to students in the State of New York, and he praised the program at the College of Education at New Paltz where the concept of international education is already in use.

A graduate of the University of Toronto, Canada, Dr. Taylor was awarded the Moss Scholarship to do advanced study, an award presented to the best all-round athlete and student in his graduating class. He received his doctorate in philosophy from the University of London at the age of 23. He then taught philosophy at the University of Wisconsin for six years before being appointed to the presidency of Sarah Lawrence College at the age of 30.

After his retirement from Sarah Lawrence College in 1959, he spent six months in Asia and Russia on a Ford Foundation grant, and he is now writing two books in philosophy and education and is lecturing in colleges around the country. He also serves as host of the ABC national television program, "Meet the Professor."

The 74th annual commencement exercises at New Paltz climaxed a weekend of activities for seniors, alumni, faculty and guests. Included among the activities was an alumni luncheon Saturday with the noted Washington radio-TV correspondent Joseph McCaffrey, as guest speaker. A graduate of New Paltz with the class of 1939, McCaffrey received an award from the alumni association as an outstanding alumnus. He addressed an audience of nearly 250 returning alumni.

Vassar Announces Trustee Election; Directors Named

Mrs. Frank H. Ellis, Northampton, Mass., was elected an alumnae trustee of Vassar College at the annual meeting of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College held on June 11. Six directors of the association also were named, including Mrs. Robert S. Bruns Jr., Short Hills, N. J., who will serve three years as Alumnae Fund Chairman.

The latest total of Vassar's 1961 Alumnae Fund, $1,356,655, was announced by Mrs. Clifford D. Couch Jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y., Alumnae Fund Director. This sum is the largest yearly alumnae fund gift in Vassar's history. It includes gifts by the 25th and 50th reunion classes which total over a quarter million dollars. This year Vassar is celebrating the centennial of its founding in 1861.

Local B'nai B'rith Chapter Represented At Convention

Women delegates from each of the northeastern state and all of eastern Canada assembled at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha, N. Y. for the 40th annual convention of B'nai B'rith Women, District No. 1, held June 4-7.

Sunday session included registration of delegates, a dinner, and a joint session with B'nai B'rith Men who were holding their 109th District Convention. One of the main highlights of the session took place Monday morning, when B'nai B'rith honored the outstanding contributions of four "Women of Achievement." Those selected on the basis of performance in a vocational field as well as humanitarian interests were Julie Harris, dramatic star, Jane Pickens, musical star, Eugenia Sheppard, Women's Feature Editor of the New York Herald Tribune, and the Honorable Birdie Amsterdam, first woman judge of the New York Supreme Court.

Monday evening, Label A. Katz, internationl president of B'nai B'rith, addressed the group. The program on Tuesday was highlighted with discussion clinics pertaining to problems of the organization and a banquet at which Arnold Forster, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League delivered a most inspired speech. On Wednesday, the spotlight was on A.Z.A. and B.B.G., the B'nai B'rith Youth Organizations.

Attending as official delegaes of the Kingston Chapter were Mrs. Irwin Gellen and Mrs. Max Goldberg. Other members who attended the various sessions were Mrs. Irving Alcon, Mrs. Edna Helmrich, Mrs. Arnold Pinsly, Mrs. Robert Ronder, Mrs. Seymour Semilof, Mrs. Morris Tucker, Mrs. Ronald Wolfield, and Mrs. Stanley Wyman.

Five awards were received by the local chapter. Mrs. Morton Levine and Mrs. Irving Alcon received pins in recognition of their excellent accomplishments as treasurer and financial secretary of Zephaniah Chapter. A shield to add to the chapter flag was awarded for meeting a share of the support of national B'nai B'rith philanthropies.

Kingston Chapter also copped a third prize in the district "Do as We Do Contest" for the local series of polio clinics held during the past two years. An honorable mention in the same contest was also given for the B'nai B'rith Calendar listing birthdays and anniversaries of local citizens and commercial listings subscribed to by local merchants.

JOHN CHARLES SMITH JR.

John Charles Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Charles Smith of 59 Andrew Street, Kingston, was graduated on Thursday, June 8, from Union University, Albany College of Pharmacy, Albany, with a bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy. The degree was conferred by the Chancellor of Union University, Dr. Carter Davidson. Dr. Melvin W. Green, Director of Education Relations for the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education, delivered the address.

Mr. Smith was named to the Dean's List during his senior year. He was an active member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity, serving as its treasurer during his junior year and as its president during his senior year. Some of Mr. Smith's other activities include serving as assistant editor of the senior year book; chairman of the Interfraternity Council; on the staff of Mortar and Pestle, the school's official publication and a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the camera club. He also participated in Intramural basketball and softball.

Mr. Smith, a 1957 graduate of Kingston High School, will enter the University of Rhode Island in September as a graduate student majoring in pharmacology.

Bachelor of Science Degrees in pharmacy were also conferred upon two other area residents by the Albany College of Pharmacy on June 8. They are Dorita Grossman of Pine Plains, and David B. Van Etten of Lake Katrine.

The graduates were guests of the Albany College of Pharmacy Alumni Association at its annual banquet held in the ballroom of the Sheraton Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany the same evening.

Open Tryouts Will Be Held at Hyde Park Playhouse

On Sunday, June 25, the Hyde Park Playhouse will hold its annual open tryouts for all mid-Hudson Valley actors who may wish to perform during the summer with the professional company. Actors are asked to bring a reading or prepared scene of about one minute.

Especially good roles are available this summer according to M. David Samples, executive director, and they cover a wide range. A Negro, 20 to 40, and an Oriental in the same age range is wanted. There is a fine role for a ten year old boy in Invitation to a March. Both male and female roles are played by community and little theatre actors who can qualify. A number of area actors appeared with the company last season.

Mr. Samples will meet all actors at the theatre from 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m. This is the only open tryout held all season.

Suit Raises Are Clarified

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Jacoby-Smith three no-truump response makes it possible to clarify all suit raises. Thus the single raise shows a maximum of 10 supporting points. The double raise from 11 to 13 supporting points; the triple raise and the three no-trump response from 13 to 17 supporting points with the one difference—

	NORTH 14 ♠ K J 3 2 ♥ 6 4 ♦ A Q 8 5 ♣ 8 3 2
WEST ♠ 9 7 ♥ A 10 5 ♦ 10 4 ♣ K 9 7 6 5 4		EAST ♠ 8 5 ♥ K Q J 9 7 ♦ K 7 6 3 ♣ Q J
	SOUTH (D) ♠ A Q 10 6 4 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ J 9 2 ♣ A 10

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ 10

the triple raise shows not more than 10 high card points and the three no-trump response from 11 to 15 high card points.

Since no book on Jacoby-Smith is available at present, you can describe this system by saying that your raises are limiting bids only and that your three no-trump response is the equivalent of a forcing jump raise.

After North's limit raise to three spades, South passes. Against a heart or club lead he will make only three; against the actual diamond lead he is able to discard a club on dummy's fourth diamond and make an overtrick.

This is unimportant in rubtaken from a recent tournament ber bridge, but the hand is and plus 170 scored by Jacoby-Smith bidders turned out to be top.

At other tables North responded two diamonds. Sometimes East bid two hearts; even when he stayed out his partner shunned the diamond lead and the declarer was held to his contract.

Pledges Reach $8,960 for the Growth Plan

The Planning Board announces that pledges totalling $8,960 toward the Planning Program Fund have been received by the Town of Woodstock as of June 12. This is within $1050 of the halfway mark.

When pledges total $10,000 the guarantee received by the town becomes effective and the Town Board will be in a position to authorize making a contract for the preparation of a Growth Plan for Woodstock.

The total cost of this plan complete will be $20,000. It is expected, from the rate that pledges are being received, that the halfway mark will be passed this week.

Mallory Grove Open to Public

Woodstock's new woodland park, Mallory Grove, is now ready for use by local residents. The last two Saturdays have seen members of several local organizations hard at work installing picnic tables and clearing a patch and picnic area so that the grove may be used this summer.

The fifteen acres of land was donated to town by Mrs. Maurice Van Buren, in memory of her mother. The Woodstock Association, the Woodstock Planning Board, the Girl Scouts and Garden Club, spearheaded by the Woodstock League of Women Voters were all instrumental in getting the property put to use and in planning the picnic area.

The picnic tables were donated by the League of Women Voters and one by the Garden Club, and I. J. Rose, local craftsman who made the tables and donated his labor. The Brownies and Girl Scouts have been a great help in clearing the area and the Woodstock Association will put up appropriate signs to direct people.

The property is located just beyond the Yerry Hill Bridge and cars may be parked on the Water Supply land. There is a hundred foot path cut in to the picnic site which is located on a three-acre island in the Sawkill Creek. It is planned to keep this area in as natural a state as possible and the Garden Club hopes to label some of the trees and wildflowers so that the park can be used as a nature trail.

Women's League In Buzz Session

An informal Buzz Session was the program for the evening at a meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters held on June 7 at Deanie's. Round table discussions were held on all the items now being studied by this group, followed by the various chairmen on what had been discussed that evening.

In addition a lively and extremely funny skit was presented by Mrs. Walter Balk, Mrs. Michael Earnest and Miss Florence Harrison on the subject of their trip to the League's State Convention in Niagara Falls last month. This was followed by a more serious report on the Convention.

On June 8, several members of the Woodstock league's Board of Directors attended an Area Conference in New Paltz. This was a welcome opportunity to meet with members of other Leagues and exchange ideas. Those attending from Woodstock were Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, Mrs. Thomas Horsey, Mrs. Lynn Wells, Mrs. Hans Cohn, Mrs. Inger Walker, Mrs. Michael Earnest, Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz and Mrs. Gordon Frye.

Q. Does zoning affect existing conditions?

A. No, generally speaking, zoning only applies to new situations. The American law, following the English tradition, does not allow retroactive legislation and all provisions of a zoning ordinance are subject to the test of the courts. Therefore all land uses, buildings, and structures that were in existence before the zoning ordinance was passed may, in general, continue even if located in a zoning district where new uses and structures of the same kind are prohibited; these are called non-conforming uses. The test as to whether a non-conforming use may continue after the enactment of a zoning ordinance lies in the proper interpretation of the law and the case histories of the courts sustain that rulings may not be arbitrary or create unnecessary hardship from strict conformity to a newly enacted zoning ordinance. A Growth Plan and its concurrent zoning ordinance are primarily a guide to future growth. In the case of Woodstock, we have a relatively undeveloped area that shows signs of fast growth; existing non-conforming uses will therefore soon be a minor item.

This is another series of questions and answers pertaining to planning and zoning in the town of Woodstock furnished by the Woodstock Planning Board:

Q. How do we get zoning?

A. Zoning is established independently of a community Growth Plan by the legal instrument called a zoning ordinance. A zoning ordinance is not made by the Planning Board but by a separate zoning commission which is appointed by the town board and does not have to seat any member of the town Planning Board, although it generally will. The zoning commission is dissolved after the zoning ordinance is drawn up. The zoning ordinance may thereafter be enacted by the town board by the same procedure as any other town ordinance, for example, the tree ordinance, the trailer ordinance, and the gasoline station ordinance. This requires a public hearing and majority vote of the town board members. At the same time that a zoning ordinance is enacted, the town board is required to appoint a Board of Appeals, to hear appeals for variances to the literal application of the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance where, by reason of peculiar conditions, unnecessary hardship may result from strict conformity. Every decision by the Board of Appeals is subject to review in the courts.

Christ Lutheran Congregational Meeting, June 27

Mrs. Peter Weider, chairman of the publicity subcommittee of the Building Committee of Christ Lutheran Church, announces that an important meeting of the congregation has been called for Tuesday, June 27, at 7:30 p. m.

The purpose of the meeting is to inform the members of the progress of the building program and to give them an opportunity to play a more active role in it. All members and friends of the congregation are urged to attend.

The women of Christ's Church have an opportunity next week to increase the effectiveness of the role they play in their auxiliary organization of the church.

MALLORY GROVE OPENING—Present at the official opening of Mallory Grove in Woodstock, from the left: I. J. Rose, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, president of the Woodstock League of Women Voters; Mrs. Arthur Jones of the Garden Club; Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux, Mrs. Reginald Wilson of the League of Women Voters and town Planning Board; Mrs. Henry Winzenreid, president of the Garden Club; Benjamin L. Webster, of the Woodstock Association and Planning Board and Mrs. Paul Perlman, leader of the Girl Scouts.

COLLEGE BOUND—Donna Adler, left, and Jennifer Baswick, members of the senior class at Onteora Central High, will continue their education in September. Miss Baswick, the class valedictorian, has been accepted at Vassar College and will major in languages and political science. She has been awarded a scholarship at Vassar in addition to a New York State Regents Scholarship. The daughter of Mrs. Betty Baswick, she lives at Beaver Lake House in Krumville. Miss Baswick was senior editor of the year book, a delegate to Girls State, a member of the National Honor Society, a varsity cheerleader, and a participant in the senior seminar program. She was awarded a Letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Donna Adler will major in English and Social Studies at Drew University. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Arthur Adler of Woodstock, she was editor-in-chief of the yearbook, managing editor of the school newspaper, secretary of the Student Council and her junior class, and the choreographer for the Junior-Senior musical, in addition to participating in the senior seminar program. She has been offered a scholarship at Drew University.

On Tuesday, June 20, 11 a. m., a workshop will be held at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kingston, which will concern itself with the work of the United Lutheran Church Women. Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, president of the church's ULCW, urges all the women of the congregation to attend and should be contacted by those needing transportation.

Lawrence Deede of West Hurley announced that a Vacation Church School is being planned during the last two weeks in August providing that sufficient response is shown to a forthcoming letter of inquiry concerning it. The school, which has gained increasing popularity nationally, will be open to all children and young adults. Those interested in participating in this program as workers or students, including non-members, should communicate that interest directly to Mr. Deede or Pastor Krapf.

The Church Council will meet this Tuesday, June 20, at 7:30 p. m.

Annual Supper Musicale Set At Byrdcliffe

The sixth annual Supper-Muiscale of the Woodstock Festival of Music and Art will be held on Saturday evening, June 24, at Byrdcliffe, the Festival Committee announces.

The event, which traditionally launches the summer season activities in Woodstock, will feature a buffet supper beginning at 6:30 p. m., followed by an informal musicale in the Byrdcliffe Theatre, home of the Turnau Opera Players. The new singers of the Turnau Opera Company will be presented, in addition to various other prominent vocal and instrumental artists.

The Festival Committee announces also that the 1961 Festival Program Booklet is expected to be ready by June 24 and will be introduced at the supper. The booklet, again edited by Abe Kramer, will feature articles by various prominent persons in the arts in Woodstock, accompanying the complete calendar of scheduled activities.

The annual supper-musicale, usually one of the most popularly attended affairs of the year, is arranged and conducted through the active cooperation of many folks of the community, who cheerfully contribute their time, effort, talents, money and much of the food.

All proposals must be made on the official proposal form and enclosed in sealed envelopes furnished by the Department. Each proposal must be accompanied by a properly certified check for 5% of the amount of bid without condition, payable to "State of New York, Commissioner of Taxation and Finance," as a guaranty that the bidder will enter into the contract and furnish the required bonds if the contract be awarded to him. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the execution of the contract and furnishing of the bonds by the successful bidder, but in no case will the checks of the unsuccessful bidders be held longer than thirty (30) days after the date of opening bids.

The Conservation Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids. An approved performance surety bond to the extent of One Hundred Percent (100%) of the contract price and an approved surety bond guaranteeing the laborers and material men to the extent of One Hundred Percent (100%) of the contract price will be required from the successful bidder.

No proposals shall be considered from "foreign contractor" i.e., in the case of an individual, a person who is a legal resident of another state or foreign country, in the case of a firm or co-partnership, one having one or more partners legal residents of another state or a foreign country, and in the case of a corporation, one having its principal place of business in another state or foreign country, unless such contractor has on file with the Conservation Commissioner a Certificate of the New York State Tax Commissioner that any taxes due and payable by such contractor under the provisions of Articles Nine-a and Sixteen of the Tax Law prior to the submission of the proposal have been paid.

Mrs. Carnright, Mrs. de Lisio Leaders at Rip Van Winkle CC

Mrs. Betty Carnright fired low net of 72 to pace a 25-player field in the annual Ladies Invitation at Rip Van Winkle Country Club in Palenville Tuesday.

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock posted low gross which plays to men's par of 36-36—72.

Mrs. Georgianna Mau of Catskill Country Club led Class B gross with 50-48—98. Mrs. Etta Ginder, also of Catskill, topped Class C gross with 50-61—111.

Other prize winners included:

Class B — Mrs. Ginny Carnright, second low gross, 51-50—101; Mrs. Inger Walker, Woodstock, 103; second low net, Mrs. Edward Minasian, Twaalfskill, 106-27—79; tied for third, Mrs. Bert Vozdik and Mrs. Ray Smith, RVW, 105-24—81.

Other Winners

Mrs. Myrtle Overbagh had second low gross in Class C with 55-60—115. Tied for second low net were Mrs. Rodney Ball and Mrs. William Brinnier, with 84's. Mrs. Albert Flanagan had third low gross, 116.

Low putts winners were Mrs. Ray Smith in Class B, with 34 and Mrs. Ruth Vozdik with 37 in Class C. The blind hole award went to Mrs. V. Mikkhitarian of Catskill. Special award for the day was won by Mrs. Anderson of Catskill.

Winners in the 9-hole division were Mrs. Stella Rhode with 62 and Mrs. Terry LaDolce, with 80. Mrs. Marguerite Cantine was given a special award the nature of which was not revealed.

Following the matches, the women were guests of the country club at a buffet luncheon at which an attractive assortment of prizes were awarded by Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor.

California Cuties At Stadium Tonight

Softball of a comic and classic variety will be on display at Dietz Stadium when the California Cuties, a road troupe, takes on Amato's All Stars at 8:30 p. m.

The Cuties are an all-male team that plays in garnish female attire. They have been touring for more than 10 years and are scheduled for a U. S. State Department-sponsored trek to the Pacific in September.

150 Ready In US Open

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—It will be 150 men against the monster when play starts Thursday in the 61st National Open Golf Tournament.

The monster was the name given the Oakland Hills course in 1951, when Ben Hogan won here. It has stuck. To golf-wise persons the contest isn't so much among the 150 players, survivors of an original field of more than 2,400, but the men against the course.

In the decade since Hogan won the third of his four Open titles, the monster has been gentled a trifle and a new generation of golfers has grown up. They've heard of Oakland Hills and have learned to respect it during practice, but they don't shudder at its fearsome reputation.

The principal changes in the course have been the elimination of seven traps, mostly in the target areas and some changes to greens. Golf architect Robert Trent Jones estimates it is 1½ to 2 strokes a round easier unless the rough is allowed to grow deep at some danger spots.

Palmer Says 275-280

Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, said Tuesday he thought a 72-hole score between 275 and 280 would win. The Open record is 276, set by Hogan at Riviera in 1948. Jimmy Demaret shot 278 the same year and Palmer's winning 280 at Cherry Hills last year is the next-best score ever made in the Open.

In practice Tuesday, Bob Shields, 31, a 245-pound club pro from Quincy, Ill., shot 34-32—66 for the best practice score, and three-putted the last green. Walter Burkemo, former PGA champion from Franklin, Mich., who used to work at Oakland Hills, has had rounds of 69-68-70-67. Doug Sanders, with a painfully injured back, fired 69.

Palmer, 31, and Gary Player, 26, stocky South African, are tabbed as co-favorites. Palmer has won four tournaments and Player three this year.

Triplets' Banks Slams 3 Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Third basemen George Banks is swinging a heavy bat for the Binghamton Trips, slicing away the Springfield Giants' Eastern League lead.

Banks belted three homers Tuesday night to boost his league lead to 14 as he sparked Binghamton to a doubleheader victory over Williamsport, 4-3 and 10-6. The Trips now have won 11 of their last 14 games.

The twin victory, coupled with Springfield's 11-2 loss to Reading, allowed the trips to pick up a game and a half on the Giants and they now trail by only 1½.

In the only other activity, Johnstown and Lancaster split a doubleheader, Johnstown won the opener 4-2, dropped the nightcap 7-2.

Apaches Scalp Iroquois, 7-6

Apaches scored a run in their last turn at bat to edge the Iroquois, 7 to 6, in the Met Knothole League.

Bart Godby's triple paced the 7-hit offensive against Mike Prosser, Roger Thiel and Bruce Brown. Godby and John Mayone of the Apaches gave up 12 hits between them. Mayone was credited with the win.

Mike Prosser and Bill Pleugh of the Iroquois each stroked a double and two singles. Bill Kilmer and Bob Mitchell hit doubles and Thiel had two singles for the losers.

Hoffman 2-Hitter

Glynn's, Lincoln Park Rec Softball Winners

Rich Hoffman unfurled a 2-hitter, as Glynn's Shoes trounced Bloomington Inn, 11 to 3, in the Recreation softball leagues Tuesday.

In the companion game, Lincoln Park Inn exploded for nine runs in the fifth inning to clobber the White Eagles, 19 to 7.

Richie Sickler slammed a home run and single to pace Glynn's eight-hit attack on Nick Savino and Dave Lewis. John Parete and Jim Garrison contributed doubles.

Chic Carpino scattered 10 White Eagle hits and was extremely effective after the second inning. Don Juhl got two hits and drove in two runs during the 9-run rally in the fifth.

Lincoln Park had broken a 5-5 tie on Bill Hickey's fourth-inning home run. Al Goodwin slammed three singles for Lincolns.

Ben Jones, One of Racing's Best Trainers, Succumbs

Jones, who trained six Kentucky Derby winners, a record no other trainer has ever approached, died in a Lexington hospital Tuesday.

He had been in ill heath several years. Last Saturday he was hospitalized after suffering a heart attack.

Jones' name was synonymous with Calumet Farm, for whose owners he trained five derby winners.

'Plain Ben' Jones trained horses by intuition and scoffed at book methods.

"Always used to baffle me how a man could train out of a book," Jones once said. "Lose a page and he wouldn't know what to do."

Because of his background, he said, he had to decide between Holstein cows and horses.

"Couldn't decide which I liked better, but when I got big enough to help with the milking, I made up my mind."

Jones' career began in earnest, in 1938 he had his first derby winner, Lawrin.

Then for Calumet there were Whirlaway in 1941, Pensive in 1944, Citation in 1948, Ponder in 1949 and Hill Gail in 1952.

Favorite Scores At Roosevelt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winner, whose time for the mile was 2:01 4-5 Tuesday night returned $5.

At Saratoga Raceway, Ranlom Song sped over a muddy track in driving rain to win one division of the $4,500 Kenneth G. Reynolds Memorial Pace.

Ranlom Song was clocked in 2:11 and paid $4.50. Legal Freight was second and Yankee Tardios third.

In the other division, Success Major, driven by Mike Akoury Jr., stepped the mile in 2:12 2-5 and returned $7.40. Wayne C. was second and Walter Knight third.

At Buffalo Raceway, Lee Echo C. returned $22.75 by winning the $800 Class C-2 Pace in 2:05 4-5. The winner was driven by Harold Hewson. Stewart's Dillard was second and Border Scot third.

At Vernon Downs, Galomir won the featured $1,500 trot for two-year-olds in 2:12.1 on a muddy track. The winner's driver was Robert Walker and the payoff was $16.80.

Hickory Hill was second and Fury Hanover third.

The winner in the filly division was Tercel, with Harry Pownall Sr. at the reins. Her time for the mile was 2:15.2 and she returned $4.50. Stardel Hanover was second and Prudent Hanover third.

Buffalo Bison Hits 3 Homers

Don Mincher, who was sent down by the Minnesota Twins because of weak hitting, hit three home runs Tuesday to power the Buffalo Bisons to a 13-11 International League victory over Jersey City.

Mincher, who had only four singles in 22 at bats since he was optioned by the Twins about two weeks ago, connected with the bases loaded in the third and clouted a bases empty smash in the fifth. His third was the game-winning blow and capped a seven-run Bison explosion that erased a 11-6 deficit in the seventh inning.

Richmond and Syracuse belted out 26 hits as the Virginians nipped the last-place Chiefs, 7-6. Columbus handed Rochester its fourth straight loss, 5-3 in 11 innings. League-leading Charleston and Toronto were rained out.

Huskies Testing Onondaga Lake

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Washington's talented Huskies have joined 23 other crews testing the waters of Onondaga Lake for the 59th Intercollegiate Rowing Championship Saturday.

Cornell, another favorite, and Columbia and Dartmouth were due today to join the crews training at the lake and MIT was scheduled to arrive Thursday.

Washington and Cornell are picked to give undefeated Navy and defending champion California a stiff challenge in the traditional race. Syracuse also is considered a contender.

Most experts are sticking with Navy, however.

Stickles Is Free On Bond, Hearing Set for June 20.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Monty A. Stickles, of Poughkeepsie, pro football end for the San Francisco Forty-Niners, remained free on bond Tuesday pending a June 20 hearing on a motion to suspend a 60-day sentence for assault.

Stickles, 22 - year-old former standout at Notre Dame, drew the sentence in Newport News Municipal Court Monday for his part in the beating of Peter M. Bauer on a lonely road May 28.

Stickles and Robert P. Behm, 22, both on reserve Army duty at Ft. Eustis, were convicted of forcing Bauer's car off the road in order to engage in a fist fight.

Behm and Stickles each received $100 fines, in addition to 60-day jail sentences.

Indians Score 8 on Two Hits

The first half champion Indians scored eight runs on two hits to trounce the Braves, 8 to 1, in the Esopus Legion Little League Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Skip Potter limited the Braves to a pair of singles by Jim Potter and Rich Ives and struck out 11. Ives, the Braves pitcher, was in steady trouble because of 13 walks.

Knights Defeat Rotary In Babe Ruth, 10 to 4

Bill Anderson of the Knights of Columbus permitted only 2 hits in subduing Rotary, 10 to 4, Tuesday in the Babe Ruth League. All four Rotary runs came in the third inning.

The Knights scored four runs in the first frame and closed out with three in the fifth in a 9-hitter against Duane Baxter and Lance Sussin.

Pete Roberts led the Knights with a single and double. Bob Chilson and Dave Horton had two singles. John Brown and Dan McGrane stroked two baggers.

Cleveland Retains Game Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland retained a one-game lead and dropped New York back to third place in the American League race with a 7-2 victory over the Yankees Tuesday night. Detroit returned to second place by whipping Boston 7-1.

Baltimore defeated Washington 8-7, Minnesota cracked Kansas City 8-6 and the Chicago White Sox swept a twi-night twinbill from the Los Angeles Angels 2-1 and 10-2.

The Indians chopped off the Yankees' winning streak at five games by building a 6-0 lead in two innings against Jim Coates (6-3), who also had won five straight. A two-run homer by Johnny Romano capped a four-run first that nailed it for the Tribe, and Bubba Phillips homered leading off a two-run second. Jim Perry (5-4) won his third in a row, although needing relief help in the ninth from Frank Funk. Perry gave up 10 hits, one home run No. 21 by major league leader Roger Maris.

Norm Cash batted in four runs with a pair of homers, one a three-run, inside-the-park shot that settled it in the third inning for the Tigers. Cash, 2-for-3, took over the AL batting lead at .374, pushed his league-leading RBI total to 54 and upped his home run count to 19, slugging six in the last four games. Southpaw Don Mossi (7-1) was the winner, although allowing 12 hits, the same number Detroit collected off loser Gene Conley (2-5).

Martin Delivers

A pinch single by Marv Throneberry broke a 7-7 tie in the ninth for the Orioles. Reliever Dick Hall (2-2) won it, scoring the winning run after getting on base with a single — his first hit of the season. Gus Triandos drove in three runs for Baltimore with two homers. Tom Sturdivant (2-4) was the loser in relief.

Billy Martin did the thumping for the Twins, driving in four runs as Manager Cookie Lavagetto came back a winner after a week's vacation ordered by club owner Cal Griffith. Martin drove in two runs with a triple as the Twins tied it 3-all in the sixth, then clinched it with a two-run single when they scored four in the seventh and beat Norm Bass (4-4). Ray Moore (4-2) was the winner in relief.

The White Sox, winning four in a row for the first time this season, took the opener on a two-run homer by Floyd Robinson off loser Ryne Duren (2-7) in the third inning. Right-hander Cal McLish (3-6), who had lost five in a row, made it stand up, shutting out the Angels on five hits until Leon Wagner homered in the ninth. Al Smith's grand-slam homer in the fifth inning did it in the nightcap giving southpaw Juan Pizarro his first AL victory. Ron Kline (1-4) was the loser.

Erie Sailors Third In NY-Penn League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Erie Sailors were in third place in the New York-Penn League baseball standings today —by one percentage point.

The Sailors grabbed a doubleheader from the second-place Wellsville Braves Tuesday night in Erie and shoved the Indians into fourth. On the basis of a 5-4 victory in the first game and an 8-7 nightcap squeaker, the Sailors now have a .526 rating. Wellsville is .525.

Erie scored three runs in the last inning of the abbreviated opener for the first of the sweep. Homer Green homered with two on for Olean in the second inning to give the Oilers a lead they never relinquished.

Frisco Relievers Douse Los Angeles

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The third place San Francisco Giants moved within one game of the National League lead by beating second place Los Angeles 4-3 Tuesday night.

Relievers Dick Lemay, making his first major league start, Tom Bolin and Stu Miller blanked the Dodgers on two hits over the last 5 2-3 innings. Miller (6-0) was the winning pitcher.

Cincinnati lost 2-1 to Pittsburgh, but retained a half-game lead. Philadelphia beat St. Louis 3-2 in the only other NL game scheduled.

A two-run homer by Willie Mays in the seventh inning wrapped it up for the Giants, who trailed 3-0 after 2½ innings. Ed Bressoud homered in the third for the Giants' first hit off loser Stan Williams (4-6), and Mays manufactured the second run virtually all by himself in the fourth.

Willie beat out an infield hit, stole second, scampered to third on a fly to short center and trotted home on a single by Jim Davenport.

The Dodgers scored all their runs, one a homer by Ron Fairly, off starter Sam Jones. Lemay, up from the Texas League, came in with one on and two out in the fourth inning and stopped the Dodgers cold with 2 2-3 frames of no-hit relief before giving way for a pinch-hitter.

The Pirates beat the Reds for the fifth time in seven tries, breaking up a shutout duel with two runs in the sixth inning. Don Hoak, who had a single, a double and a triple while extending his hitting streak through 12 games, drove in the first run with a double off loser Jim Maloney (2-2), who then forced in the clincher by walking Bill Mazeroski with the bases loaded. Joe Gibbon (5-2) won it, blanking the Reds on five hits until the ninth, when Frank Robinson doubled and scored on a single by Gene Freese.

Johnny Callison broke up a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning with a double for the Phils, his first hit in two weeks. Frank Sullivan (3-9) making his first relief appearance, was the winner. Larry Jackson (2-6) lost it.

Tappe Now Tops With the Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs' version of musical chairs—the rotating head coach system—has Elvin Tappe on the throne today. For the time being, at least, the other nine coaches have lost their seats.

The Cubs announced Tuesday that Tappe, who has been serving as head coach of the manager-less Cubs since last Friday, will continue to direct the team on the field for an indefinite period.

Speculation immediately arose that owner P. K. Wrigley had abandoned his experiment with the council of 10 coaches which he inaugurated this season.

Wrigley himself responded to just such a query with:

"I don't know. Anything can happen. Tappe may finish out the season in this position, then again he may not. I haven't the slightest idea."

Elliott Heads Home Without Making Run

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — Herb Elliott headed back to England today determined to keep away from bigtime track until the British Empire Games in Australia next year.

Elliott lost his second half-mile race in four days Tuesday in the biennial Harvard-Yale vs. Oxford-Cambridge Track and Field Meet. This time it was Yale Captain Jim Stack who jumped him on the backstretch and won going away by about eight yards in 1:50.6. Elliott was caught in 1:51.7.

Leftists Smash USIA Windows as Protest to Adlai

In the most hostile incident so far of Stevenson's South American tour, about 30 demonstrators paraded through the streets of Santiago, chanting "Cuba si, Yanqui no." They rushed the USIA office, shattering plate glass windows with long poles.

The lone policeman on duty arrested one demonstrator, but the rest escaped, leaving behind a banner saying "Go home Stevenson."

U.S. Embassy officials said the demonstrators were Communists.

Otherwise, Stevenson's reception was warm and friendly. Crowds of several hundred greeted him at the airport and at the hotel where he is staying in the heart of Santiago.

Stevenson planned to devote most of his time here to talks about next month's meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council at Pinta del Este.

Chilean President Jorge Alessandri already has endorsed the conference and has had his experts working on preliminary aspects for some time.

Stevenson, touring 10 South American countries in advance of the economic meeting, leaves early Thursday for Bolivia.

Favorites Advance In Colgate Tennis

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) —Top seeded Peyton Howard of Brown and sixth ranked Walter Kot of Georgetown were in the quarterfinals of the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament today.

They advanced during a rain-spattered round Tuesday, during which Jack Douglass of Pittsburgh upset Dick Gordon of Ohio Wesleyan, the eighth seed.

The tournament, at Colgate University, began Monday.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Amos 'n' Andy may have retired, but the longtime team of Correll and Gosden is carrying on.

The boys are starting a whole new career—in whiteface, so to speak.

"We even had to join the Screen Actors Guild for the first time," says Freeman Gosden, who played Amos and the Kingfish.

Charles Correll, the deep-voiced Andy, couldn't make it to lunch. His partner explained: "Charlie just got back from trying to see 20 countries in 26 days. He's resting up."

Gosden has enough enthusiasm for both of them, and he was excited about their new venture. They are playing the voices of a new TV cartoon series, "Calvin and Colonel."

"I play a Southern colonel," said Gosden. "That comes easy to me since I was born in the South (Richmond) and my father fought in the Civil War with Moseby's raiders. Charlie's family was originally from the South. He plays a bear—a lazy bear with an eye for females; I'm a fox. This is the first time in 45 years that Correll and Gosden haven't played in blackface — vocally or otherwise. Both started in minstrel shows in the South. They met and joined forces in Durham, N.C., in 1919. The next year they did their first broadcast in New Orleans. They began their "Sam 'n' Henry" series in Chicago in 1926 and switched to "Amos 'n' Andy" two years later.

"A 'n' A" ended 32 years on radio last November. "They just couldn't afford our show any more," said Gosden. "We were the last of the big-name shows to go.

"People have asked us if we don't miss the glamor of it. We never had the glamor. We worked the same as if we worked for a steel company. We went to the studio on schedule, did our work and left. We were the only stars who weren't recognized."

Stacey Accepts Lesser Charge, Faces 20 Years

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — A Lyndhurst, N.J., man accused of shooting a woman friend in a diner near here has been allowed to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

Joseph A. Stacey, 34, wept when Dist. Atty. Benjamin Newberg announced Tuesday he would accept the plea.

Stacey's first - degree murder trial had progressed through the selection of four jurors.

Stacey, who will be sentenced June 26, pleaded guilty in the death of Mrs. Sandra Lee Allison last October. The shooting occurred in a diner at Liberty.

John Burroughs Program To Be Featured Friday

Dr. Heinz K. Meng with Falcon

A special event for the Town of Esopus 150th anniversary starts Friday at 8 p. m. when a special program on John Burroughs will be held at the Town Hall in Port Ewen. Participating will be Dr. Heinz Meng of the faculty at State Teachers College, New Paltz, and Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs Kelley of West Park, a granddaughter of John Burroughs.

John Burroughs, the world famous naturalist, was a resident of the Town of Esopus at West Park for 45 years. He maintained a home "Riverby" on the banks of the Hudson and his famous retreat "Slabsides" in the hills back of West Park. Many of his well known books on nature and articles were written during this period. Many famous people of this era came to visit him either at his home or at his cabin. Probably the visitors who made the biggest local stir was Theodore Roosevelt who visited John Burroughs at "Slabsides" when he was the President of the United States in July 1903. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt walked with John Burroughs and his son, Julian, to "Slabsides" to enjoy one of John Burroughs' delicious dinners and drink spring water and talk about birds.

John Burroughs was also a great favorite with Vassar students and many Vassar girls came to visit him at either "Riverby" or at "Slabsides." Two couples were so enraptured with the spirit of "Slabsides" that they held their weddings there.

Authority on Falconry

The principal speaker at Friday night's John Burroughs program will be Dr. Heinz Meng. Dr. Meng is a graduate of Cornell University where he received his PhD. in 1951. Since that time he has been a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College at New Paltz where he is the associate professor of biology and conducts courses in ornithology, botany, field biology, and field zoology. Dr. Meng is considered one of the leading authorities on falconry and brings with him to his talks live hawks and other birds of prey found in this area. Dr. Meng is a past president of the John Burroughs Association, specializes in bird painting and is a member of many ornithological societies. Dr. Meng will talk on John Burroughs work and particularly on the birds he found in this area and those he would find if he were alive today.

Mrs. Kelley, who will also participate in the program, has written a book and many articles on her famous grandfather. She will talk about John Burroughs life and illustrate her talk with slides, many of which were taken by John Burroughs himself.

The program is open to the public and no admission will be charged. The program is sponsored by the Town of Esopus sesquicentennial committee. The committee is conducting a series of special events throughout the summer in honor of the town's 150th anniversary, with at least one special event taking place each week until Labor Day.

Zoo Trip Better Than Pills for Cancer Victim, 4

Perhaps the pleasure he derived from his visit to the Philadelphia Zoo eased temporarily the pain the four-year-old cancer victim has known for several months.

To visit the zoo was Johnnie's only wish. It had been ever since last December. It came true Tuesday. It was Johnnie's day because his many friends wanted it that way.

An ambulance brought Johnnie, who has had his left leg amputated and has lost the sight of his left eye, from his suburban Ridley township home to the zoo.

The boy, who realizes he is seriously ill but has not been told he has cancer and may not have long to live, was moved into a wheelchair and taken slowly around the special section for children. His widowed mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dougherty, was at his side.

Johnnie was especially pleased when attendants placed a baby lion on his wheelchair and allowed him to feed the animal milk from a baby's bottle.

"He loved that," Mrs. Dougherty said.

But when he spotted two big lions apparently fighting, he told his mother he wanted to move on quickly.

"He was really happy," said Mrs. Dougherty after it was all over. "He said he loved it. He didn't talk much. He was so busy watching.

"When we got home he was playing and eating a little better. I didn't have to give him a sedative. He was entirely different for the first time in two weeks.

"It makes your heart feel good to see how he was smiling. I'd love to take him again if he'd improve just a little bit."

Kansas Is Given Custody of Two Who Killed Seven

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Kansas officers assumed custody of two teen-agers today, heading them back to the hamlet of Sharon Springs to face trial for one of seven robbery-killings.

The youths, George R. York, 18, Jacksonville, Fla., and James D. Latham, 19, Mauriceville, Tex., waived extradition late Tuesday on a warrant accusing them of killing Otto Ziegler, 62, a railway roadmaster, near Wallace, Kan.

The teen-agers, both AWOL from an Army disciplinary unit at Fort Hood, Tex., have admitted a series of seven killings in five states. Officials of Utah and other states agreed at a conference to let Kansas take custody.

Both, and York especially, had expressed a preference for Florida, which wants them for the May 29 slayings of two Valdosta, Ga., women near Jacksonville — Althea Ottavio, 43, and Patricia Anne Hewitt, 25.

They also are wanted in Illinois, where two were killed June 8. Albert E. Reed, 25, Litchfield, Ill., and Martin Drenovac, 69, a Granite City service station operator.

Colorado wants them for the June 10 slaying of Rachel Marian Moyer, 18, near Craig. Tennessee wants them for the June 7 killing of John A. Whitaker, 71, a railroad porter, at Tollahoma.

Rescue Brothers After Ten Day Ordeal on Raft

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Two half-starved, sunburned brothers are easing back onto normal diet after living on a life raft for 10 days on two cups of rain water and a fish.

Dr. L. M. Richards, 28, Limona, Fla., optometrist, said, "It was just by the grace of God" that he and his brother, Eric, 30, of Melbourne, Fla., were alive when rescued in the Gulf of Mexico.

The yacht All Alone spotted the brothers Tuesday and picked them up 90 miles southeast of Panama City. An Air Force helicopter took them to Tyndall Air Force Base hospital and the two later were transferred to a civilian hospital.

The Richards took off from Tampa June 3 in a single-engine plane for Guatemala. After landing at Cross City, Fla., to repair a fuel line, they took off on the New Orleans leg of their flight.

Over the Gulf of Mexico the plane developed engine trouble and caught fire. The brothers ditched and launched a one-man life raft which had no food or water.

2 to 9 Vote Set For Marbletown On School Issue

Voters will go to the polls from 2 to 9 p. m. today to cast their ballots on a proposition to build an addition to the Marbletown Elementary School.

The proposition, presented by the board of education of the Rondout Valley Central School, calls for construction of eight additional classrooms and other facilities at an estimated cost of $240,000. Of this amount, $118,965.52—or more than 49½ per cent—would be paid by New York State.

Fine Driver $50, 15 Days: Car Hit Student at Bus

The New York City driver whose car struck a five-year-old boy as he crossed Route 28 from a stopped school bus on May 26 was fined $50 and 15 days in jail Tuesday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle of the Town of Olive.

Simon Steinlauf, 57, is free on bail pending an appeal.

The child, Peter Fenty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Fenty of Ashokan, who was taken to the Kingston Hospital in critical condition, was reported "good" today by hospital authorities.

The child got off an eastbound Onteora Central School bus at 4:05 p. m. Friday, May 26. As he passed in front of the bus he ran in front of the left side of a 1954 sedan proceeding west, according to the Phoenicia state police.

The boy received lacerations of the forehead and behind the right ear, punctured right cheek, concussion and multiple abrasions of the face and two black eyes.

Police Not Looking For Missing Girl

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Cheryl Crane is still missing. But authorities expressed little serious concern today, even though Lana Turner's 17-year-old daughter had been gone three days.

Police chief Clinton Anderson told newsmen late Tuesday: "We don't consider her a runaway and we're not out looking for her."

The slender teen-ager dropped from sight Monday after leaving a note that she was "going away for a few days to think things over."

She was to be interviewed by a juvenile officer regarding an escapade with two other young girls last Sunday.

Police who arrested the trio said Cheryl's companions were drunk.

Cheryl had been a ward of Juvenile Court since the 1958 knife slaying of her mother's boy friend Johnny Stompanato.

Body of Orange Man Found, Also That of Woman

SANDY HOOK, N.J. (AP)—The badly decomposed body of a man and the body of a woman with her mouth gagged were found by the Coast Guard Tuesday floating in the waters off Sandy Hook.

Middletown Township police identified the man from papers found in his clothing as William G. Shepherd of Newburgh, N.Y. His body had been in the water for some time, detectives said.

The unidentified woman had bruises and wound on her head and handkerchief was stuffed in her mouth, police said. They added it appeared that her body had only been in water a day or two.

The woman, about 55, was fully dressed and was wearing a gold wedding ring and gold earrings, according to police.

The bodies were found about three miles apart, the man in Ambrose Channel and the woman in Swash Channel, both south of Lower New York Bay.

Monmouth County physician Julius A. Toren said he would perform an autopsy on the bodies today.

Body of Orange Boy Found Close to Pool

NEW PALTZ, N.Y. (AP)—The body of Robert Eden Jr., 6, of Newburgh, was found Tuesday in the rapids a half mile from the swimming pool at Midway Park.

The boy was drowned Sunday when he fell into the pool and was washed into a creek that adjoins it.

Sweltering Burglar

5 Scout Troops Participate in Court of Awards

The five Port Ewen Brownie and Intermediate Girl Scout Troops held their joint Court of Awards at the Town Hall, Port Ewen, Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Harry Van Orner played the piano for the Advance of Colors and singing. The Rev. Harry Christiana of the Port Ewen Reformed Church gave the invocation. Miss Emily Card, neighborhood chairman, welcomed the parents of the scouts, thanked all who had helped the troops during the year. The Intermediate Troop of Church of Presentation was welcomed as a re-activated troop. It was announced with regret that Mrs. Robert Shelightner, leader of Brownie Troop 120, since it was formed five years ago was retiring as leader. Mrs. Shelightner was presented with a corsage of yellow roses in appreciation.

Mrs. Josephine Horvers and Mrs. Richard Kelikian presented 12 service stars to members of Brownie Troop 61. Karen Bock of Troop 61 received her Brownie Wings.

Mrs. Shelightner presented 28 service stars to members of Brownie Troop 120. She presented Brownie Wings to the following Brownies:

Miss Nancy O'Donnell and Mrs. William Mills, leaders of Troop 137 presented 11 service stars and four second class badges, two backyard camper, one swimmer, one treet, two housekeeper, three child care, three garden flower, one cat and dog, one needlecraft, one writer, one homemaker and one foods badge.

Miss Jones, leader of Troop 51, presented a five-year pin to Donna Terpening, representing five years in scouting, six four-year service stars, one third-year, ten two-year and one one-year star also seven second class badges, seven cook, eight child care, two first aid, six good grooming, one personal health, two weaving badges, one outdoor cook, one adventurer, one cat and dog, one reader, one magic carpet and one horsewoman.

Mrs. Vernon Outwater, leader Troop 121 presented the following first class badges to Donna Nilan, Irene Sahler and Sharon Shook. Five year service pins were presented to Linda Cooper and Stephanie Parvi. Service Stars: four first year, five second year, five third year and eight four year.

Badges: four public health, five housekeeper, five interior decoration, three hospitality, five cook, five adventurer, four personal health, one world gifts, five backyard camper, six player, six drawing and painting, five horsewoman, five reader, five magic carpet, two child care, four good grooming, one seamstress, four first aid and one cat and dog.

The badges given the three girl scout troops show the wide range of interest of the scouts. Volunteer workers who have helped with some of the badges have enabled the leaders to give the Scouts a variety of badges.

Now you Know!
The answers to everyday insurance problems* by HERMAN J. EATON, C.L.U.

QUESTION: An insurance company paid a friend of ours only about half the cost of repapering and painting some rooms that were damaged by smoke. He seemed satisfied but I wondered about it. Can you tell me?
ANSWER: The decorating probably had been done originally some years ago and your friend had had good use from it already. Put it another way. If your rooms had been papered for say 10 years wouldn't you welcome an offer to repaper them for half price?
* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
